GREAT JEWISH PLAY REPEATED BEFORE 55,000

Rabbi Hails Event as Dawn of New Era.

BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT.

A CENTURY OF PROGRESS, CHICAGO, JULY 5.—The Jewish historical pageant in music and drama, "The Romance of a People," was given tonight in Soldiers' field before an audience of 55,000 people; a popular reproduction of the spectacle of Monday night, this time under the auspices of THE TRIBUNE.

In its beauty and vastness the setting for this night of lofty dramatic ceremonial and mighty harmonies is beyond words.

Why then any futile words about it? Well, I feel the urge. As a citizen of this imperial city by the silver sea, and as one who for 42 years has been one of the newspaper chroniclers of its multitudinous activities, I am made proud by what I see and I long to say so.

Its Setting Is Colossal.

The setting is a drama in itself—the tremendous drama of a metropolis. It is colossal, and its variety is endless, and its contrasts so abrupt that sometimes they seem incredible.

Beyond the clamor of trains that are unloading thousands upon thousands at the gates of Soldiers' field you behold a mile of greensward.

An enormous fountain, shimmering beneath the silvery moonlight, is cascading its spray over thousands of square feet of the greensward.

To the west the sky, silhouetted with dark towers, is still glowing with the crimson glow of the long midsummer twilight.

Overlooking the temple and the high altar—key points of this pious drama called "The Romance of a People"—are the blue and white towers of the Hall of Science of the World's Fair. Under the moonlight that hall of modern miracles gleams chaste and fine, like a gigantic piece of Wedgwood china.

Nearer shines the silver spire of the Illinois Host house—the home of our commonwealth's 102 counties during this festival summer.

As the Night Comes On.

It grows dark. Battalions of lamps, long cornices of lamps, pylons of lamps, leap into flame and touch the scene with the witchery of fairyland. What was titanic in its power and vastness becomes pure idyl.

The far flung army of lights sends out scouts that descend upon and envelop exquisite details of architecture and of statuary. Among those details rises Lorado Taft's statue of Justice at the circling base of the Federal building on the Fair grounds. Serenely, nobly, she commands the scene.

Even the toys of the Fair, like its sky ride, become epical under this flooding poetry of the moon's light, the light of huge neon tubes, and the light of the marching battalions of lamps.

The cables of the Sky Ride cross the face of the moon like the delicate filaments of webs the friendly fairies wove in "Midsummer Night's Dream."

Silence Precedes the Drama.

Amidst the silence of these waiting moments the doors of soundproof chambers beneath the stage open briefly. You catch glimpses of golden harps, of ranks of soloists and choristers and choir leaders.

Suddenly the doors close. The command, "Absolute silence," is given, for it is from these chambers that the voices of the singers and the reciters of the drama are to be resoundingly led forth by amplifiers to the multitude of people seated on the Doric cliffs of the field.

That multitude is strangely different from the multitude that saw the first presentation of "The Romance of a People" last Monday night.

Then you saw the magnificoes of Chicagoland's Jewry.

Now you behold the Israel that toils all day of many days, but that is happy and proud and at peace this night under the silver moon.

Viewed from the Parapets.

Such was the majestic picture that unfolded far below me as I looked down from the parapets of the stadium. To those topmost levels of the great arena I had never climbed before. The tableau below was rich reward for the climb, for from that height you got the final touch of ineffable beauty—the undulant, ceaseless song and shimmer of the lake beneath the moon, that lake which is the gracious queen of our inland empire, of our Chicagoland, of our Illinois.

The parapets of the stadium are in-

PIERCE FOG IN 7 HOUR FLIGHT FROM IRELAND

Bad Weather Delays Hop to Labrador.

BY AXEL THORSTEINSON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, July 5.—Gen. Italo Balbo's armada of 24 seaplanes arrived at Reykjavik this evening, completing successfully the third and most dangerous stage of the flight from Orbetello, Italy, to A Century of Progress Exposition at Chicago.

The 930 mile trip from Londonderry, northern Ireland, was completed in 7 hours and 15 minutes. The squadron left Lough Foyle at 12:40 p. m. (6:40 a. m. Chicago daylight saving time) and all planes landed smoothly on Klepp's bay here between 5 and 5:35 o'clock (from 1 p. m. Chicago time).

Intermittent rains fell on Reykjavik today and immediate weather reports are bad. Gen. Balbo stated tonight that weather conditions apparently would enforce a stay in Iceland for the next few days.

Flew Through Fog.

The next hop is 1,500 miles over water to Cartwright, Labrador, where a landing base has been established on Sandwich bay. As an extra precaution an emergency landing point was established at Italiahaab, south of Julianehaab, Greenland, to which the Italians may turn if weather conditions prevent an unbroken hop to Cartwright.

Describing the flight from Londonderry Gen. Balbo said that the armada flew at a speed of 150 miles an hour for the first stage of the flight when the weather was good and clear. Entering the third hour the armada ran into a bank of fog and clouds, forcing the machines to fly at an altitude of 2,300 to 2,500 feet. For some distance the pilots were obliged to fly blind and fell out of formation.

During the last stage there was bad weather, with rain and strong winds, and the pilots could not see the coast, but suddenly they discovered the Vestmann islands, and from then on flying was good and they resumed formation. Gen. Balbo considers that the flight to Iceland ended at 5:15 p. m., when all planes had either landed or were preparing to land, but onlookers insist that the last plane actually landed on the water at 5:35 p. m. All machines descended splendidly and without mishap.

Steer Toward Cathedral.

Inhabitants of all the surrounding villages joined the natives of Reykjavik on the hills around the bay to watch the planes come into view from the east—first a group of six, then groups of three and four. The airmen seemed to steer for the cathedral spire, then they were quickly on the water and moored. Fast motorboats dashed out and brought the 96 airmen to the pier.

The aviators received a rousing welcome from the residents, from the prime minister, Italian consular and flight officials, and the Reykjavik mayor. The visitors were presented with flowers tied with ribbons in the colors of Iceland and Italy. Cheers greeted them along the whole route to the Hotel Borg, where they are staying tonight.

The prime minister has announced an official dinner of welcome to Gen. Balbo and his comrades for tomorrow night, assuming that the squadron does not resume its flight tomorrow. Even with the late arrival today the time needed for proper servicing and refueling of the planes would prevent an early departure. Motorboats are standing guard beside the ships tonight.

Send Radio Reports.

The squadron's radio operated at frequent intervals during today's flight. After half the distance had been covered Gen. Balbo wirelessed that the flight was progressing satisfactorily. Several of the trawlers stationed along the route were reported sighted. The Vestmann islands were sighted shortly after 4 o'clock. They are off the southeast coast from Reykjavik.

The Italians flew Saturday from Orbetello to Amsterdam, where they suffered their only mishap when an auxiliary plane was disabled and a mechanic was killed during a landing accident. On Sunday the 24 planes flew to Lough Foyle at Londonderry. They rested there for two days until making today's hop. The future schedule is to Cartwright, thence to Shediac, New Brunswick; to Montreal, and to Chicago.

PROFESSOR HOWARD, RECOVERY ACT AID, IS ILL IN NEW YORK

New York, July 5.—[Special.]—Prof. Earl Dean Howard of Northwestern university, deputy administrator of the national industrial recovery act, collapsed from an attack of indigestion at the Hotel New Yorker after conferring with industrial leaders in the apparel trades. He was put to bed after receiving medical attention and it was announced on his behalf that he expected to resume his conferences in a day or two.

Rumor that Prof. Howard, who is 57 years old, had suffered a severe heart attack, was denied by his associates, who said that every indication tonight appeared to be that he would resume his work shortly.

Prof. Howard had had a late lunch with his advisers and was on the way to another conference when he fell and suffered a slight abrasion of the head. Dr. J. D. Currence was summoned and placed a nurse in attendance and ordered Prof. Howard to remain in bed for a day or two.

STEVENS HOTEL BLAZE EXCITES CROWD; GIRL HURT

Crowds along Michigan and Wabash avenues and on A Century of Progress grounds became excited at about 6:30 last evening, when they saw clouds of black smoke rolling up from the roof of the Stevens hotel.

A fire alarm was turned in. Responding firemen discovered a blaze in a grease chute leading from the kitchens to the top of the building. With dew gas, a new soda compound invented for use against grease fires, they quickly put out the fire. The damage was negligible.

Within the hotel the guests and employés were not aware of the fire until the arrival of the firemen. The first detail of fire fighters on the scene, not knowing the nature of the trouble, laid hose lines, and the only casualty was laid to this. A hose burst and knocked down Miss Margaret Vlasak, a hotel employé, at the north entrance. Her hurts were not serious.

Friend Hints Factor May Be Freed Today

A cryptic statement last night by Leon Bleet, secretary to the kidnaped John [Jake the Barber] Factor, led observers to the conclusion that carefully guarded negotiations for the ransom of the missing speculator are under way and may reach a successful conclusion today.

Bleet, who had been missing from the Factor quarters in the Morrison hotel all day, returned last night. He was asked if any progress could be announced.

Promises "Good Story" Today

"Not now," he said; "nothing now; but tomorrow, after the banks are open, there should be a good story to tell."

He refused to elaborate, but interviewers gained the impression that Bleet was at least mildly hopeful that his chief would be free before another twenty-four hours have passed.

Either by design or conviction, friends of Factor yesterday were more gloomy than they have been since he was kidnaped last Saturday morning near the Dells roadhouse in Morton Grove. They even wondered audibly whether they should ever see him alive again.

Ald. Jacob M. Arvey, who has been in close touch with the wating family and friends of Factor, said last night he had been informed no authentic word had been received from the abductors, no demands for ransom, and no threats. The silence from the kidnapers, the alderman was informed, was anything but reassuring.

Suggest Softening Process.

"The most hopeful view," one of the close friends said, "is that the captors are dealing with Factor direct. If that is their intention they would keep him a prisoner long enough to soften him a little, to make him more compliant."

To investigators not in the confidence of the Factor board of strategy it seemed unlikely that a request for ransom would be delayed long. Their guess was that some secret means of negotiation had been discovered.

The procedure was far different in April when Factor's son Jerome was kidnaped. In less than an hour and a half there was a demand for a payment of $150,000.

As for the possibility of his being murdered, the underworld has buzzed with such a rumor since he disappeared. The theory there is that Factor made a fatal mistake following the release of his son by retaining private detectives to catch the kidnapers.

Bakers Meet Today to Raise Bread Price

Bakers Are Warned

Washington, D. C., July 5.—[Special.]—Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace threatened today to invoke the anti-trust laws against bakers skyrocketing the price of bread in anticipation of the federal processing tax on wheat. His warning followed reports that increases of 2 cents a loaf had gone into effect in many sections and that similar boosts were being considered elsewhere.

Members of the Chicago Bakers' association will meet today at the Medinah Michigan Avenue club to decide on a price increase for bread, effective in Chicago and downstate next Monday. The question, it is understood, is whether the increase shall be 1 or 2 cents a pound loaf.

The association feels, it is said, that the federal processing tax of 30 cents a bushel on wheat, effective Saturday night, will not permit a continuation of the present retail prices of bread. According to some estimates, the processing tax amounts to less than half a cent in the cost of a pound loaf of bread.

U. S. to Curb Profiteering.

The bakers, however, were giving attention to warnings from Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, who says the industry will not be permitted to take advantage of the situation to profiteer through unwarranted increases in the prices of bread. Secretary Wallace said he had called upon the department of justice for assistance to prevent such profiteering.

Complaints of sharp rises in the price of bread have reached Secretary Wallace from Indiana, Iowa, Minnesota, and other sections. Along with these reports he had received notice of today's scheduled meeting of Chicago bakers. George N. Peek, chief administrator of the federal farm act, joined Secretary Wallace in his warning against profiteering. Secretary Wallace pointed out that neither the agricultural adjustment act nor the industrial control act exempts industries from the anti-trust laws until certain market agreements or fair competition codes have been settled.

Anti-Trust Laws Still in Force.

"Concerted action by business men to fix prices or to take other steps which would have been illegal under the anti-trust laws is still illegal until proposed steps in that direction have been formally approved," warned Secretary Wallace. "The agricultural adjustment act did not repeal the anti-trust laws.

"Reports have been received of concerted advances made or to be made in the price of bread in several localities. In line with the usual governmental practice where apparent law violations are reported, complaints received will be turned over to the department of justice, so that that department may take such action as it finds necessary."

Iowa Increase Postponed.

Mr. Wallace revealed that he had issued anti-trust warnings to the Iowa Bakers' association last Saturday after they had announced a price increase from 5 cents to 8 cents a loaf, and that the increase, which was to have been effective yesterday, had been postponed. He has also notified a number of bakers, at their request, that they are under no compulsion to join others in bread price raising.

The processing tax, on which the boosts are predicated, will provide the funds by which the government expects to pay farmers for curtailing their acreage in wheat next fall and in 1934.

WORLD MEETING BEYOND REPAIR, ENVOYS DECIDE

U. S. Accepts Move for Recess.

History in Making

WASHINGTON, D. C. — President Roosevelt's policy revealed as one of "managed" prosperity for America; prepared to ignore Europe.

LONDON.—Six gold bloc nations of Europe, led by France, form monetary pool to protect currencies and aim at economic union.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 5.—Despite the receipt tonight of a conciliatory message from President Roosevelt suggesting continuance of its deliberations, the world economic conference is doomed to dissolution tomorrow or Friday.

The European gold bloc at a meeting late tonight agreed that adjournment at least for several months was necessary because of the refusal of Mr. Roosevelt to stabilize United States currency. Delegates are making travel reservations to leave London not later than Saturday.

The conference steering committee will meet tomorrow, at which time it is expected to consider the wording of a resolution for adjournment which will be submitted later to a plenary session.

Avoid Failure Confession.

In order to avoid a confession of complete failure, the leaders plan to cause the conference not to adjourn, but to take a recess for an indefinite period. A steering committee composed of 14 nations is to be instructed to meet about 60 days hence to consider reconvening the conference. Whether it will ever be reconvened, however, is regarded generally as highly problematical.

In one of the many telephone conversations between the American delegation and the White House today Mr. Roosevelt suggested that the conference take a recess until July 17, then resume deliberations with the vexed question of currency stabilization left out. Members of the delegation, however, voted to advocate a recess of three months.

Mr. Roosevelt's conciliatory message to the conference, which had been upset by the bluntness of his pronouncement Monday, was embodied in an official statement by the American delegation transmitted to the secretary general of the league of nations. The President dictated a large portion of the statement over the telephone.

Price Raising Main Object.

This latest utterance in behalf of the President illuminates still further the Roosevelt economic policies. America, says the statement, is not to be diverted from "revaluation of the dollar in terms of American commodities."

The raising of commodity prices is the major objective and the exchange value of the dollar in terms of foreign currencies is a minor consideration, the communique asserted. It put other countries on notice that the ultimate exchange value of the dollar will depend upon the extent to which other countries follow the example of America in artificial manipulation of price levels upward.

The President then pays his respects to Europeans for the obloquy heaped on the United States because of his refusal to stabilize the dollar at once and indorse a return to the gold standard. The statement points out that America did not criticize France, Italy and Belgium for depreciation of their currencies or Great Britain for going off the gold standard.

Cites British Policy.

A quotation follows from a British government pronouncement in the house of commons last night declaring that Britain reserves "complete liberty to choose both our own time and parity" for return to the gold standard. That, said the presidential statement, is also the American position.

The declaration discloses Mr. Roosevelt's full realization that the pressure exerted by the conference to obtain the President's consent to stabilize the dollar at once was incited by France and other gold standard countries "where prices and costs are already in actual equilibrium." Not pausing to explain why he now opposes the stabilization which he advocated as late as May, Mr. Roosevelt contents himself with a salty fling at the attempt to use the conference to force a country to adopt policies inimical to its interests.

The Forgotten Tariffs.

The statement then proceeds to outline what the conference might profitably accomplish if it were to continue. This discloses that Mr. Roosevelt's conception of the objectives of the conference have been materially modified since he sent the delegation to London. There now is no mention of tariff reduction and currency stabilization becomes a remote desideratum.

The most important thing for the conference to do in the present opinion of the President is to explore cooperative measures for raising commodity prices in all nations "to a level at which industry and above all agriculture, can function profitably and efficiently."

Next in importance, according to the communique, is the consideration of measures to stabilize such increased prices, by which is evidently meant such devices as a commodity dollar varying in value, to which the President now appears to be committed. Once price stability is achieved it will be time enough to consider in what manner gold and silver are to be employed as monetary bases, the statement asserts.

Sees No Reason to End Parley.

Because America has been impelled to refuse temporary stabilization of the dollar is no reason for the conference to suspend consideration of these matters, the communique concludes.

In this manner Mr. Roosevelt seeks to shift responsibility for failure of the conference. He says it should go on and implies that if it does not it will be because of the refusal of France and other prime movers of immediate stabilization to proceed.

As soon as the statement was completed Secretary of State Cordell Hull, Prof. Raymond Moley, assistant secretary of state, and Senator Key Pittman of Nevada submitted it to Prime Minister MacDonald.

"I wish I had had this 24 hours earlier," sighed MacDonald with professed fear that Mr. Roosevelt's attempt at conciliation had come too late.

Votes for Recess.

Mr. Roosevelt's professed notion that the conference could proceed after a ten day recess was not shared by a majority of the American delegation. Senator James Couzens, the only Republican of the delegation, moved that the Americans support a three months recess. He was supported by Senator Pittman, Congressman Samuel D. MacReynolds, and Ralph W. Morrison, retired Texas banker. Secretary Hull refrained from voting. James M. Cox was detained by an indisposition at Stanmore, the English country place he has leased.

The view of the majority was that America could not honestly press its tariff reduction proposals until currencies are stabilized, but that in three months American recovery might permit stabilization.

Averted [illegible] on U. S.

Secretary Hull, it was disclosed tonight, averted dissolution of the conference today coupled with a resolution which would have placed the blame on the United States. At the meeting of the steering committee last night MacDonald submitted the proposed resolution suspending the conference because of obstacles to immediate currency stabilization and providing for continuation of the monetary and economic committees.

Secretary Hull asked him what these committees were to do. MacDonald entered upon a long rambling explanation that explained nothing. Whereupon Hull observed that if the prime minister did not understand the proposition it would be best to adjourn further consideration until the morrow. Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, suggested adjournment until Thursday. Thus time was gained to cool the anger at Roosevelt. The sounding of delegations today disclosed a willingness to adopt a resolution adjourning the conference without an attempt to fix the blame.

Raise Prices First, U. S. Tells Parley

LONDON, July 5.—(AP)—The text of the statement handed to the secretary general of the league of nations in London today concerning the stand of the United States in connection with the world monetary and economic conference follows:

"The President has made it clear that he saw no utility at the present time in temporary stabilization between currencies of countries whose needs and policies are not necessarily the same.

"Such stabilization would be artificial and unreal and might hamper individual countries in realizing policies essential to their domestic problems.

Urges Study of Fundamentals.

"He urged the conference to seek consideration of its fundamental tasks of facilitating policies by the different nations directly, not to temporary expedients but to mitigating and, if possible, remedying the harassing evils of the present economic situation.

"In the hope that the United States may be of help to the conference, to whose success and friendly coöperation the President continues to attach the greatest importance, it may be useful that we should develop this thought somewhat more fully.

"Revaluation of the dollar in terms of American commodities is an end from which the government and people of the United States cannot be diverted. We wish to make this perfectly clear. We are interested in American commodity prices. What is to be the value of the dollar in terms of foreign currencies is not and cannot be our immediate concern.

Not Fighting Other Nations.

"The exchange value of the dollar will ultimately depend upon the success of other nations in raising the prices of their own commodities in terms of their national money, and cannot be determined in advance of our knowledge of such fact.

"There is nothing in our policy inimical to the interests of any other country, and we are confident that no other country would seek to embarrass us in the attainment of the economic ends required for our economic health.

"When the currencies of those great nations of the continent of Europe—France, Italy, and Belgium—depreciated over a period of years there was no criticism from us, nor did we criticize their ultimate devaluation. And when Great Britain and the Scandinavian countries went off the gold standard there was only sympathetic understanding in the United States.

"Great Britain has been off the gold standard for nearly a year and three-quarters and the United States has been off for less than three months. Nevertheless we are glad to be able to associate ourselves with the statement of British policy made yesterday, July 4, in the house of commons by the financial secretary to the treasury [L. Hare-Belisha] when, speaking in the name of the chancellor of the exchequer [Neville Chamberlain], he said:

"'My right honorable friend has on a number of occasions expressed the view of his majesty's government that although a return to the gold standard might be our ultimate objective when proper conditions were assured, we must reserve complete liberty to choose both our own time and parity. He does not think he can usefully add anything to that statement now.'

"If there are countries where prices and costs are already in actual equilibrium we do not regard it to be the task of the conference, as it certainly is not the purpose of the American government, to persuade or compel them to pursue policies contrary to their own conception of their own interests.

Price Raising Put First.

"It is not sufficient to escape from present evils, but it is our duty to consider together how to avoid a recurrence in the future. The first task is to restore prices to a level at which industry and, above all, agriculture can function profitably and efficiently. The second task is to preserve the stability of this adjustment, once achieved.

"The part which gold and silver should play after adjustment has been secured would seem a further subject suitable for consideration by the conference.

"We conceive, therefore, that the great problems which justify the assembling of nations are as present today and as deserving of exploration as was the case a few weeks ago; and we find it difficult to conceive that the view which it has been our obvious duty to take on the minor issues of temporary stabilization can in any way diminish the advisability of such discussion."

EUROPE'S 6 GOLD NATIONS FORM MONETARY POOL

Economic Union Seen as the Next Step.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.

[Copyright: 1933: By The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, July 5.—A chapter in world history was closed and a new chapter in European history was opened during the two hour meeting of the gold powers at French headquarters in the Hotel Savoy following receipt of President Roosevelt's message to the world economic conference tonight.

All delegates who attended the meeting of the six gold powers—France, Belgium, Holland, Switzerland, Poland, and Italy—were cagy about making official statements, but the following results can be safely attributed to this brief and unheralded conference within the conference:

FIRST—All the gold powers consider that Mr. Roosevelt's second message wipes out the hard feelings left by the first, but does not change the opinion of the majority of the conference that adjournment is necessary.

Ready to Walk Out.

SECOND—Even if a majority of the steering committee of the conference tomorrow decides against adjournment, the gold bloc "has the strategy to meet any situation"—meaning presumably that they are ready to walk out in a body if the conference does not voluntarily adjourn.

THIRD—The conference can reconvene whenever the dollar has reached a relatively stable level—possibly within a few weeks.

FOURTH—The tariff truce is automatically killed.

FIFTH—The gold powers have cemented their bloc into a monetary pool which effectively pins all their currencies, one to the other.

SIXTH—The six countries included in this bloc have decided in principle to form an economic as well as a monetary union.

Central Banks to Map Plan.

All of these last four decisions, which have been in the air for two weeks, were taken during the meeting of the gold countries. A meeting of representatives of the central banks of the six powers will be held in Paris, probably Saturday, to work out the detailed plan of coöperation among all members. Czechoslovakia may also be represented at this meeting.

In the opinion of many observers this marks the most important result of the conference to date.

It provides assurance that no member of the gold bloc will be knocked off the gold standard—at least for the time being—because the resources of the other five will be pooled to save the weakest currency. Since the fabulous gold hoard of the Bank of France, to say nothing of those of Switzerland and Holland, is back of this agreement, the newly cemented gold bloc probably represents the greatest single monetary force the world has yet seen.

Although only the principle of cooperation is decided, THE TRIBUNE learns that efforts will be exerted to make the union of gold powers as complete in the economic field as in the monetary field. This means preferential tariffs and quotas—an entirely new factor in world trade. In a sense, it is the first concrete step toward realization of the late Aristide Briand's dream of a Pan-European union.

See Danger if Parley Goes On.

Regarding the economic conference itself, the position of the gold powers is extremely moderate. They are frankly pleased at the conciliatory tone of Mr. Roosevelt's second message, but do not feel it changes anything fundamentally. To continue the conference when such a grave divergence of views prevails would create a dangerous hostility between the American and European delegations.

The French do not feel at all that the conference is killed off. They think that when all the excitement has died down and public opinion in the various countries has become calm, the conference may reconvene and accomplish some useful work. They are agreeable to any plan of keeping the conference alive during the period of adjournment.

In French eyes, there is only one condition necessary for reconvening the conference—an intimation by the United States that the dollar has reached a level at which it can be safely pegged. Georges Bonnet, finance minister and head of the French delegation, indicated that this might be much sooner than anyone expects.

Plan Pressure on U. S.

It is evidently the feeling of the gold bloc that cessation of the tariff truce—continuance of which seems unthinkable to the French—and preferential trade accords among its own members will exert a considerable pressure on the United States to stabilize.

They have now recovered confidence in their own strength and feel that they can safely sit on the sidelines and watch the American monetary experiment without any ill effects to themselves.

HERRIOT DEFENDS ROOSEVELT; PLEADS FOR U. S. FRIENDSHIP

PARIS, July 6 [Thursday].—(AP)—Former Premier Edouard Herriot became today the first notable Frenchman to defend President Roosevelt in the stand on monetary stabilization he has taken at the world economic conference. Declaring the American President has been misinterpreted, the ex-premier made a vigorous plea in his newspaper Ere Nouvelle for a better understanding with the United States.

He warned that, "An association in which the Anglo-Saxons are not a part is insufficient to assure world peace." He insisted that if France is to lose contact with the United States it also will lose contact with England.

The former government chief said he found "much truth in the Straus speech"—referring to the Fourth of July address by United States Ambassador Jesse I. Straus, in which the latter said that European criticism of the United States was unfair and that the success of the American "experiment" would benefit the world.

UPHOLDS SEIZURE OF DUNNE PARTY'S TOGS AT BEACH

Louis K. Gillson, president of the Wilmette Park district, yesterday, in a letter to former Gov. Edward F. Dunne, upheld the action of beach employés in Wilmette, in taking off the beach clothing left there by five grandchildren of Mr. Dunne on June 24.

The former governor has charged that this action, and the $1 fine levied against his daughter for parking her car near the beach were discriminatory because the party was made up of Chicagoans. When the grandchildren's clothing was taken up, they were told it would not be returned without each paying a bath house fee of $1. Mr. Dunne, however, got the clothing back without paying the fees. He then wrote to Mr. Gillson asking an explanation.

Mr. Gillson replied, stating that the beach regulations are not discriminatory, that non-residents of Wilmette have free access to Wilmette parks. He declared the taking up of the clothing of Mr. Dunne's grandchildren was correct, under beach regulations.

Japan Wants Its Delegates to Meet Roosevelt Again

TOKIO, July 5.—(AP)—Vernacular newspapers today said official quarters are considering the suggestion that, if the world economic conference should adjourn shortly, Viscount Kikujiro Ishii and Eigo Fukai, Japanese delegates, should return home by way of Washington. It has been suggested that the representatives resume conversations with President Roosevelt with a view to seeking a new Japanese-American arbitration treaty.

REACH WHEAT ACCORD

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 5.—One useful piece of work was announced today by the wheat committee of the economic conference. The four great producing countries—the United States, Canada, Australia, and Argentina—agreed in principle on the American plan for restriction of acreage and production. The agreement is subject to the assent of importing countries to some provisions for abolition of certain regulations concerning milling and quotas.

The purpose of the new plan is that wheat should be raised in natural growing countries and that European efforts to foster artificial production be abandoned. Late tonight it was announced that Italy, one of the importing countries, has accepted the conditions.

Henry Morgenthau Sr., chief American wheat negotiator, said that the importing countries would be forced into line by the necessity of having to have hard Canadian and American wheat to mix with their own crop. He declared that as a result of today's agreement wheat probably would be the first commodity established on a basis to give the grower a living income.

A resolution was passed today by the empire committee of the Federation of British Industries calling for the immediate assembling of a British empire economic conference in case the world economic conference fails.

EUROPE IGNORED BY ROOSEVELT'S RECOVERY PLAN

Expects to "Manage" U. S. Currency.

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.

Washington, D. C., July 5.—[Special.]—The failure of the London economic conference is regarded by President Roosevelt as something to be regretted but not mourned.

The failure to achieve a meeting of minds leaves the President free to concentrate upon the domestic situation and to bend his energies to an effort to carry out his plan of a "managed" prosperity for America.

His policy, clarified today, is a strictly American policy which rejects any thought of tying American prosperity up with the economic fate of Europe, but one which might be accepted by European countries and followed, as the President sees it, to their own benefit.

Silent on Parley End.

Adjournment of the London conference brought no comment from the President tonight, although he did his best throughout the day to save the tottering parley from complete collapse.

Early in the day he had discussed the situation over the trans-Atlantic telephone with Secretary of State Hull, chairman of the American delegation, and urged that the conference proceed with the other matters before it, dropping the monetary stabilization issue for the present.

This, it was learned, was Mr. Roosevelt's only telephonic communication with the American delegation in London, although he was kept constantly advised as to the developments at the conference. The President sent no new instructions other than those transmitted to Secretary Hull over the telephone.

Regards Protests Lightly.

The President does not share the view of the European gold bloc nations that nothing can be done to relieve international economics without a stabilization of moneys, and he is known to regard lightly the loud cries of France, particularly, that it was his refusal to enter an international stabilization agreement which wrecked the conference.

The abrupt conclusion of the international sessions finds him prepared to proceed with much the same program as he would if the parley had been wholly successful.

Although the President believes the conference might have gone some distance in paving the way for breaking down tariff barriers, he is prepared to enter at once upon negotiations with separate nations, securing trade agreements whereby, without tariff restrictions, the United States can exchange some of its surplus crops and articles for other things which this country needs and can obtain from other nations.

The President is definitely committed against entering the United States into any pact which will put a fixed value on the American dollar, it was learned.

He has a long range plan to maintain the wages of American workmen, the incomes of white collar workers, and perhaps the earnings of capital investment, upon a fairly fixed basis, not in terms of dollars, but in terms of commodity values. As one administration spokesman put it, the President wants the dollar always to buy a fixed amount of life's necessities.

Method Is Undetermined.

The President has not determined just how he will set about "managing" the currency of the country, but many factors will enter into the operation, it was learned. One method of keeping the dollar at a fixed purchasing value would be to vary the gold content behind it from time to time.

But the President lately has indicated that he intends to keep intact the great deposits of gold in the treasury, using it as collateral behind the currency of the nation, and he has shown every sign of permanently maintaining the present gold embargo.

The currency could be well managed, according to the administration view, by successive inflationary and deflationary policies. When prices were low, the dollar could be inflated by printing of currency. Deflation could be gained, it is argued, by taking currency out of circulation through special taxation funds.

More to the point in the Roosevelt program of control is his manipulation of wages, working hours and production methods in industry, which the administration has embarked upon through Gen. Hugh S. Johnson.

POLICE PREVENT LOOP MEETING OF OUTLAW UNION; ARREST TWO

Policemen led by Chief of Detectives Schoemaker and Capt. Daniel Gilbert and Lieut. Frank Johnson of the state's attorney's office last night prevented a meeting at the headquarters of the hoisting engineers' union, local No. 150, on the 17th floor in the Capitol building. Members were informed that future meetings also will be prevented.

Two business agents, William Maloney, 332 South La Salle street, and Floyd Little, 140 North Menard avenue, protested and were arrested. The union is one of those outlawed by the city administration since the beginning of the strike of city employés, which is practically void, although there has been no settlement.

In an earlier clash during the day the police also were victorious against the outlaw unionists. Judge John P. McGoorty refused to enjoin city and county officials from interfering with the outlaw Chicago Teamsters, Chauffeurs, and Helpers' union, holding that this would constitute interference with law enforcing agencies.

Attorneys sought the order in the hope the body could hold a meeting in Hod Carriers' hall last night. Assistant State's Attorney O. P. Lightfoot told the court the union was "operated by hoodlums."

NEW WEST PARK POLICE CAPTAIN TELLS OF GAINS

Capt. Michael Trant, new head of the west parks' police force, submitted a report to the new park board yesterday showing that his department has produced real results during the last six months. He has been head of the force for the last four months.

The report showed that automobiles valued at $48,096 were recovered by Capt. Trant's men during the last half year, that 320 persons were taken to hospitals in police ambulances, that 792 arrests were made, that 285 warrants were served, that 671 automobile accidents were investigated, and that two mail robbery suspects were turned over to federal authorities.

Dozens Watch Woman, 79, Drown Herself in Lagoon

Mrs. Celia Kendall, 79 years old, who lived in the neighborhood of 26th and Halsted streets, drowned herself yesterday in the Jackson park lagoon. She walked into the water in sight of dozens of park loungers. James Kennedy, 6237 Kenwood avenue, and John Wadowski, 4746 South Elizabeth street, dragged her out, but she was already dead. Dr. J. S. Yount, 331 West 63d street, whose cards were found in Mrs. Kendall's purse, identified her, as did her daughter, Mrs. J. F. Monahan.

CALL EX-SHERIFF ONE WHO KILLED 5 IN KANSAS CITY

Kansas City, Mo., July 5.—(AP)—E. C. Reppert, director of police, announced tonight that Verne C. Miller, a former sheriff of North Dakota, and William Weissman of Kansas City were sought as the identified killers of four officers and their prisoner, Frank Nash, a bank robber, in front of the Union station here June 17. Miller is wanted in several cities for other crimes, Reppert said.

Reppert announced the massacre followed the officers' defiance of Miller's attempt to rescue Nash as he was being transferred from train to motor car on his way to the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kas.

A nation-wide search is being made by the police and the United States bureau of investigation for Miller and Weissman, a brother of Solly Weissman, Kansas City gangster who was killed here a few years ago.

3 AUTO DEATHS RAISE TOLL FOR THE YEAR TO 503

There were three automobile deaths yesterday in Cook county, raising the traffic toll to 503 for the year. The victims:

Carl Carlson, 70 years old, 7140 Cornell avenue. Died at the Illinois Central hospital. He was struck by an automobile in the west drive in Jackson park at 59th street on Tuesday.

Michael Levin, 55 years old, 3022 Edgewood avenue. Died in the Henrotin hospital. Struck by a truck Tuesday at Congress and Wabash avenue.

Paul Tyrkala, 55 years old, 1511 Noble street. Killed yesterday by a hit-and-run motorist at North Damen and Cortland avenues.

ASSERTS SCHOOL ECONOMY BURDEN RESTS ON CHIEFS

N. E. A. Convention Hears Plea for Curtailment.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.

A demand for economy in school expenditures was made yesterday in an address at the National Education association convention, which is in session here this week. The speaker was Paul C. Stetson, superintendent of schools at Indianapolis and president of the N. E. A. department of superintendence.

PAUL C. STETSON.

Talking before a conference at the Stevens hotel Mr. Stetson picked the nation's school system apart and jabbed at the "soft spots" from top to bottom. He placed the responsibility for economy, as well as overspending, squarely on the shoulders of the superintendents.

Study Staffs, Chiefs Told.

The first move toward economical vigilance by the superintendent should be a critical and unbiased survey of his administrative staff, the speaker declared. Departments that seemed essential during the more prosperous period, he pointed out, could be eliminated with little harm to the administration of the schools.

"This searching examination of the administrative staff," said Mr. Stetson, "undoubtedly will reveal that a great deal of clerical work is done which cannot be justified under any conditions. It may become apparent that some departments are overstaffed and that the number of visiting supervisors may therefore be reduced with an increase in the effectiveness of the work done."

Mr. Stetson used Indianapolis as an illustration of what could be done. In the 1931 school budget of that city the administrative staff obtained an appropriation of $120,850, while in 1933 this item had been shaved to $49,803. The feeling of the department heads, according to the speakers, was that the effectiveness of the work had been increased rather than decreased.

Asks Scrutiny of Grade Schools.

Next the economical superintendent should turn his attention to the elementary schools, he said, in view of the fact that statistics show enrollment in the lower grades is on the decrease and that a material increase in the number is not to be anticipated in the early future.

"A careful regrading of all schools, elimination of small classes, changing boundary lines, revising the number of teachers to a building to determine whether the principal shall teach or not, and other devices," suggested Mr. Stetson, "will greatly reduce the number of teachers in our elementary schools without doing any violence to the educational program."

The next step of the thrifty superintendent, he continued, would be a survey of the senior high schools.

"Courses of study should be carefully reëxamined as to their value," said Mr. Stetson, without mentioning "fads and frills," a phrase odious to the educators, "requirements for graduation restudied; grading systems examined to see whether the large number of failures in our high schools is the fault of the course of study, teaching techniques, or pupil indifference."

He next called on the frugal superintendent to scrutinize the high school teaching staff toward the possibility of conducting relatively large classes in certain fields.

The last point in Mr. Stetson's attack was the junior high school. He explained that in Indianapolis savings had been effected not by junior high school instruction in separate buildings, but in a reorganization of the 7th and 8th grades in each elementary school and the 9th year in each senior high school so that they function as a unit.

Penalty for Heavy Budgets Shown.

A graphic example of what happens to a city that has a history of swollen school budgets dating back to 1915 was furnished for the 10,000 out of town N. E. A. delegates when a group of 200 Chicago teachers, with "unpaid" labels pinned on their clothes, arrived at the Stevens. Led by John Fewkes, a teacher at Tilden Technical High school, they had gone first to the city hall, and, finding Mayor Kelly out, marched to the convention of the educators.

Fewkes outlined the grievances of the Chicago teachers and blamed their plight on bankers and politicians before a meeting on secondary education in the grand ballroom. Chicago's fight was, he said, the nation's fight. Dr. Joseph Rosier of Washington, president of the N. E. A., said that every one was in sympathy with the Chicago teachers. He pointed out also that this city was not the only one with unpaid teachers and budget cuts.

Legion and Bar Chiefs Speak.

The more general phases of national education and related problems were discussed last night before a crowd of 1,000 persons at Medinah temple. Dr. Rosier praised the teachers of the country for their loyal spirit during this retrenchment period and urged all to uphold free education.

Louis Johnson, national commander of the American Legion, declared that educational activities constitute a great check on communism. He made a plea for military preparedness.

Clarence E. Martin, president of the American Bar association, urged more intensive study of the country's constitutional system by teachers.

ROOSEVELT TO DIET AFTER GAINING SEVEN POUNDS ON VACATION

Washington, D. C., July 5.—The first news announced today by President Roosevelt to newspaper men at his interview after a vacation at sea was "bad news"—he was seven pounds overweight.

"Yes, I am going to have to take drastic action," the tanned President observed.

"Eating less" was the rule laid down by Mr. Roosevelt for his task of reducing from 181 pounds to his normal weight of 174 pounds. He hopes a little swimming will aid, also.

GERMANY TO PUT OUTCAST BLOT ON CHILDLESS WIFE

Plans New Tax Rules to Boost Birth Rate.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, July 5.—Childless married couples will henceforth be defamed in Germany and branded as "legalized prostitutes," according to a pronouncement today by Dr. Thomalla, made as part of the Nazi campaign for bigger families. He warned that childless wives will be regarded as outcasts.

Dr. Thomalla announced that a series of tax regulations will soon be promulgated to encourage further the perpetuation of German Aryans.

Thuringia is doing its bit for an increase in the birth rate by promising a free honeymoon trip to the old "Goethe town" of Weimar to all Thuringians who marry after receiving Chancellor Hitler's wedding stipend.

Seeks to Halt Divorces.

Even prison rules have been loosened for matrimonial ventures. In Regensburg, Bavaria, the inmates who are protectively imprisoned are allowed a leave of absence to get married. The first beneficiary of the ruling was a lawyer, Dr. Schlegel.

An association formed several years ago to protect divorced women has been reorganized into an association for the purpose of helping couples avoid matrimonial conflicts and divorces and to encourage those bent on matrimony.

The brotherliness which is to reign among all German citizens must also be demonstrated at public meetings, according to Robert Ley, Nazi labor director, who has ruled that employers, regardless of the size of their plants, must march in demonstrations with their workers to "demonstrate how Germany is surmounting the idea of class hatred."

See Religious Compromise.

The religious conflict is still smoldering, although it is announced that the warring Protestants are nearing the compromise desired by President Paul von Hindenburg and ordered by Chancellor Hitler. Clergymen who failed to obey the injunctions of Nazi church commissars last Sunday not to criticize the state will be punished, according to an official announcement.

The Catholic church is alarmed at the number of priests who have been arrested for criticism of government measures. The bishop of Wuerzburg today issued instructions to priests to avoid remarks which might be interpreted as political, not only in their sermons but also in their private conversation.

The Catholic Centrist party dissolved itself tonight following a conference between Hitler and former Chancellor Heinrich Bruening, Centrist leader.

GREAT JEWISH PLAY REPEATED BEFORE 55,000

Crowd Arrives Early; Avoids Congestion.

credible. Why, along blocks of their extent you could race six horse Roman chariots.

A tremendous city that can build for spectacle, for sport, and for heroic drama so vast an auditorium, open to the sky and whispering with the song of the night wind!

It is 9:20 o'clock. The play is about to begin. Well chosen words herald it.

Keynote of the Occasion.

Judge Harry Fisher is speaking on behalf of Chicagoland's Jewry.

"We are tonight," he says, "all one great family," and in saying that the judge has sounded the keynote of this illustrious occasion, so fraught with mutual kindness, with neighborliness that reaches from the ghetto to the rich suburbs of Chicago, with tolerance that overleaps ancient barriers of creed and race, and with a beauty that now is streaming over the field in long lines of opulent color and in slow and stately ceremonial.

The Rev. Dr. John Evans, religious editor of THE TRIBUNE, steps to the amplifier after Judge Fisher, and one of our dominie's arresting phrases is "Tonight, in the time and in the setting of a summer's festivity, religion speaks to us, and it speaks to us all with one sublime voice—the voice of the Everlasting."

Rabbi Hails a New Era.

Now Rabbi Solomon Goldman follows Episcopalian John Evans.

"The finest tribute to this pageant and romance of a people," says the rabbi, "is that it is being repeated tonight. On Monday night Jews presented this drama to Jews and to such of our Christian friends as came.

"But tonight, through the kindly effort and good will of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Christians are presenting our great pageant of Jewish history to Jews and to Christians. There is a beautiful oneness, a beautiful and touching brotherliness in that momentous fact!

"A new era is coming, brothers, and in this happy conviction we say to our fellow men, O, toil on, toil on in thy good works, live on, live on in thy beautiful dreams till light effulgent, light divine shall stream over all the world. Amen, Amen!"

Now the drama is surging across the stage and down into the vast arena to the roll of sentences and songs from the ancient Jewish ritual.

Hark! Thousands of the orthodox Jews around you are softly murmuring those sentences and more softly crooning those melodies. The effect of this unison of actors and audience is overpowering.

For you now comprehend that this is not a drama played by 6,000 actors alone but by thousands of their coreligionists who in the depths of their fervid hearts and souls are sorrowing and joying with the players.

It is unforgettable.

The Crowd Lingers.

Eleven thirty o'clock.

The play is over. But the rapturous people are loath to go home. The voices of priests and cantors have died away and the multitudinous flags are furled. But the auditors linger, and they are rewarded with an entrancing touch of sheer prettiness.

For the thousands of lustrous eyed Jewish children who have taken part in this romance of their people rush from the stage down into the arena. They sing, they dance, they shout. They are happy, and their white bearded grandsires beam proudly down upon them.

Thus did the grave and solemn epic of a people's march down fifty centuries of sorrow, of struggle, and of triumph end on the note of gay carnival.

Sleep well tonight, dear children, for you have acted well your parts.

Tribune Author Weds Secretary

SPECTACLE GROWS IN SMOOTHNESS WITH SECOND RENDERING

BY EDWARD MOORE.

"The Romance of a People"—that stately story of forty centuries of Jewish life—was unfolded again last night by its 6,200 participants. Again the voices of reader, of cantor, of vocal ensemble, of mighty chorus made it audible, the while pantomime, acting, the dance, stage groupings made it visible to the huge audience in Soldiers' field.

The living ideal of the Jews in dance, song, color and light was carried to the uttermost corners of the Field by the modern magic of amplification. And Rabbi Solomon Goldman, author of the play, carried on the thought by telling the audience that on Monday night the performance was attended by Jews and the Christian friends who came, while last night it was attended by Christians and the Jews who came.

Art Speaks All Languages.

For Jew and non-Jew alike, "The Romance of a People" is a great work, another instance of the fact that great art speaks all languages, oversteps all boundaries, is independent of all geographical and political subdivisions. In the glory of the subject, in the brilliance of its presentation, it brought every one under the domination of the democracy of art.

Incidentally, the experience coming from a second performance brought ease of presentation with it. Musically, dramatically, mechanically, there was a notable increase in suppleness, and consequently in effect upon both eye and ear.

I have seldom heard such magnificent effects evoked with what would seem on the surface to be such simple musical means. You may, if you like, say that all this unison, this repetition, this avoidance of even the most obvious harmonic treatment belongs to primitive music. Perhaps it does. But it is something more than merely primitive. It has the simplicity, the directness, the unfailing appeal of great art.

The production of both performances of the pageant was in charge of Meyer W. Weisgal, executive director of the Jewish Agency for Palestine, and much of the success of both nights was attributed to his efforts.

One of the evening's features was the presentation of the Manischewitz Fine Arts award to Isaac Van Grove, who wrote and directed the music for the pageant. The bronze plaque which was given to him stated that it was for his "inspired interpretation of Israel's contribution to mankind."

Married by Judge

H. A. Ripley, author of "Minute Mysteries," a TRIBUNE feature, was married last night to Leone M. Johannes, his secretary collaborator. The ceremony was performed by Judge Joseph Burke at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Andres Selkirk at 180 East Delaware place. Mr. Ripley is the son of Mrs. George H. Ripley of Washington, D. C. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter L. Johannes of Eau Claire, Wis. She has been Mr. Ripley's secretary for the last two years. The couple will make their home at the Hollywood-Kenmore hotel.

INDICT 5 IN PLOT TO EXTORT CASH FROM PHYSICIAN

Further Inquiry in State Department Asked.

Further charges against former employés of the state department of registration and education will be investigated by S. J. Kuflewski, newly appointed chief inspector, he announced yesterday after true bills had been voted by the grand jury charging four men and a woman with conspiracy to extort $3,000 from Dr. Josephine Gabler, 190 North State street.

Those indicted are Judd Edwards, chief investigator for the department until last week; Frank Condon and Cletus Monahan, inspector for the department; Dr. Henry J. Millstone, 6314 Cottage Grove avenue, and Miss Emily Ranus, secretary to Dr. Millstone. Two additional indictments charging bribery were reported to have been voted against Dr. Millstone.

Agrees to Testify for State.

Assistant State's Attorney Charles S. Dougherty obtained warrants in the Felony court charging Edwards and Condon with conspiracy and bribery and messages were sent asking their arrest. The others were in custody, but only Monahan was taken before the grand jury. He signed an immunity waiver and agreed to testify as a state's witness.

According to Prosecutor Dougherty, the five plotted to obtain the money from the woman physician on their representation they would quash serious charges that were to be made against her by the state department. Attorney Cameron Latter and Miss Charlotte Witort, a nurse, were witnesses before the grand jury.

Mr. Kuflewski said there were other charges to be investigated involving the employés who were holdovers from the Emmerson administration. He said he will ask Gov. Horner to order a sweeping investigation.

Girl Is Questioned.

Meanwhile Assistant State's Attorney Dougherty last night questioned Dr. Alex C. Halmos, 646 Fullerton avenue, on reports that Dr. Halmos had paid Edwards and Condon $500 some time ago. The physician, who is also a lawyer, refused to discuss the matter and was ordered held for further questioning today.

A suit asking $500,000 damages from Edwards and five members of the medical committee of the department of education and registration was filed yesterday in the Circuit court by Dr. Lewis K. Eastman, head of the Keystone hospital. The committee last winter recommended that his license be suspended for two years, but an injunction prevented the carrying out of the order. Attorney Stuart Krohn, representing Dr. Eastman, said the suit is based on charges of defamation of character, growing out of that action.

LITHUANIA JOINS NINE OTHER NATIONS IN PACT WITH RUSSIA

LONDON, July 5.—A nonaggression convention between Russia and Lithuania was signed here today by Soviet Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinov and V. Sidzikauskas for Lithuania. The convention was along the lines of those signed with nine other nations earlier this week.

Sees Answer to Mussolini.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WARSAW, Poland, July 5.—The official government newspaper Gazeta Polska today expressed satisfaction with the success of Soviet Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinov's nonaggression agreements. It sees this as eastern Europe's answer to Mussolini's four power pact, whose mysterious intentions are believed to include some future rearrangement of European frontiers benefitting Germany.

FOUR BANDITS SLAY MADISON TRUCK FARMER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Madison, Wis., July 5.—[Special.]—Odin Tofsrud, a truck gardener living a few blocks south of the city limits, was shot and killed tonight by four bandits who raided his home and left with a safe believed to contain several hundred dollars.

In the home at the time of the murder were Mrs. Tofsrud, who was in an upstairs bedroom with a year old child, and two young daughters. According to the daughters, who were sitting in the living room of their home listening to the radio, the bandits entered through a rear door.

Their father was reading in the kitchen near the rear door and made an attempt to fight off the intruders. He was hit over the head with the butt end of a gun, the daughters said, and while he lay unconscious the bandits shot him at least half a dozen times.

Two of the four bandits, all of whom were armed, went up the stairs to the bedroom occupied by Mrs. Tofsrud and her infant child and demanded she tell them where the safe was located. Mrs. Tofsrud and her children were not injured by the gunmen.

Telephone wires leading to the home were cut. The daughters ran to a neighboring farm to call the sheriff.

Joseph F. Grossman Heads 6th District B'nai B'rith

Assistant Corporation Counsel Joseph F. Grossman was elected head of the sixth district of the Jewish fraternal order B'nai B'rith at the close of the 65th annual convention of the order in the Hotel La Salle yesterday. More than 1,000 delegates attended the five day meeting of the grand lodge of this district.

Fearing Insanity, He Ends Life in Canal

Joseph Svestka, 50 years old, 2320 Harvey avenue, Berwyn, yesterday wrote a note informing his wife that he feared he was going insane and would end his life rather than go to an asylum. He then left his home. A few hours later his body was taken from the drainage canal near Lawndale avenue in Summit.

GIRL TELLS JURY HOW BALL PLAYER BLACKED HER EYE

Says He Tried to Attack Her in Room.

Miss Lillian Eloise Mitchell, 22 years old, of Winston-Salem, N. C., told a jury in Circuit Judge Walter La Buy's court yesterday that Harley Boss, first baseman for the Cleveland Indians, blackened her eye and tried to attack her when she visited him in his room. She said he tossed 25 cents to her when she left him.

Miss Mitchell, who is now living at 810 Wellington avenue, is suing Boss for $50,000 because of the attack, which, she charges, occurred on April 19 in the Boulevard Manor hotel in Cleveland. She was the first witness yesterday and told her story in response to questions by her attorney, Lloyd Faxon.

Tells of Meeting Ball Player.

"I was traveling through Pennsylvania early in April and I met a Mrs. Marie Sweitzer," said Miss Mitchell. "I was going to Chicago to look for work. I stopped in Cleveland with Mrs. Sweitzer on April 18 and she got in touch with Boss and introduced me to him. He told me to call him up, and I did that the next day.

"He said: 'Come on over in a cab.' It was raining and the ball game had been called off. I said: 'Is there going to be any drinking?' and he said: 'No.' I went to his apartment and he dismissed the cab and we sat down and talked about baseball and the southland. (Boss comes from Jonesboro, La.)

"He was very polite. He called me 'Ma'am' and I called him 'Sir.' Then two other boys came in. They brought some beer. I didn't want any beer. Then the other two left and I said I wanted to go. Boss said, 'O, no, no.'

Charges He Struck Her.

"Then he tried to attack me. 'If you scream any more,' he said, 'I'll knock your block off.' Then he stopped for a minute and drank some beer. I screamed again and he hit me with his fist. Then he said I could go. I put on my hat and coat. Boss wanted to give me cab fare, but I wouldn't take it. But he put two dimes and a nickel in my hat."

Boss' two visitors, it developed, were Odell [Sammy] Hale, second baseman of the Cleveland club, and Frank Pytlak, a catcher. The cross-examination of Miss Mitchell was postponed until today so that the two players might testify yesterday and rejoin the team at Cleveland.

Pytlak testified that everything was "very proper" while he was in the room, and that Boss and Miss Mitchell danced together. Hale said he saw Miss Mitchell seated on Boss' lap.

"Do you know whether Boss was ever benched for drinking" Attorney Faxon asked Hale on cross-examination.

"No," said Hale. "He was benched a couple of times, but I don't know what for."

"What's his reputation for drinking" asked Attorney Faxon.

"Good," replied Hale.

"KISS OF DEATH" GIRL'S FRIEND IS FEARED DYING

The curse of Margaret Mary Collins, known as the "kiss of death" girl of gangland, is still operative, according to Attorney Samuel Hoffman. The attorney told Judge Rudolph Desort yesterday that his client, Sol Feldman, 28 years old, 2125 Pierce avenue, who was to have appeared to face trial for the theft of a fur coat, was near death at his home.

Feldman, who was shot by a policeman while taking the coat from the window of Leschin, Inc., 318 South Michigan boulevard, was known in gangland circles as the only admirer of Miss Collins to break the jinx of her attentions. Some previous sweethearts, all notorious in hoodlum circles, have been killed by police bullets or those of rival gunmen.

Feldman, according to gangland rumore, broke the curse by ending his relationship with the jinx girl. But his bad luck returned, Attorney Hoffman said, when he sought the girl's company again. In his last court appearance in April Feldman collapsed, and it was found that the bullet wound had reopened. Judge Desort yesterday continued the case until Aug. 2 after hearing Attorney Hoffman's story.

Merchant Rents Hotel Room to Hang Himself

MICHIGAN AVE. CROWD SEES $1,179 PAY ROLL HOLDUP

Gustav Mann, owner of a sea food restaurant at 73 East Lake street, was slugged by two bandits yesterday in the lobby of a Michigan avenue building and robbed of a $1,179 pay roll, while some 50 passersby looked on.

Mann was returning to his restaurant from a bank when the two gunmen seized him, pressed revolvers against his side and pushed him into the lobby.

While one of them turned and held off the spectators on the sidewalk the other attempted to seize the bag in which Mann carried the pay roll. Mann resisted and he and the bandit fell struggling to the floor. The robber then slugged Mann with his revolver and grabbed the bag, escaping with his companion to the lower level of Wacker drive.

Open New Bus Service to Seattle on Shorter Route

The Greyhound bus lines yesterday announced the opening of service on a new line to Seattle. The route, according to the company, is 400 miles shorter than those of other lines to the coast. The new lines run on the Northland Greyhound routes through Minneapolis to Fargo, N. D., and from there to Seattle on connecting routes.

ROOSEVELT'S SON SAILS; MOTHER SEES HIM OFF

First Lady Inspects His Quarters on Ship.

New York, July 5.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt's young son, Franklin D. Jr., and seven friends from this year's graduating class at Groton sailed today on the United States liner Washington for a two months' tour of Europe.

Mrs. Roosevelt went to the boat to see them off, paying her dime to get aboard, exactly like the other visitors to the ship, and her son enthusiastically promised her to have a good time this summer and not to spend his time studying.

Attracts Crowd.

The arrival of Mrs. Roosevelt attracted a crowd of spectators estimated at 6,500, some of whom kept the wife of the President busy autographing books. She remained aboard just long enough to inspect her son's cabin and the quarters of three of his classmates, A. J. Drexel Paul Jr., Charles Symington Jr., and George Whitney Jr.

As young Mr. Roosevelt walked the deck with his friends before the ship sailed a number of young women grabbed at his arm and tugged at his coat to attract his attention.

Will Visit Four Countries.

"I am a great admirer of your father," one of the girls said, "and I like you, too."

"Thank you," he replied, nervously fingering his hat.

The President's son said that he and his classmates were going to study the countries they visited, "but not too seriously," adding that this was a "pleasure trip."

They will tour France, Spain, Switzerland, and England.

BALBO SQUADRON IN ICELAND; MAY DELAY NEXT HOP

Trip from Londonderry Is Made in 7 Hours.

minister, led the Italian air armada of 24 seaplanes today on their third hop of the Rome to Chicago flight. The fleet took off for Iceland at 12:40 p. m. [6:40 a. m. Chicago daylight saving time].

The Italian embassy put through a long distance call to Culmore Point with an important last minute message, presumably from Premier Mussolini, but officials at the Point decided they could not recall Gen. Balbo, who a few seconds earlier had roared off the water.

Decision Quickly Taken.

The takeoff was attended by a great rush and bustle as a last minute decision was taken to resume the trip. Shortly before lunch the crews were idly sunning themselves before the hotel when an automobile sped up from which a messenger gave the order for all to assemble immediately at the landing stage at Lough Foyle, five miles away.

Gen. Balbo had decided that weather reports were sufficiently favorable to warrant a start. A hubbub arose as the flyers shouted and yelled for taxis, into which they crammed their baggage, and dashed for the Lough. Gen. Balbo himself arrived a half hour later.

Charmed with Ireland.

Before the ferry boat left the shore the Italian air leader said:

"Ireland is a lovely country and we would like to come again. The kindness of the people has been wonderful. Your sunshine is like our own Mediterranean sunshine, but now we must leave for the wind and rain of the north."

Standing in the boat, Gen. Balbo gave the Fascist salute and then sped away. Fifteen minutes later the seaplanes began rising from the Lough one after another. They circled in farwell and then set off over the open sea en route to Iceland.

PROGRAM OF WELCOME

Details of the plans for the welcome to Gen. Italo Balbo and his Italian flyers when they arrive in Chicago—perhaps on Sunday—were made public yesterday by Maj. Reed Landis, war flyer, who is chairman of the reception committee.

The airmen landed at Reykjavik, Iceland, yesterday, tired from their flight from Ireland. They may not take off for Cartwright, Labrador, until Friday, according to dispatches. The next hop, from Cartwright to Montreal, might thus be accomplished on Saturday, and the last stage on Sunday if weather conditions permit.

However, when the mass flight does end the aviators will be entertained for four days here before starting their return flight, which will probably be made via Washington, New York, and across the Atlantic—possibly by way of the Azores.

The charts prepared by the Landis committee and sent to the flyers instructed them to land on Lake Michigan south and east of the river's mouth and between the inner and outer breakwaters. After landing, the air armada will taxi around the end of the Navy pier to mooring buoys placed on the north side. This will provide a protected area bounded by the pier, the breakwaters and the shore line.

Will Meet Officials.

Mooring operations will probably require an hour and a half, after which small boats will carry the flyers to the gunboat Wilmette, which will be moored at the east end of the Navy pier. The ship will steam out into the lake for a short cruise while the flyers are given lunch and the opportunity to rest. Gov. Horner, Mayor Kelly, President Rufus Dawes of A Century of Progress, and Harry A. New, United States commissioner to the Fair, will be aboard with Chairman Landis.

Moving as close as it can to the Fair grounds, the Wilmette will transfer the flyers and the welcoming party to small boats which will carry them into the northern lagoon to the landing stage near the Administration building. They will reach the Exposition grounds late in the day.

While Dr. Giuseppe Castruccio, Italian consul general, who was one of the leading flyers in the Italian army during the war, will undoubtedly be one of the first to greet Gen. Balbo and his command, the landing at the World's Fair will give the first opportunity for the Italian residents of the city to honor the visitors.

Escorted by the Black Horse troop, the flyers will then go to Soldiers' field for the official welcome.

Landis to Preside.

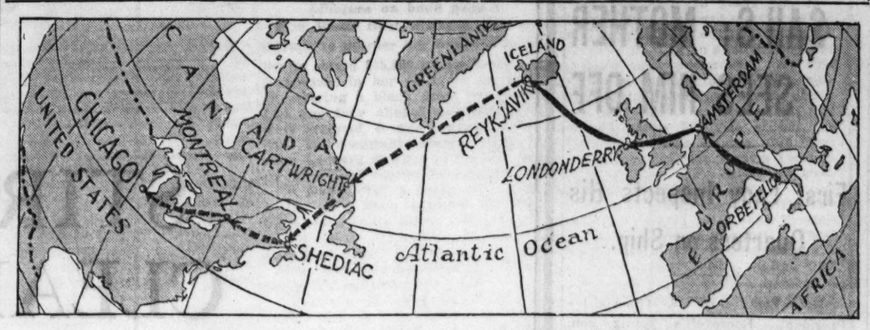
Chairman Landis will preside at this official demonstration, and Gov. Horner, Mayor Kelly, Mr. Dawes, and Mr. New will extend the welcome, to which Gen. Balbo is expected to reply.

In the evening the flyers will be given a reception at the Drake hotel, their headquarters, by the Dante Alighieri society, and a dinner dance by Mrs. Harold Strotz, probably at the Saddle and Cycle club.

ROB ICE CREAM STAND OF $600.

Three men, armed with revolvers, obtained $600 in a robbery of the Rainbow lodge, an ice cream stand at 9233 South Western avenue, after forcing the owner, Joseph Sano, to give them three ice cream cones.

ITALY'S AIR ARMADA REACHES ICELAND



Map shows Reykjavik, capital of Iceland, where the 24 seaplanes commanded by Gen. Italo Balbo, Italian air minister, landed yesterday after a hop from Londonderry, Ireland. The black line indicates the route taken so far. The dotted line shows the route to be followed by the Italians on the remainder of their flight to Chicago.

ACADEMY GIVEN BOY'S CUSTODY IN PARENTAL FIGHT

The Morgan Park Military academy received custody yesterday of a 9 year old boy, Harvey Levinson, by a court order in which Judge Joseph Sabath settled a contest between the boys' parents over possession of the child.

The mother, Mrs. Sophie Levinson, 518 North Parkside avenue, was given custody of Harvey when she divorced Attorney Morris G. Levinson, with the proviso that Levinson should pay for his son's education. The boy was a student at the military academy until a few months ago, when his mother took him out of the school.

Attorney Norman Becker filed a petition on behalf of Levinson, charging that the mother's action was interfering with the boy's education, and asking that the divorce decree be amended to give custody to Levinson. Judge Sabath ordered that Harvey stay at the academy the year around. Both parents may visit him.

JUDGE ORDERS AN INQUIRY INTO HOLDING OF GIRL

Judge Howard Hayes in the Felony court yesterday ordered the state to find out why Miss Ethel Rohde, 16 years old, 1200 Isabella avenue, Wilmette, complaining witness in a rape case, had been held for three days in the Juvenile home. Theodore Simpson, 23 years old, a former locker attendant at the Saddle and Cycle club, was held to the grand jury in bond of $2,500 on the complaint of the girl.

Noting that the girl came into court with Juvenile court authorities, Judge Hayes demanded that she be released from custody immediately.

"Why was this girl held?" the judge asked. "She is guilty of no crime. The state will find out why she has been detained."

Miss Rohde charged that Simpson attacked her in his room at the Saddle and Cycle club last Sunday night. Simpson, the state charged, got permission from the girl's sister to take her to dinner. He later took her to his room, the girl charged, choked her, and threatened to kill her if she did not accede to his demands. She said that she had been held by juvenile authorities since she reported the crime.

Yes... owners "treat 'em rough"

...but find a Terraplane that can't take it... or a Terraplane owner who doesn't love his car as he loves his dog!

The way Terraplane owners drive, you might think they had a grudge against their cars.

But watch them smile while they float along at sustained speeds that would make most cars cry for mercy. Talk to them after they've done a stretch of high-gear mountaineering. Challenge them to say why they breeze so nonchalantly over rocky detours.

"Why, that's Terraplaning!" they'll say. "This car's no sissy—why nurse it? It's grown up. All you do is drive it—it takes care of itself."

And that's what makes Terraplaning a sport instead of just transportation. No—you don't have to hop along at 70 or 80, or take the side of a mountain at 55 or a rutty lane at 40. But you can if you want to—without repair-bill worry. "That's Terraplaning!"

"Don't I know it! We've done 748 miles in two days without a hill-shift. And both we and the car are as fresh as dewy daisies!"

"Lots of Terraplanes up here this summer—they're the only cars that can take these mountains in high gear."

Shopping Notes of Celanese

At a prominent Long Island golf club, the fashion chatter is all on the new tricot knits of Celanese. A smart young pursuer of trophies, who delights in the freedom of knit fashions, has passed 'round the word that frocks of Celanese hold their shape on the fairway, surviving the most vigorous backswings without stretching or getting baggy. They even may be washed without shrinking or stretching. Smart women all say:

BREAKS RECORD AT AIR RACES BY 237 MILE SPEED

4-Day Show Attended by 150,000 People.

BY HUGH SEXTON.

Two world speed records were broken unofficially yesterday in the closing program of the American Air Races at the Chicago airport. The races were sponsored by THE TRIBUNE. The record breaking speed flashes were witnessed by 15,000 persons, who brought the total attendance at the four day racing meet to 150,000, in addition to 200,000 who saw the events from vantage points outside the grounds.

Johnny Livingston of Aurora, Ill., leading racing pilot in the United States, beat the world record for planes powered by motors of less than 500 cubic inch displacement by flying his small yellow and red Cessna racer [Warner motor] four times along a measured course at an average speed of 237.4 miles an hour. He exceeded the mark of 213.8 miles an hour set by Ben O. Howard last year at Cleveland in his Menasco powered racer by 23.6 miles an hour.

Sets New Speed Record.

Jack Wright, sportsman pilot of Utica, N. Y., broke the world record of 139.6 miles an hour for two seater planes weighing less than 1,000 pounds empty, by attaining an average of 180.47 miles an hour. The previous record was made by a French plane. Wright flew Livingston's monocoupe racer [Warner motor]. Both flew their speed trials on a course measuring 1.932 miles.

Livingston's attempt to break the record had not been announced and came as a surprise at the end of the day's program. He explained afterward that he wanted to know the speed of his new plane, which had never been tested over an electrically timed course. Now that he has exceeded the record time, he will make an official flight for a new record in the near future, he said.

Speeds in Record Flight.

Livingston flew the record trials on a course measuring 1.932 miles, climbing high at each end to gain speed for the race back along the stretch. He flew at an altitude of about 50 feet on the course itself, his 145 horsepower Warner motor roaring at the terrific speed. His times on the four laps were as follows. First, 230.53 miles an hour; second, 242.34; third, 237.38, and fourth, 239.34.

Livingston won both $5,000 feature events of the American Air races, the Baby Ruth trophy race and the Aero Digest trophy race, collecting total first prize money of $4,500. Added to his previous winnings of $56,000 in air racing in the last five years, it bring his total to more than $60,000.

Wright was one of the leading prize winners of the American Air races. The only two pilots who won more than he did were Harold Neumann of Moline, Ill., who won $3,345 in taking three firsts and two thirds, and Arthur J. Davis of East Lansing, Mich., who took $3,320 in prize money in one first, three seconds, a third, and a fifth.

Considerable excitement was caused after the end of the Gov. Horner race when Clyde Pangborn, flying a monocoupe racer in that event, was reported down between the third and home pylons. A grass fire in that direction increased the alarm, but it was soon found that Pangborn had landed safely at the airport when his motor stopped. Pangborn flew across the Pacific ocean nonstop with Hugh Herndon Jr.

Takes His Third Trophy.

Wright, the Utica pilot, won his third trophy at the American air races yesterday when he took the Gov. Horner trophy and first prize money of $450 in the twenty-five mile race for stock model planes with motors of 800 cubic inch displacement or less. He also won the Atlas Brew and Turf trophies. Wright flew Livingston's monocoupe (Warner motor) at an average speed of 160 miles an hour.

Art Carnahan of Bloomington, Ill., won the Polish flyers' trophy and first prize money of $225 in a Tilbury-Fundy flash plane (Church motor) at an average speed of 114.92 miles an hour for the twenty-five miles. He had a close race with Art Davis, who averaged only two miles an hour slower in a Heath racer (Continental motor) to take second place. Third place was won by Willis E. Kysor of Niles, Mich., who also flew a Heath racer (Continental motor).

Amphibion Designer Arrives.

Igor Sikorsky, designer of the amphibion planes bearing his name, which are used extensively in the Caribbean service by Pan-American Airways, landed at Chicago airport yesterday afternoon during the races in a new plane of his design flown from the factory at Bridgeport, Conn.

Charles Abel, the bank clerk, who stunts in a glider, broke his own record of 17 consecutive loops after cutting loose from a towing plane by making 21 loops before lightly settling his motorless craft in front of the grand stand.

During the afternoon J. R. Cadge, chief radio operator for the races, tuned in on the short wav broadcast between some of the air liners and their airport controls and put the exchange of verbal messages on the broadcasting system at the races.

Missing of Pylon Takes Away Turner's Los Angeles Victory

Municipal Airport, Los Angeles, Cal., July 5.—(AP)—A technical violation of the rules governing closed course racing made Jimmy Wedell victor over Col. Roscoe Turner today in the 100 mile event of the national air races.

The judges ruled Turner failed to turn the fourth pylon on the first lap of the race, run yesterday, although Turner, on the next lap, recircled the pylon. Wedell got $3,375. He was behind Turner in speed.

One pilot, Lee Gehlbach of Detroit, Mich., and the builder of one of the racing ships, Ben O. Howard of Kansas City, expressed the opinion the contest committee might have made a quicker decision, as Turner was allowed to leave the race and field yesterday believing himself the winner. The ruling gave Gehlbach second and $1,875, Roy Minor third and $1,125, George Hague fourth and $750. Z. D. Granville of Springfield, Mass., was last and got $375.

Revision of the prizes made Wedell the leading money winner of the races with $7,875; Minor second with $6,675; Turner third with $6,175. Wedell had a chance to pick up about $700 more and Minor $250 in events scheduled for today, but postponed until tomorrow.

AIR RACE RESULTS

Following are the results of yesterday's events in the American Air Races at the airport:

Gov. Henry Horner race for $1,200 [800 cubic inch motor displacement] stock model planes, 25 miles, 5 laps. First prize, $540, Jack Wright, Utica, N. Y., Monocoupe [Warner motor]; second price, $300; Doug Davis, Atlanta, Ga., Travelair [Wright motor]; third prize, $180, Art Davis, East Lansing, Mich., Waco [Wright]; fourth prize, $120, Marcellus King, Fairmount, Minn., Monocoupe [Warner]; fifth prize, $60, Helen MacCloskey, Pittsburgh, Monocoupe [Warner]. Winner's time, 160.05.

Polish flyers' trophy race for $500 [115 cubic inch motor displacement] free for all, 25 miles, 5 laps. First prize, $225, Art Carnahan, Chicago, Tilbury-Fundy flash [Church motor]; second prize, $125, Art Davis, East Lansing, Mich., Heath racer [Continental motor]; third prize, $75, Willis E. Kysor, Niles, Mich., Heath racer [Continental motor]; fourth prize, $50, Walter Franklin, Kankakee, Church racer [Marathon motor]; fifth prize, $25, David H. Bishop of Chicago, Chilleen-Fritton racer [Church marathon motor].

Parachute contest for $200. Won by Shirley Ranner, Cincinnati, who landed 55 feet 9 inches from the field mark.

MOURNING GOWN ORDERED BY MRS. OPAS, COURT TOLD

Mrs. Bessie Opas, charged with conspiracy to murder her husband in order to obtain $15,000 in insurance had progressed in her plans to the point of ordering a black dress before she and her four alleged co-conspirators were arrested, it was charged yesterday by Assistant State's Attorney John Leonard Murphy in the Criminal court of Chief Justice John Prystalski.

"I found that a south side dressmaker had been engaged by Mrs. Opas, two weeks before the plot was halted by the arrests, to make a mourning dress," the prosecutor said. "Mrs. Opas provided several yards of black silk and ordered a dress."

"That's a lie," Mrs. Opas shouted. "That man is a drunken bum." As she spoke she pointed at her husband, Marion Opas, owner of the Opas Motor Sales company at 5114 South Racine avenue, who halted the alleged plot by seizing one of the four youths said to have been hired by Mrs. Opas.

A motion to reduce the bond of Mrs. Opas was made and the case was assigned to Judge Philip Sullivan, who continued the hearing until tomorrow.

Hop on Nonstop Flight from Haiti to Washington

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti, July 5.—(AP)—Capt. Errol Boyd and Co-Pilot Robert Lyons took at 6:20 p. m. Chicago daylight time today in the veteran plane Columbia for a non-stop flight to Washington, D. C. Boyd is carrying a letter and a gift of coffee from President Vincent to President Roosevelt. They expect to reach Washington in about 16 or 17 hours.

SEIZE ALLEGED THIEF WITH TWO SHOTGUNS IN CAR

Tony De Vito, 20 years old, 1523 Flournoy street, alleged member of the "42" gang, who is out on bonds on a charge of stealing an auotomobile, was captured early yesterday. De Vito was fleeing in an auto from Policemen Patrick Reilly and Paul Bartels of the west park force. At Polk street and Ashland aveue De Vito struck the automobile of John Mackey, 3938 West Erie street, and was thrown through the windshield. Two sawed off shotguns were found in his car.

A writ of habeas corpus for De Vito was sought before Judge John Prystalski in the Criminal court. Chief Schoemaker sought to hold him for a showup tomorrow night, stating that he believed De Vito to be a member of a gang which has been robbing visitors to the Worlds' Fair, but Judge Prystalski ordered the prisoner booked before 2:30 o'clock this afternoon.

SPAIN'S PAVILION AT FAIR WILL BE DEDICATED TODAY

Rotary International Also to Have Program.

Spain, the land of beautiful señoritas and gallant caballeros, with its romantic history and its splendor of art, will hold the center of the stage today at the Fair. Diplomatic representatives, officials of the Fair and city, and Chicago social leaders will attend the dedication in the afternoon of the Spanish pavilion, the high light of the day.

Sharing honors with the Spanish will be the thousands of Rotarians in the Chicago district, observing Rotary International day. A special guest will be John Nelson of Montreal, international president elect. Participating in the ceremonies will be all the incoming officers.

See Boost in Attendance.

With the two special features on the program for the day, officials are confident that an attendance in keeping with the record breaking crowds of the first of the week will be maintained. Yesterday's attendance was smaller than that of Monday and Tuesday, when Fourth of July celebrators swelled the total. At 11:30 o'clock last night 96,941 visitors had passed through the turnstiles.

Fair officials announced yesterday that 232,472 persons visited the exposition grounds during the Fourth of July festivities, bringing the total attendance since the opening of the Fair to 3,538,037.

Consul General to Officiate.

Dedication of the official exhibit of Spain will take place at 5 o'clock, with Sebastian de Romero, Spanish consul general and commissioner to the Fair from Spain, in charge of the program.

A reception to prominent members of the Spanish colony in Chicago, officials and society leaders will be held in the pavilion following the dedication ceremonies.

The pavilion is built in the style of the old Spanish castles, and lends a soft and mellow touch to the modernistic environment in which it is placed. The culture of the past and of the present, mementos of the days of Velasquez and Cervantes, side by side with the products of the republic, feature the exhibit.

The true blades of Toledo, without which no crusader would have ventured from home, and the armor of the period are feature exhibits. The art collection, given a prominent place in the center, alone is valued at more than a million dollars.

Goya and Velasquez Paintings.

Shown are thirteen original Goyas and the painting generally considered to be among the greatest of Velasquez, "Child of the Court." Nine Spanish and Flemish tapestries decorate the walls and provide a warm and colorful setting for the displays of modern Spain, the perfume, woodwork, and jewelry exhibits.

The cooking of Spain, prepared by a cook who was decorated by the king, is provided in the Miramar restaurant. The cook, whose culinary skill placed him on a par with the artists and heroes who are honored in the other parts of the pavilion, is Mariano Gamero. Spanish music, modern and of the time when Spain ruled the world, will feature the restaurant programs. In small shops visitors may make purchases.

Rotary Assembly in Evening.

The principal event of the Rotary program will be an assembly at 9 p. m. in the court of the Hall of Science. Col. John B. Reynolds, incoming president of the Chicago Rotary club, will preside. Dr. Allen D. Albert, executive assistant to President Dawes of the Fair, will represent the Fair organization. Members of the incoming board will be presented to the visitors during the ceremony.

The musical part of the program will be given by the Chicago Rotary Glee club under the direction of Frank Bennett, being broadcast over a national radio chain and the public address system at the Fair grounds. Naturally, the Rotary program will start with a luncheon in the afternoon at one of the restaurants in the grounds.

CENTURY OF PROGRESS NOTES

California day will be celebrated tomorrow in the Hall of States with ceremonies commemorating the 87th anniversary of the raising of the American flag at Monterey on July 7, 1846, when Commodore Sloat took possession of the state during the Mexican war. The program begins at 3 p. m. with music by the Pacific coast band and orchestra, under the direction of Maj. Earl Dillon.

The International Congress of Women will be held in Chicago from July 16 to July 22, inclusive. The subject of the congress will be "Our Common Cause—Civilization."

Uncle Quin and his Scalawags, Don Dreamer, Jean Wishbone and Tiny Tim, will be in the Children's day parade tomorrow. They will give one of their programs in the court of the Hall of Science from 2:15 to 2:45 p. m., which will be broadcast over radio station W-G-N and the public address system at the Fair.

Three major delegations of the Fair will arrive in Chicago today. Two hundred nad twelve members of the New England Polish Falcons from Boston, Worcester, Springfield, and other points in New England will arrive over the Michigan Central railroad to participate in the finals of a three day track and field meet scheduled for Sunday in Soldiers' field. Another delegation of 85 Falcons will arrive from Auburn, N. Y., over the same road in the afternoon. The New York Central lines will bring in a party of 140 high school students and friends from Erie, Pa., tomorrow.

Gov. William A. Comstock will lead a delegation of several thousand to Chicago Saturday to observe Michigan day at the Fair. A program of music and speeches will be given in the Hall of States, where Michigan has an exhibit.

Japanese day will be observed at the Fair on Saturday with Katsuji Debuchi, Japanese ambassador to the United States, and his wife as special guests. They will arrive in Chicago Saturday morning. It is expected that more than three hundred Japanese from the major cities of the country will attend the ceremonies. Yoshio Muto, Japanese consul general in Chicago, will be in charge of the program.

TODAY'S PROGRAM AT THE FAIR

BAR MANCHUKUO FROM JAP SPACE, CHINESE ASK FAIR

A written protest against inclusion of exhibits of the contested state of Manchukuo in the Japanese exhibit at A Century of Progress was sent yesterday to President Rufus C. Dawes by the Chinese Consolidated Benevolent association of Chicago, 2251 Wentworth avenue. The letter was signed by Chen Low, president, and Mar Chena, secretary.

"Inasmuch as the government of the United States has refused to recognize Manchukuo," the letter read, in part, "it appears to us that A Century of Progress Exposition might consistently deny it recognition on the World's Fair grounds.

"We feel that we are within our rights to protest, respectfully but firmly, that you request the Japanese to close this part of their exhibit and cease their propoganda."

Maj. Lenox R. Lohr, general manager of the Fair, said that the management had been "punctilious" in asking that no mention be made of Manchukuo. "If it is included in the exhibit, we will notify the state department at Washington for whatever action it may wish to take," he said.

DEAD SKY LEAPER BELIEVED NOVICE OR HEART VICTIM

Identified as a Printer with Wanderlust.

Two explanations were advanced yesterday to account for the death of Joseph Adrey, alias Wilson, who fell 1,800 feet into Lake Michigan late Tuesday night after leaping off an airplane and failing to open his parachute. His plunge was witnessed by some 75,000 visitors at the World's Fair.

The first of the guesses was that Adrey may have been a victim of heart disease. The body was recovered from the lake yesterday and a post mortem examination will be made to settle this before a coroner's jury of airplane pilots sits at the inquest today.

Second on the list of possibilities was the belief that Adrey, or Wilson, may never have leaped previously from a plane. His father, who lives in Jersey City, N. J., said the man who lost his life had never expressed any interest in aviation until a few days ago, when he wrote home a letter telling of his intention to leap for the amusement of World's Fair crowds.

Find 'Chutes in Good Order.

The blame for the accident, it was fairly well established yesterday, did not lie in the parachute equipment. Kenneth E. Johnson, inspector for the United States department of commerce, made a preliminary examination of the two 'chutes Adrey carried and reported they seemed to be in good working order. He added that it was doubtful if Adrey made an effort to open either.

Confusion as to the identity of the victim arose yesterday. The man killed had been hired for the jump as "Joseph Wilson" and Chicago newspapers published the picture of a parachute jumper with that name. The man of the picture, however, is another Joseph Wilson, who retired from the dangerous game five years ago. He had a food concession at the American Air Races, which ended yesterday.

"I have been reported dead several times in similar cases," said the real Wilson.

Presents Evidence of Experience.

Whether Adrey had assumed the identity of Wilson to deceive the Fair officials into engaging him was being investigated. He presented credentials to the officials and to Barney De Witt, the pilot who took him up, showing that he was an experienced 'chute man from the Pacific coast. He also had photographs of himself and newspaper clippings attesting his prowess.

About five weeks ago Adrey came to Chicago and engaged a room at 5453 Kenmore avenue. There he received mail, under the name Joe Wilson, from the Adreys in Jersey City. He obtained a job as a dishwasher in the J. C. restaurant at 1527 East 55th street.

To acquaintances there he spoke in grandiose but vague terms of the wealth his father, C. A. Wilson, once had, and of his abilities in his chosen branch of aviation. He declared that he was of Arabian descent and that the father was a rug importer. The Jersey City family said he was a printer with the wanderlust.

Canadian War Chaplain Finds Chicago Harmless

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., July 5.—Chicago is not as bad criminally as it is painted, according to Archdeacon J. G. Scott of Quebec, Canadian war chaplain, who has just returned from a fortnight in Chicago at A Century of Progress Exposition. The minister said he donned his army identification disc, so as to be prepared for any eventuality, but that during his stay in Chicago he was not molested in any way.

FIGHT INJURIES FATAL.

George Pendleton, 37 years old, 1210 South Morgan street, died yesterday in the county hospital of injuries incurred Tuesday in a street fight with five Negroes at Halsted and Monroe streets.

COURT APPROVES 15-5 CAB FARES PENDING RULING

Orders Checker Drivers to Pay Company Debts.

Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward yesterday entered an order permitting 800 insurgent Checker cab drivers to continue operating for the next ten days at the rate of 15 cents the first third mile and 5 cents for each additional third mile.

Meanwhile they must report their cabs into one of the company's garages at least once a day and pay their garage, insurance, and service charges for the month of July, the court ordered.

Company Seeks to Seize Cabs.

The court's ruling was on a petition by the Checker Cab company for an injunction restraining the defiant drivers from retaining possession of the cabs which, under the contract, become the property of the company whenever the driverowner is in arrears on his debts to the company. The drivers are in a conspiracy, according to the company's petition, to withhold payments and to break their contracts with the company.

Judge Woodward did not rule on the 15-5 rate, attorneys explained, but gave the drivers the option of charging any legal fare pending final disposition of the lawsuit.

The city council recently fixed the maximum rate at 20 cents for the first half mile and ten cents for each additional half mile, the rate then in force by the Checker and Yellow companies. Following the passage of that ordinance 800 of the 1,200 Checker drivers held a meeting and adopted the 15-5 rate, against the wishes of the company officials.

These facts were explained to Judge Woodward by Attorneys L. E. Hart and L. A. Stebbins, representing the company, and Attorneys Eugene L. McGarry and Kurt Salomon, representing the 800 drivers.

Allows 10 Days for Answer.

"This case involves more than a thousand drivers and their families," Attorney Salomon stated, referring to the operation of many of the cabs in two shifts every day. "We need a few days to prepare our case."

The court said the attorneys for the drivers might have ten days in which to make written answer to the accusation that the drivers are in a conspiracy, and the attorneys were directed to prepare an order jointly for the court to sign.

Attorneys Hart and Stebbins prepared a long order containing a finding of fact. Attorneys McGarry and Salomon objected and most of the document was stricken. Under the agreed order the company is to have technical custody of the cabs, but must not interfere with the drivers' use of them.

Cop Boosts Insurance.

Policeman William McEvoy, assigned to the vehicle bureau, which at present has supervision over taxicabs and some bus lines, was ordered yesterday to appear tomorrow before Judge Thomas A. Green in Traffic court and answer a complaint by William Evans, owner of a bus service to the Arlington Park race track.

Evans said McEvoy was bothering him because he doesn't have the "right" insurance. Policeman McEvoy was shown to have been an incorporator of a company that writes indemnity bonds for taxicabs and buses.

NEW POLITICAL PARTY URGED AT W.C.T.U. MEETING

Call on Drys to Support and Work for Cause.

Milwaukee, Wis., July 5.—(AP)—Dissatisfied with the stand taken by the Republican and Democratic parties, the annual convention of the National Woman's Christian Temperance union today adopted a resolution proposing a third political party for dry voters.

The plea for the resolution was made from the floor of the convention. Members of the committee were hastily assembled and late this afternoon submitted the following resolution:

"As the leaders of the major political parties are supporting the repeal of the eighteenth amendment, we call upon dry men and women in every state to consider sympathetically proposals for the formation of a new political party which will actively support the principles and policies of prohibition, along with other great moral issues. The times call for citizens to return to the standard of justice and honesty set by the framers of the constitution."

The organization adopted the resolution as the final act of business of the 59th annual convention.

Mrs. Ida B. Wise Smith of Des Moines, Ia., new president of the union, indicated she was thoroughly in accord with the demand for a new party.

ALDERMANIC GROUP URGES DROPPING OF BONDS FOR BEER SALE

The city council committee on licenses voted yesterday to recommend to the council tomorrow that the beer ordinance be amended to free beer vendors of the necessity of posting a bond.

The aldermen pointed out that the bonds were no protection to the city and never had been, and that they were merely an added tax which would increase the cost of beer. The committee also will recommend that the police department, which is to investigate applicants for licenses, allow places which had a license for the first half of the year to run pending completion of the investigation.

Ald. Frank E. Konkowski [26th] complained that police were forcing beer taverns to close at 1 a. m., although there is no provision in the statutes requiring this.

Recently, he said, he was in a tavern with some friends when a police squad entered "1 e a bunch of wild men" and ordered all the patrons out at 1 a. m., stating that they were acting on orders from Capt. Joseph Goldberg of the Irving Park police.

Police Commissioner Allman told the aldermen that Capt. Goldberg will be instructed to stop his practice of closing places.

U. S. REGULATION OF SACRAMENTAL WINE IS RELAXED

Quantity Doubled; Ease Restrictions.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 5.—[Special.]—Prohibition sprang another leak today, releasing a new flow of legitimate liquors, when the federal government virtually scuttled its control over the use of sacramental wine in homes.

Quantities of wine which each person may have were doubled, direct purchases from wineries were authorized, federal investigations and reports were dropped, and the effective period of applications was tripled under regulations issued today by Attorney General Homer S. Cummings and Assistant Secretary of the Treasury S. B. Gibbons.

Relaxed control over sacramental wines used in the homes came as another step in the administration's prohibition policy, which already has caused looser regulation of medicinal liquor and reduction of prohibition and rum patrol forces for reasons of economy.

Quantity Doubled.

The quantity of sacramental wine which each adult may have for use in his home was boosted from one to two gallons by the new orders. At the same time the maximum for any family was raised from 5 to 10 gallons a year.

Direct purchases from authorized wineries or distributors will be permitted under the new rules. Relieving church officials of the duty of personally dispensing the wine for home use, the regulations permit them to designate distributors who may deal directly with members of the congregation. This arrangement has been one long sought.

In addition to increasing the quantity of wines obtainable the new regulations wipe out the right of federal agents to hold up permits because they believe they exceed the "legitimate needs" of the congregation. This power, specifically set forth in the old rules, was dropped in the revised edition.

Must Act Promptly.

Federal agents must act upon new applications within 30 days and upon renewals within 10 days. They are no longer specifically authorized to investigate applications about which they have suspicions. Once approved a permit will be good for 90 days, instead of 30, as formerly.

Church officials or their agents need no longer require receipts from members of their congregations when they dispense liquors to them. They still must keep records showing the names and addresses of persons receiving wine, but these records need no longer be submitted each time a new application is made. They must merely be open to inspection by federal officers at any time during business hours.

HELD FOR FATAL STABBING.

Chester Scullock, 3918 South Park way, was held by the Cottage Grove police last night after he fatally stabbed Edward Fox, 40, in the latter's home, 3019 South Park way. Both are Negroes.

Des Plaines Council Puts O. K. on Beer Ordinance

The Des Plaines city council approved an ordinance last night allowing the consumption of 3.2 per cent beer on the premises of the place of purchase, ending a three month wrangle over the question. However, drinking on the premises is permitted only where patrons are sitting at tables or counters. This automatically prohibits the use of bars and other saloon-like equipment. Places dispensing the beer must not be shut in by shades or other obstructions. License fees range from $5 for a one day beer permit to $200 for breweries.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT AND THE LONDON CONFERENCE.

President Roosevelt's experiences with the London conference and the experiences of the conference with Mr. Roosevelt reveal how advantageous it is for the President of the United States to remain at home in the impregnability of his office, on his own home shores, and have his dealings with the conferees at long distance.

Mr. Wilson's unhappy experiences in Europe revealed the reverse of this. In the confines of the United States no one raises his voice to the President. In congress and in political argument opposing citizens may raise their voices at him, but nobody sits down with him and adopts a brusque, domineering, or unconciliating tone. The advantage is all his and if he doesn't like opposing counsel or contradiction he doesn't get it. There may be defects or dangers in this if a President is stubborn in a mistaken policy, but in dealing with other nations an American President can protect himself and his purposes if he is not sitting down with the authoritative men of other nations, who feels no constraints when they want to tell him that they don't like what he is saying and they don't propose to stand for what he is doing. Clemenceau and Lloyd George would have had a much more difficult time if Mr. Wilson had been in Washington.

It is no secret that the elder statesmen of Europe hoped Mr. Roosevelt might make the mistake of going to London. He was too wise to leave the protections of his office and submit himself to the round table gathering, where the pressures would have been multiplied from every direction. The distinguished gentlemen who are offended by the messages the American President throws into their deliberations can get mad about it, but that's about all they can do.

It is evident that the American people rather enjoy the spectacle of Mr. Roosevelt putting his foot down, even if it be somewhat to the confusion of the American delegates themselves. There's a feeling in the United States which appears as a conviction every time there is a political decision to be made in an election that these recurring conferences can be of no probable good. There is in London now an assemblage of sixty-six nations, necessarily represented in that gathering by horse traders. Their main objective is and must be to get something out of the United States. If another nation had more to give, the concentration would be against that other nation. It is the United States which is on the spot. The Washington conference, the lead off gathering in these post-war practices, got somewhere merely because the United States was prepared in advance to volunteer a sacrifice of naval strength which almost knocked the delegates of the other nations out of their seats in astonishment when the announcement was made.

Balfour could close his eyes and know he was dreaming. All the other nations had to do was to accept the naval surrender of the United States and with that profit the affair came for them to a happy ending. The succeeding conferences in which America has been involved have opened on a highly emotional Salvation Army note and each quickly degenerated into the futile bickerings of horse traders who can't put their deals through unless they can send the United States home with some spavined nags. If the Americans succeed in keeping their shirts the event is acrimonious failure.

Much bad temper inevitably arises and sensible men must wonder why this international practice is persisted in when it so largely lacks good faith and is of such evident futility. Mr. Roosevelt is accused of shifting his position and changing his purposes. He is confronted with a changing world at home. Events are moving rapidly in America and some government policies must move with them. The President himself laid it down as his cardinal rule that if one of his doctrines encountered a changed setup of conditions or was proved by events not to be the proper doctrine he would be the first to recognize it and yield to the argument of facts. He does not thereby weaken the confidence of the country. The people must feel the better to know that there is not a stubborn doctrinaire in the White House, determined to bend the facts to what he conceives they ought to be.

AN INLAND WATERWAY.

In order to exploit the coal deposits along the Monongahela river the Monongahela Navigation company was formed some time prior to 1897. It constructed seven locks so as to provide slack water navigation from Point Marion, Pa., to Pittsburgh.

In 1897 the property was taken over by the United States and a project to further develop the river to Fairmont, W. Va., was started. The last lock of the new project was finished in 1904, so that the entire length is now available for navigation.

In the year 1926 over twenty million tons of coal and coke were moved between points between Point Marion and Pittsburgh—the old development—and but 25,279 tons on the newer government development. Of this latter figure 25,209 tons moved from mines in the first mile of the new development and only 70 tons in the last 40 miles, lock and dam No. 8 to lock and dam No. 15 near Fairmont.

Further statistics show that between Pittsburgh and Point Marion, which was the original ninety mile stretch developed by the Monongahela Navigation company, there are now 123 coal tipples, cranes and other facilities for handling traffic, while in the forty miles of government development there are only one coal tipple and two gravel operations.

The Monongahela development is frequently cited by advocates of water transportation as an example of what can be accomplished by river development, but our analysis has developed three features that somewhat detract from the value of the argument:

1. An enormous traffic had been developed on the river improved by private capital before the project was taken over by the government.

2. As the government's forty mile extension has developed no traffic worth mentioning, we cannot escape the conclusion that the mere existence of a waterway will not incite the movement of traffic.

3. The value of the waterway lies in its ability to move enormous volumes of raw materials to consumers from their private sources of supply. There are no common carriers on the Monongahela river.

THE GOVERNMENT'S RADIO BAND.

All program broadcasting is now restricted to the band between 550 and 1,500 kilocycles. The demand for additional facilities is great. The frequencies above 1,500 are not desirable because of technical difficulties. Those below 550 are particularly well suited to commercial broadcasting, but are monopolized by various government services. At the international radio conference in Mexico City the proposal to apportion some of the government frequencies to program stations will be considered.

As might be expected, the government departments concerned, and particularly the navy, are objecting on the ground that they need the wave lengths. The claim will scarcely stand examination. The navy in peace time has only a limited use for radio channels for its communications. Its dog-in-the-manger policy works a real and unnecessary hardship and at the same time deprives the government of the revenues it might receive if the channels were available for commercial use. In war time, of course, the government and, in particular, the armed services, can have any or all the additional wave lengths which they may decide to commandeer.

CHURCH AND STATE.

In its declared purpose of destroying faction and unifying the national will, the Nazi government has passed from the elimination of Jews from public office to measures apparently designed to control or suppress Christian organizations. The once formidable Catholic Centrist party, which has so long held the balance of party power and contributed so much to moderation in the political policies of Germany, has bowed to the storm and decided to dissolve. The Nazis now seem to control the Prussian state church and Lutheran ministers thought to be not well affected toward the new régime are losing their places. We read that in Norway Lutherans are raising a fund for the relief of German clergymen dismissed on this score and an Associated Press dispatch from Berlin reports that the church situation has become so serious that the bishop of Gloucester has sent the dean of Chichester to discover whether German Protestantism is to be forced under Nazi control.

The situation is difficult for Americans to grasp, but it is perhaps an inevitable result of the mixing of politics and religious organization. If there is to be a state church, and if parties are formed upon sectarian lines, any government determined to entrench itself in power must deal with religious dissentients as with political opponents. Toleration in the religious field gives way before the policy of enforced unification in the political field since religious organization has taken political forms. Church and state are not separate but intermingled and one or the other must prevail.

The struggle between church and state, between politics and religion, is an old one and perhaps inevitable. It is not absent from our own affairs though in a very moderate form. But the churches of the United States of all faiths would do well to observe the course of events in Germany and to inquire whether the manifestations in recent years of political clericalism in our own country are conducive to the welfare of the churches, to the preservation of religious freedom, or to the political and social harmony all loyal Americans would jealously guard. We have lately had pronouncements by sectarian organs which were indistinguishable from a political party platform, touching legislation and policies both foreign and domestic, which under the American principle of the separation of church and state have been always assigned to the political agencies of the nation and to the province of political government. No sophistry, however plausible, can conceal the issue involved in these activities and both the church constituencies and the clergy themselves should foresee that the pursuit of political power by representatives of religious or sectarian agencies will in the end disparage the proper influence of religion in the United States, not advance it.

Editorial of the Day

A DOUBTFUL GAIN TO THOSE WHO PROTESTED.

[Des Moines Register.]

Organized labor is sometimes harmed rather than helped by such exercise of its powers as the action of the Chicago musicians' unions in preventing the scheduled broadcast of the Southern Iowa Farm Bureau band at the World's Fair the other day.

This band does not compete in any recognizable degree with any organized group of musicians. The broadcast could hardly have done actual harm to any Chicago musician or union, and the thousands of farm radio listeners who had looked forward to hearing the broadcast are not likely to have a friendlier feeling toward unions in consequence of this disappointment.

The general policy of organized musicians in resisting various kinds of "free" music involves a complex and difficult question. The musicians are too often condemned as "dogs in the manger" by people who do not take the trouble to look at things from all sides.

But even granting the rightness at heart, the stark necessity for the general policy, a little tact and discretion as to applications of the policy would have been wise in the case of the farm band, it appears.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

"LEAVE OUT STORIES of wars in studying Latin," says a prof. attending the educational conference in Chicago, "and center around the idea of how a citizen acted in Rome 2,000 years ago." I know; he whipped all his slaves in the morning, went out to the Coliseum in the afternoon to see the Christians fed to the lions, and in the evening he sneaked away to a meeting of shrouded conspirators in a deep, dark grove and plotted to kill Cæsar. Then he went to a feast and ate humming birds' tongues and honey and drank wine until he was ready to call it a day and go home. The old time Roman, whether you study him in war or at home, did many things that would not be considered really nice today.

WHEN ONE DOOR closes another one opens right away. My bootlegger says the threatened rise in price is his opportunity; he's going to be a breadlegger.

"BONDS CLIMB to New Peaks."—Headline. I'm not asking my Galvanized Angel Cake, Inc., bonds to try climbing any new peaks or old ones, either. If the darned things will just poke their heads out of the ground long enough for me to have a good look at 'em I'll burst right out in happy, joyous tears.

BALLADE FOR ART'S SAKE.

I.

Here are they gathered, one and all,
The artists with their glowing wares,
While down the street and within call
Proud Whistler's "Mother" sits and stares.
I wonder: what strange thoughts are theirs
As they watch people gladly pay
To mount the broad Museum stairs
And see art of another day?

II.

These are the living, though withal
Steeped in a thousand petty cares,
With rent to pay (gigantic wall
To monthly scale!) and Artists' Fairs
Like this so few! . . . The hot sun glares
Upon their work, and every way
They turn, the crowds pass, unawares,
To see art of another day!

III.

Beneath the constant rise and fall
Of their quick laughter, a sigh bares
The torture of a soul in thrall,
Their hopes, ambitions and despairs;
Behind the smile the tired face wears
Is pain that will not go away:
Pain at seeing the crowd that dares
Prefer art of another day!

L'Envoi.

Though they are dead, their spirit shares
The feeling of the living; they,
Too, would be at the Artists' Fairs
Were they not of another day!

SHERRY KING.

AND WHEN WE COME to the day where we recognize the Russians, what do we say—"Hello, Ivanovitch, how's the boyski?" or do we just bow stiffly and say somewhat sternly, "Howdoski?"

"ECONOMIC PARLEY at London Believed Dying."—Headline. What do they mean, "believed dying"? That's London all over. Which reminds me of the story of the Englishman, a member of one of the smart clubs in London, who had observed for several days a man, apparently a member of the club, sitting without moving at one of the windows looking out towards Green park. He wondered if the man were ill, but, never having been introduced to him, and being an Englishman, of course he couldn't rudely walk up to him and ask him if he was all right. He spoke to a club member he happened to know, but this man had never been introduced to the member at the window, either, so of course he could do nothing. They let the incident pass, but after a day or two more, noticing the man was still sitting in the same place and not so much as lifting a finger or flicking an eye winker, they decided something ought to be done about it. They talked to other members—that is, to those with whom they were personally acquainted—and while some of them thought it would be sufficient to write a letter to the Times about it, others held it might be better to bring the matter up in parliament.

Finally the steward of the club was appealed to, but he, of course, being merely a steward, could not go up to a member and ask him how he felt. Finally a clubman came in who said he knew the man in the window and he would go over and speak to him. He did so, and then he came back to the group and he said: "No wonder he sits so jolly still. The poor blighter has been dead for a fortnight."

Which is probably the case of the economic conference. It isn't merely dying; the poor blighter has been dead for a fortnight.

THE ROMANCE OF A PEOPLE.

Woven in cunning color, Abram's vow, and Moses' ardor, the splendor of the court of Solomon, the throbbing human port
that was His Temple, a prophet's angry brow . . .
A multicolored warp threads the dark woof of centuries of hunger, pain, and death.
The story grows, completing the fabric's breadth;
the tapestry hangs priceless and aloof—
the past age of a people—a thing apart, fit background for the spectacle to come.
—Youth in swift cohorts. Heed the glad array of hands eager for toil. The drama starts!
Hush the dim past. The romance has begun!
The audience waits breathless on the play.

FELONS.

A CORRESPONDENT wants some information on felons. A specific question is whether the condition is found on the thumb or is limited to the fingers.

Felon is a colloquial name for infection of the deeper tissues in the last joint of any one of the fingers, including the thumb. The writer's father lost one joint of his thumb from that cause. Some class suppurations around the nail among the felons; others do not. On the other hand, some limit the term to those deep suppurations which destroy bone. The first inclusion is not proper and the second limits the term too much.

The wonder is that there are not more felons. The fingers are the original inquiring reporters. They are almost always on the job—feeling this way and that, poking in here and there. They are to man what the antennæ are to insects, the whiskers to catfish and sturgeon, the tongue to snakes, the pseudopodia to various lower forms of animal. The eye has something of that function, and the ear, but they are well protected. The fingers have all kinds of chances to pick up infection.

These organs are arranged for business. They consist of a bone stem to which many ligaments, tendons, and fascia are tied. Around this is skin. There is almost no excess baggage. The tissues are strong and dense. This arrangement means that, if bacteria capable of causing suppuration get through the skin and into the dense layers of fascia beneath, they tend to spread into the bone, the ligaments, and the tendon sheath.

Deep boils in this region are impossible. The reason for not including suppurations around the nails among the felons is that the location is superficial to the deep fascia and it results in boils. Once an infection gets into the deep tissues it can no longer come to a head on the surface. It tends to burrow under layers of fascia and along the sheath of tendons. If, therefore, a felon is left alone to come to a head, as is proper in the case of a boil, the pus is apt to cause the loss of a small finger bone, to stiffen a joint, or otherwise to put the finger out of commission permanently.

For this reason it is advisable to open a felon early and to be rather extravagant with the openings. The openings should be lengthwise of the finger as a rule because tendons must not be cut across, and they should go to the bone. The object is to make it easy for the pus to escape through the dense tissues and to the outside lest it burrow into the bone and the joints.

Other than this, a felon should be considered as a boil and treated as such. Once the infection can get through the dense tissues and to the outside it acts like any other infection causing a boil. It is the nearness of bone, with the preponderance of dense tissue, that causes felons to be recognized as a class to have a name and to call for special treatment.

NEUROSIS.

B. A. writes: What are possible causes of neurosis? Please suggest preventive measures.

REPLY.

Among the definitions of neurosis given by Stedman are: A peculiar state of tension or irritability of the nervous system; any form of nervousness. The term is a loose one. It is more a state of mind than a disease. The fundamental cause is a lack of equilibrium. The possible contributing causes run into the hundreds. The fundamental treatment consists in training in poise and self-control. Secondary measures of prevention relate to avoidance of the contributing causes.

BATH AND SLEEP.

B. W. J. writes: I have been puzzled very much in the last few years about the results of taking a bath just before retiring at night. As sure as I take a bath before I retire I remain awake until 2 or 3 in the morning. I cannot understand why I cannot get to sleep as soon as I retire.

REPLY.

Occasionally a person is stimulated rather than relaxed by a bath taken before retiring. The simplest procedure for you is to take your bath in the morning. If you wish to continue night bathing, experiment with waters of different temperatures.

EARS.

S. M. F. writes: My ears protrude quite a good deal and I believe it might improve my appearance if they could be trained back. I wonder if you could suggest any method.

REPLY.

Wearing a hat that covers the tops of the ears and holds them back is one method. Knit caps made for this purpose are worn. Outstanding ears can be changed by operation in some cases.

JOINT TENANCY.

Chicago, July 2.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—In a case where a mother, son, and daughter-in-law hold property in joint tenancy, with rights of survivorship and not tenants in common, the mother dies. 1. Must the two survivors go to probate with the property to have a clear title to same? 2. In the case of stocks held in the same manner, must the stock companies be notified of the mother's death? R. H. W.

1. No.
2. We see no necessity for immediate action in this respect. As to both questions, the one-half which passes by survivorship would be subject to inheritance tax.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

TRANSFER OF REAL ESTATE.

Chicago, July 2.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Can a piece of real estate be sold by the owner and legally transferred to another where a judgment has been taken against the owner and an execution served on the owner, but no levy made on any real estate or personal property of the owner? This judgment was taken in January, 1932. 2. Is it possible for the owner to sell and give legal title to any real estate he may now own? 3. There was no levy made on any real estate within one year from the date of judgment. The owner of said real estate now wishes to sell real estate owned by him. 4. Can he give a clear title? C. W.

1. In general, such a judgment would be a lien for seven years and as such would follow the property into the hands of the new purchaser.
2. No.
3. If the executor was served this is enough.
4. No.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

JULY 6, 1917.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill.—Mayor E. E. Jones early this morning appealed to Gov. Lowden by telegraph to send troops to Bloomington for strike riot duty. Adjt. Gen. Dickson ordered a detachment of the Illinois National Guard at Peoria to entrain for Bloomington at once. The appeal for state troops followed several hours of rioting which started after a massmeeting of the striking street car employés which was addressed by "Mother" Jones.

ROCKFORD, Ill. — Characterizing them as "whining and belly-aching puppies," Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis yesterday sentenced 117 of the slackers who took part in the Rockford riot of June 6 to a year and a day, each at hard labor, in the House of Correction in Chicago, the limit which the law allows.

NEW YORK.—Seizure by the government of documents which will lead, it is said, to the identification of hitherto unsuspected men in this city, Philadelphia, Boston, and Chicago as German spies was disclosed by the arrest of three sailors from the Danish steamship United States.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa.—Following a few days his brother Kingdon's wedding, George J. Gould Jr., youngest son of the millionaire, was married here yesterday to Miss Laura M. Carter of Freehold, N. J. The bride is a graduate of the Freehold, N. J., public schools. Her family is not ranked as wealthy.

WAR SUMMARY.—London reports the British gained on a 600 yard front southwest of Hollebeke. Berlin reports the French failed to recapture Chemin-des-Dames positions east of Cerny, and that the attackers fell back with heavy losses. Petrograd reports German efforts to retake lost positions east of Brzezany failed. Berlin, however, says the Russians were driven from some crater lines.

CHICAGO—Suits involving more than $1,000,000 are threatened against the city of East St. Louis in behalf of the Negroes whose homes were destroyed and whose means of livelihood were withdrawn in the recent riots. Action is said to be under way by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, of which Judge Edward Osgood Brown is the local president.

FORT MONROE, Va.—Hampton roads was given a real submarine scare last night by a report brought to the commandant of Fort Monroe that two incoming vessels had sighted a periscope in Chesapeake bay five miles off the fort. Immediate precautions were taken, and naval vessels are scouring the lower bay for an enemy. Merchant vessels about to sail were held up.

WORLD'S FAIR QUESTION BOX

Requests for information concerning A Century of Progress will be answered in this column. It is urged that questions be stated briefly.

QUESTION—Is Hollywood open all the time? What is the cost? Is it possible to see talkies made at any time? What is the speed and cost of the Sky Ride, and is it running all the time?

ANSWER—[a] [b] [c] You may see motion pictures made at any time. The cost is 25 cents. [d] The rocket cars travel at approximately 6 miles an hour. The cost is 40 cents one way, with 30 cents for a return trip. The charge to the top of the tower is 40 cents.

QUESTION—Is there a show for farm products at the Fair, and if so, where can I get a premium list for fruit and nuts?

ANSWER—There are no competitive food exhibits—hence, no entry or premium list.

DENNIS LANE ON EMPLOYE REPRESENTATION.

Chicago, July 1.—I happen to be one of the multitude of daily readers of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE and in the issue of June 11 I read the news story dealing with the fears of government control of industry and which tells the views of Mr. T. S. Hammond, who is quoted as being president of the Illinois Manufacturers' association.

Mr. Hammond's fears of wrecking business recovery by starting an era of strikes, racketeering, lockouts, and wage controversies because of the enactment of legislation by the present congress that will permit the wage earners of industry to organize and deal with their employers through representatives of their own choosing, are groundless.

The fact of the matter is, Mr. Hammond refers to some of the larger establishments, notably the meat packing companies, having well organized employé representation that, he says, has functioned successfully and without friction for many years, and that the employé representation groups have been in existence since 1921, and that previous to that time the meat packing house employés were in constant state of turmoil, which caused the necessity of a federal judge to assume control of the situation.

The fact of the matter is, the meat packing companies had for many years denied their employés the right to organize and be represented by men and women of their own choosing, and it was not until the world war that the packers were forced to recognize this right of their employés. An organization exceeding 100,000 packing house workers was established in 1917 and 1918, and even with this gigantic membership the packers flatly refused to meet with or recognize the chosen representatives of their employés to discuss wages and conditions of employment.

It was not until former President Wilson forced the packers into an agreement that was a three cornered affair—the United States government, the meat packers and stockyards companies and the labor unions—in which the employés held membership, were parties to this agreement, and Federal Judge Samuel Alschuler was selected by the secretary of labor and agreeable to the employers and unions to act as the administrator of this agreement. The union had good control of its membership until "the plants" and hired spies of the packers, working night and day, creating dissension, and with the change of administration from the Wilson régime to the Harding régime the packers announced flatly that on the 8th day of March, 1921, there would be an arbitrary reduction in wages of eight cents per hour for all employés and that the agreement administered by Judge Alschuler would no longer be recognized. It is true that from there on these packers organized the nucleus of an organization that they called their "employés' representation," but at no time did the employés ever have the opportunity of meeting in mass or in departmental groups for the purpose of discussing conditions of their employment. The elections were supervised by the timekeepers, plant superintendents, committees handling grievances, which was composed of an equal number of the employer hand-picked employé representatives from the plant workers and an equal number of executives representing the company. This group was presided over by the general superintendent of the company.

Can any man imagine the employés getting their demands for an increase in pay with this sort of a board, while under the administration of Judge Alschuler they received fair treatment that adjusted their wages, both up and down, as justified by the condition of the packing business? If Mr. Hammond and his association could accept the American wage earner in industry as his state and government did in time of war there would be no cause for the apprehension he displays.

The undersigned spent many years in the employ of our great American meat packing companies and does not speak at random or from hearsay.

BEER IN SOUTH CAROLINA.

Savannah, Ga., June 29.—I read today your editorial of the 27th issue captioned "Beer Licenses," and it has induced me to inform you about the South Carolina method of obtaining revenue from the sale of beer.

That state issues neither state nor city beer licenses, but imposes a state sales tax of two cents a bottle, paid with stamps affixed to the neck of the bottle, and a proportionate amount for bulk beer in kegs or barrels, the exact amount of which I did not learn.

The result is that beer is for sale in almost every kind of retail store except, perhaps, millinery stores and beauty parlors. Nearly all of the innumerable gasoline filling stations along the various highways display the cheering information that ice cold beer may be obtained within. It operates to the advantage of the retailer who is enabled to charge 20 cents for the 15 cent standard product, and a good old-time five cent stein of draught beer may be bought for a dime, and nobody seems to object.

FLOOD CONTROL IN CHICAGO.

Chicago, July 2.—Since President Roosevelt has turned the public eye to flood control, let us consider Chicago's own flood problem. In our neighborhood basements are flooded after every heavy rain. Our own basement has been flooded six times since Jan. 1. A few years ago the sanitary district passed an ordinance to build a main sewer from 39th street to 95th street, along Morgan and Aberdeen streets, which, if it had been constructed, would have done away with this unsanitary condition. Of course the sanitary district is practically penniless, but might not funds be obtained from the federal government to complete this project? I am sure that this would benefit more people than the proposed airport on the lake front.

PRINCIPAL NAVIGABLE INLAND WATERWAYS OF THE UNITED STATES

The new inland waterway system connects America's great interior cities and opens up to them direct trade routes to Europe, South America and the Orient. Lying at the head of both the Lakes-to-the-Gulf and the Lakes-to-the-St. Lawrence routes, Chicago is the gateway of the system.

because it is the center of water transportation

THE first commercial cargoes have traversed the new Illinois waterway. They have passed from Lake Michigan down the Mississippi river to the salt waters of the Gulf. They have been shipped by water transport from the Gulf to Chicago. Forecast 260 years ago by early French explorers and made possible by the foresight of the men of Chicago, the route is a fact

Built at a cost of $102,500,000, of which $95,000,000 was supplied by Chicago and Illinois, the new waterway furnishes the essential link between the Great Lakes and the Mississippi Valley system of navigable waters. Its opening is an event of first importance in the economic life of the nation. It will be an agency of far-reaching effect in restoring business.

The new outlet to the sea connects the great inland cities. It opens to them direct trade routes to Europe, South America and the Orient. It places midwest industry and commerce on a parity with seaboard states. It will draw industry and agriculture closer with benefit to both. It will improve both export and domestic trade.

It cuts down the regional handicap of the 50,000,000 people between the Appalachian and the Rocky mountains. It makes available at reduced cost the resources of one of the world's most productive industrial regions and the world's richest agricultural area.

Chicago is the gateway of the new waterway system. Lying midway in the great Mississippi Valley, at the heads of both the Lakes-to-the-Gulf and the Lakes-to-the-St. Lawrence routes, it is at the very center of the nation's water transportation. It will be the port of midwest farm and factory, the natural outlet of commerce developed by the great project under way in the Tennessee Valley. In the return of the United States to better times, Chicago will come back first!

Advertisers will share to the fullest extent in Chicago's recovery by concentrating in the Tribune—Chicago's first newspaper. The Tribune reaches 600,000 families daily in Chicago and suburbs — 47% more than any other Chicago daily newspaper.

It reaches over 150,000 more of the same type of progressive, able-to-buy families in cities and towns throughout the Chicago territory. It has the highest reader interest per copy and the lowest rate per line per thousand circulation.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

CARTER HARRISON MAY BE ILLINOIS ADMINISTRATOR

Twenty-five Men on List of Prospects.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 5.—[Special.]—Carter H. Harrison, five times mayor of Chicago, is among those under consideration for the post of Illinois administrator of the federal emergency administration of public works. He is sponsored by Senators James Hamilton Lewis and William H. Dieterich, who sent in their endorsement today, and by Gov. Henry Horner.

William L. O'Connell, former Chicago commissioner of public works and former head of the Illinois utilities commission, who was strongly supported for the position, has raised the question of whether receiverships he holds would make him ineligible for the appointment. He is said to be among the backers of Mr. Harrison. His sponsors set forth that at 73, the five times mayor is hale and hearty and that his experience would reduce the chances of any one slipping one over in the various projects.

More than 25 names are on the list submitted to President Roosevelt by the special board of public works for Illinois administrator.

List of Candidates.

They were recommended by officials and agencies, the senators, governor and the Illinois Chamber of Commerce. Among them are the following candidates for the place:

CARTER H. HARRISON.
WILLIAM L. O'CONNELL.
PROF. CHARLES E. MERRIAM, University of Chicago, authority on government.
HORATIO B. HACKETT, Chicago board of local improvements.
DANIEL H. BURNHAM, president Chicago Regional Planning association.
COL. ROBERT E. WOOD, president, Sears, Roebuck & Co.
COL. A. A. SPRAGUE, former commissioner of public works.
A. D. LASKER, former chairman, U. S. shipping board.
JOSHUA d'ESPOSITO, engineer.
PETER CAREY, president, Chicago Board of Trade.
EDWARD N. HURLEY, wartime chairman U. S. shipping board.
ROBERT F. CARR, former University of Illinois trustee.
W. W. De BERARD, former engineer Chicago Regional Planning association.

Doering Among Them.

OTTO C. DOERING, former general manager Sears, Roebuck & Co.
HARRY A. WHEELER, chairman, governor's committee on unemployment.
JAMES McANDREWS, ex-congressman, former Chicago building commissioner.
R. W. WALLACE, engineer, Chicago.
J. PAUL CLAYTON, engineer, Chicago.
JACOB JOBST, Peoria.
C. H. LOGAN, Decatur.
CHARLES E. HAMILTON, Carbondale.
JAMES A. ALLEN, Decatur, insurance man.
JAMES H. ANDREWS, mayor of Kewanee.
L. F. BONFOEY, Quincy.

President Roosevelt spent two hours at lunch with Secretary of the Interior Ickes and Secretary of Commerce Roper discussing the bale of proposed public works projects submitted to him two days ago. The total amount has not yet been made public, nor has the possible volume of men which the projects may put to work been estimated.

More than 500 candidates for state administrators in the 48 states have been placed before the President by the special board of nine members.

KUHN, LOEB LOANS ISSUE TODAY BEFORE PECORA SENATE GROUP

Washington, D. C., July 5.—(AP)—Evidence that Kuhn, Loeb & Co., lent more than $88,000,000 to 175 stock brokerage firms in the five year period 1927-'31 that saw the stock market boom and crash was made public today by the Pecora banking investigating committee.

The evidence was contained in an exhibit submitted last week at the request of Ferdinand Pecora, committee counsel.

That exhibit also listed nine loans, totaling more than $73,000,000, by Kuhn, Loeb & Co. to foreign and domestic corporations in which the collateral pledged consisted of securities in the issuance of which that banking house participated.

Those nine loans were made as follows: Fujimoto Securities Corporation of Japan, $1,000,000; United States Rubber company, $1,400,000; Pennsylvania company, subsidiary of the Pennsylvania Railroad, $62,500,000; Delaware and Hudson company, $113,743; Lenox corporation, $841,199; Wellington Finance corporation, three loans totaling $5,754,821; Adolph Zukor, $2,423,022.

The committee resumes its hearings tomorrow. Frank E. Taplin, Cleveland capitalist, will be questioned regarding Pittsburgh and West Virginia railroad stock he sold to the Pennroad corporation, holding company of the Pennsylvania railroad, in 1929 for $38,000,000 for 222,930 shares. Taplin got about $170 a share with the market at $110 to $140. The Pennroad acquired 73 per cent of the Pittsburgh and West Virginia stock. Kuhn, Loeb & Co. was adviser in the formation of Pennroad corporation. Taplin is a former president of the Pittsburgh and West Virginia.

It is said Taplin borrowed $1,950,000 from Pennroad on June 20, 1929, a few months before he sold the stock. Taplin paid off that loan Oct. 16 of that year when he sold the Pittsburgh and West Virginia stock.

Henry H. Lee, president of Pennroad, will be a witness tomorrow.

MILLIONS MORE ASKED FOR U. S. WORKS PROGRAM

Find Loophole to Prevent Planned Economies.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 5.—[Special.]—A loophole in the administration's economy program through which all the savings and millions beside may be dribbled away was opened up today.

Two departments, commerce and the navy, today applied to the public works administration for 87 million dollars of the 3 billion 300 million dollar pork barrel, so that they could resume activities and spending the economy program had forced them to drop.

Saving money on one side, they asked today to have it restored to them through the public works administration.

Want 350 to 400 Million.

Other departments have quietly slipped through the same loophole, it was revealed at the public works administration offices and have asked for a total of from 350 to 400 million dollars. Total savings on ordinary expenses in all departments are less than a quarter of that total.

The public works office refused to reveal which departments other than commerce and the navy had made requests, but the showdown may come tomorrow when the public works board meets to pass on the requests. Most of the cabinet members who are believed to be asking that money saved in one pocket be spent out of the other sit on the board as voting members.

Coupled with the plea for funds to neutralize their reductions in expenditures was a plea from Secretary of Commerce Daniel A. Roper to the bureau of the budget, asking that the economy drive in his department be stopped 3 million dollars short of its goal because the business pickup may bring in additional taxes. Secretary Roper explained that to him the outlook for revenues might justify less economy and more spending.

Roper Makes Pledge.

Under the Hoover administration congress appropriated 36 million dollars for the department of commerce. Roper, in a radio address formally pledged himself to cut this total to 26 millions, the mark set by the budget bureau.

Having put his department on what is estimated to be a 29 million dollar basis, he is asking that he be allowed to stop there because revenues may increase and because his department may have more work to do.

"Business is improving," Secretary Roper explained, "and we assume that this will be reflected in the needed service from the department. We can also hope to look for a larger income for the government in 1934 than was estimated in April and the service of the department may in that event justify us in using more people."

He declared, however, that he would continue to study the economy problem.

Asks 10 Millions More.

In addition to stopping at 29 millions, he is also asking for 10 millions more from the public works administration for lighthouses, coast surveys, the bureau of standards, and other divisions. The money would bring his total budget to 39 millions, actually 3 millions higher than that set in the Hoover appropriation.

Roper admitted that he would be able to hire back promptly 1,500 of his 1,900 discharged employés. He now proposes to restore some projects he had cut out in his so-called economy program.

A similar plea was sent to the public works pork barrel today by Secretary of the Navy Claude A. Swanson, who asks 77 million dollars to modernize every ship in the navy. The money, if it is granted out of the pork fund, would bring the navy's total expenditures up to 347 million dollars, 38 millions more than the 309 million dollar appropriation made under the Hoover administration.

Other departments are lining up requests for funds which will enable them to return to their pre-economy footing. The war department has in a bid for millions for housing and rivers and harbors in addition to those already announced, but at the war department today it was said that they had been forbidden by the public works administration from announcing the total.

SET $12,500 BONDS FOR SUSPECT IN WANT AD SWINDLE

Donald Pierce, 4242 South Wabash avenue, a Negro, was held to the grand jury in bonds totaling $12,500 yesterday by Municipal Judge Howard M. Hayes on charges of operating a confidence game against advertisers in THE TRIBUNE.

Five complainants who had inserted situation wanted ads in THE TRIBUNE testified against him. They were Vernon Dallman, 2710 Mildred avenue; Frank Wagner, 1718 Pratt boulevard; L. J. Donovan, 320 South Lincoln street; Anton Schwing, 4908 Lincoln avenue, and Roy Lee Wiehe, 225 North Lockwood avenue.

They advertised for positions as chauffeurs, and Pierce, they testified, called on them and told them he was a chauffeur for various prominent men, with authority to hire a second driver for his employer. After talking to them about their experience he told them he would recommend them for a job and took money from them on the excuse that he would buy them uniforms at a discount, they charged.

Pierce, under the alias of George Reynolds, was sentenced to a year in the Bridewell in 1930 when he pleaded guilty to operating a confidence game.

MARRIAGE RATE AT RECORD LOW IN U. S. FOR 1932

Divorces Also Decrease, Records Show.

Washington, D. C., July 5.—[Special.]—The depression reduced the number of marriages performed in 1932 in the United States by 7½ per cent and resulted in the lowest marriage rate per 1,000 of the population on record.

On the basis of a population estimated at 124,822,000 as of July 1, 1932, the census bureau, in preliminary figures made public today, calculated the number of marriages per 1,000 of the population in 1932 at 7.9, compared with 8.5 for the preceding year, when the population was estimated at 124,070,000. Prior to 1931, the lowest marriage rate since 1867 occurred in 1917, when large numbers of the male population were in war service.

Marriages performed in 1932 numbered 981,759, or 79,032 less than for the preceding year. The decline from 1930 to 1931 was 5.9 per cent.

The reduction in divorces was even larger. Divorces were reduced by 12.7 per cent under 1931 when they numbered 183,664 compared with 160,329. This compared with a reduction of 4.1 per cent from 1930 to 1931. The 3,900 marriages annulled during 1932 compared with 4,339 in 1931.

The number of marriages for every divorce ranged from 15.4 marriages to each divorce in West Virginia to 1.8 marriages to each divorce in Nevada. For the United States as a whole there were 6.1 marriages for each divorce.

EDWARD F. SWIFT ESTATE VALUED AT 8 MILLIONS

Widow Is to Administer Charity Gifts.

The value of the estate of the late Edward Foster Swift, who was chairman of the board of directors of Swift & Co., was estimated at $8,363,650 yesterday in an inventory approved by August G. Urbanski, assistant to Probate Judge O'Connell.

The largest item in the estate are 121,622 shares of Swift & Co and 92,534 shares of Swift International. According to yesterday's closing quotations the Swift & Co. stock is worth $2,508,450, and the Swift International stock is worth $2,660,351.

Value of Assets Increases.

Mr. Swift died May 28, 1932, in a fall from the window of his apartment at 1550 State parkway. At that time the Swift & Co stock was worth $1,094,598, according to the market quotations, and the Swift International stock was worth $1,307,042. The value of the entire estate at that time was estimated at $5,000,000.

The inventory lists, in addition to the packing company holdings, $1,000,000 in 29 pieces of real estate located in Cook county, Michigan, and Texas; $1,416,387 in other stocks; $279,620 in bonds; $436,394 in cash in banks, and $62,448 due from brokers. The value of household furnishings and personal effects is given at $8,077.

Stocks Listed in Inventory.

The following stocks are listed in the inventory, with their values given according to yesterday's closing quotations:

The inventory also shows stock holdings in 65 other companies, which are not listed on any exchange.

$50,000 Advanced to Widow.

Mr. Urbanski approved an award of $50,000 to Mr. Swift's widow, Mrs. Hortense N. Swift, for her expenses pending the final settlement of the estate.

Under his will Mr. Swift gave $1,500,000 to charities and half of the remainder to the widow. The other half is left in trust for his three children: T. Philip and Edward F. Swift Jr., and Mrs. Huntington Henry. The trust will terminate two years after the death of the last survivor among the children, and the principal will then be divided among Mr. Swift's grandchildren.

After $125,000 in specific bequests to charities, the remainder of the charity funds are left in Mrs. Swift's hands with directions to use one-third to erect and endow a hospital on the north side; another third to erect and endow a hospital on the south side near the stockyards; and the remaining third for general distribution.

Three Other Wills Filed.

Three wills were filed yesterday with Clerk Mitchell C. Robin in the Probate court and were approved by Oscar S. Caplan, assistant to the Probate judge, as follows:

Emil Buettner, died June 13. Estate $42,000, to Bertha Buettner, the widow and executrix.

Anna Flannery, died May 20. Estate, $2,000, to three sons and one daughter, Robert Flannery, a son, is executor.

William Thiel, died June 16. Estate, $1,000, to Mrs. Hattie Mitchell. Clara Grothe, a sister, is executrix.

Straus Renews Thanks for French Aid to U. S. in 1783

PARIS, July 5.—(AP)—America's gratitude to France for aid in the war for independence was recalled today by Ambassador Jesse I. Straus at a ceremony at the city hall celebrating the 150th anniversary of the treaties of Versailles and of Paris. The former treaty ended the Franco-British hostilities over the American revolution, while the latter recognized the United States.

LONDON, July 5.—(AP)—London's clubs were buzzing today over the exploit of the 62 year old duke of Marlborough, who appeared at a Grand Druids' banquet last night clad in white linen trousers, a soft collar and shirt. In the course of a speech the duke, ninth holder of the historic title, congratulated himself on his costume. He said that he noticed others present properly attired in evening dress were mopping themselves and undergoing the agony—in the prevailing heat wave—of hard collars.

HORNER O. K.'S BILLS FOR SAFER HIGHWAY USE

Springfield, Ill., July 5.—[Special.]—Gov. Henry Horner today signed several bills and vetoed two. Among the bills signed were five measures of the Hunter road commission series for safer highway travel. Two Burns salary reduction bills were signed. The governor also affixed his signature to the appropriation for the University of Illinois and the Ickes bill for a University of Illinois agricultural experiment station in Cook county.

Bills vetoed were a Burns measure decreasing the salary of the librarian of the state historical library from $3,000, which Gov. Horner feels is not too high, and a bill permitting school trustees to lease school lands for grain or crop rent.

The list of bills signed included:

H. B. 266 [Ickes]—Appropriates $20,000 for agricultural experimental station in Cook county.

H. B. 328 [Burns]—Reduces salaries in courts of record in cities.

H. B. 552—[Hunter roads commission]—Eliminates the provisions in road and bridge act with regard to warning signs for grade crossings and the provisions for stopping a motor vehicle at grade crossings where stop signs are placed.

H. B. 554 [Hunter roads commission]—Permits renumbering of state highways and authorizes department of public works and buildings to erect and maintain warning signs in cities.

H. B. 555 [Hunter roads commission]—Authorizes commerce commission to designate warning signals at crossings.

H. B. 557 [Hunter roads commission]—Provides for the extension of state road system in conjunction with federal road system.

H. B. 390 [Burns]—Reduces the salaries of park secretaries.

S. B. 569 [Clifford]—Appropriates $7,810,000 to University of Illinois for biennium.

TAX COLLECTIONS.

Real estate tax collections yesterday totaled $586,825. This makes a total real estate tax collection of $23,882,328 since enforcement of the Kerner-Skarda act began April 28. The totals for four years and the amounts of taxes remaining uncollected are shown in the following table:

	1928.	1929.
July 5	$ 37,774	$ 23,202
Uncollected	18,979,159	49,987,809
	1930.	1931.
July 5	$ 95,714	$ 430,135
Uncollected	80,598,385	109,943,302

The collection of personal property taxes for 1931 totaled $8,274 yesterday.

Over the protests of a large number of lawyers, County Judge Jarecki yesterday appointed County Treasurer McDonough receiver of twenty-six properties. The treasurer was given authority to collect all the income from these properties until delinquent taxes totaling more than $200,000 are paid.

The judge refused to hear the long and involved explanations for the nonpayment of 1928, 1929, and 1930 taxes offered by most of the attorneys. Some of the highest priced lawyers in Chicago were present, but their statements were cut short by the judge, who pointed out that a receivership petition under the Kerner-Skarda act, setting forth the mere fact that the taxes are overdue and the property is income producing, is considered prima facie evidence under the law of the need for a tax receiver.

Sharp Retort to Story of Losses.

To statements that the properties were losing money and that no good would be done by placing them in the hands of a tax receiver, the judge replied:

"If such is the case, I can't understand why the owners have hired attorneys, presumably at some expense, in order to retain possession. It might be that the county can run the property more profitably and economically than has been done.

"Many of you declare there is no money on hand to settle the back tax bills. That is no excuse. The question is: Where has the money gone that has been collected since these taxes fell due? Why have the bills not been paid?"

In each case where the appointment of a receiver was ordered, Assistant State's Attorney William T. Crilly prepared informations naming the property owners and managers as defendants in an attempt to obtain an explanation of the tax delinquency and the expenditure of income from the property.

Receives Payments of $23,000.

The court accepted $23,000 on account on unpaid bills from property owners desirous of avoiding a tax receivership. He granted short continuances to other owners who made a definite promise of payment in the near future.

The properties thrown into receivership and the amounts of taxes owed upon each were as follows:

Assistant State's Attorney Francis Clamidge will go before Circuit Judge Joseph Burke this morning and ask that the Circuit court receiver for the property at 418 South Wells street pay the delinquent taxes out of the income he is collecting. The receiver in the case is Samuel Pancoe, who was criticized recently in the County court for attempting to oust one of County Treasurer McDonough's receivers from a hotel.

County Treasurer McDonough yesterday distributed $642,500 in 1931 taxes to the major local tax spending bodies. The amount was distributed as follows: city and schools, $500,000; sanitary district, $40,000; south parks, $40,000; state, $25,000; Lincoln park, $17,500; west parks, $10,000; forest preserves, $10,000.

BRITAIN HAILS 2 ENGINEERS FREED FROM MOSCOW

Get Great Welcome Upon Arrival in London.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 5.—A theatrical welcome was given the released British electrical engineers, Leslie C. Thornton and William MacDonald, this morning as they arrived here from their Moscow prison cell. As their boat train came in, the station resembled a film studio with batteries of news reel cameras, blazing arc lamps, and sets of microphones.

The release of Thornton and MacDonald was one of the conditions on which Great Britain agreed to call off its embargo on Russia imports.

Thornton Haggard.

The men, who were convicted of espionage and sabotage in a Russian court, were met by Sir Felix Pole, chairman of Metropolitan-Vickers Electrical company, members of their families and representatives of the British foreign office. Policemen and detectives patrolled the area to prevent a possible hostile demonstration against MacDonald, who had signed a confession of his guilt.

Thornton, drawn and haggard, stepped off first and embraced his small daughter and grown son. His wife had accompanied him from Berlin. MacDonald, very pale and nervous, with his hands never still, came from the train later. He also got an ovation. He stayed close to his father, who had gone to Berlin to meet him.

Allan Monkhouse, former Moscow manager for Metropolitan-Vickers, who was deported from Russia after the trial, was among the greeters with the two other defendants of the trial, Charles Nordwall and John Cushny.

Speak Guardedly.

Thornton and MacDonald spoke guardedly of the trial.

"I will say nothing at this moment," Thornton stated. "We know very well there were some things that appear mysterious. I will only say I did nothing which in any other country would have brought conflict with the law. I am innocent of the charges."

"I second all Thornton has said," MacDonald said nervously. "I am not guilty of the offenses charged."

The engineers later went to Metropolitan-Vickers headquarters for a talk with company officials. C. S. Richards, in charge of Metropolitan-Vickers' Russian business, said that "later on the two men will be given a long holiday by the company."

Chicago's greatest killer

is this disease that attacks its victims in so many forms

Figures released by the American Social Hygiene Association show syphilis to be the greatest killing disease. People dread tuberculosis, pneumonia, cancer and diabetes, yet syphilis, directly or indirectly, destroys more human lives each year than any of these! It exceeds even heart disease in destructiveness, for a considerable proportion of all heart trouble is really syphilis in disguise.

Syphilis has been aptly called "The Great Masquerader" because it attacks its victims in so many different forms. Not only may it show itself as a heart ailment, but it may appear as paralysis, apoplexy, arterial disease, softening of the brain or locomotor ataxia! Thus a large percentage of deaths under other classifications should be charged to syphilis.

Syphilis is also a tremendous obstacle to successful motherhood. The expectant mother with undiscovered syphilis is very likely to have a stillbirth, or to give birth to a baby so defective that it will die within a few months!

One of the most tragic things about syphilis is that a man or woman can contract the disease and not know it until great damage has been done. Syphilis can be and often is inherited, or it can be caught from a public towel or drinking cup. Wives are frequently infected by husbands who never knew they had the disease or who supposed themselves cured of it!

Hence every man, and woman as well, should lose no time in undergoing an examination for syphilis. Such an examination costs little, causes no discomfort and takes but a short time, yet it may add many, many years to life! So frequently is syphilis discovered in persons who never had cause to suspect infection that the best hospitals and clinics now make blood tests part of their regular examinations.

Another venereal infection which, though less deadly, is exceedingly serious is that known as gonorrhea. Unless properly and persistently treated, its germs may spread to the prostate, bladder or even kidneys, causing grave trouble, or to the joints, resulting in crippling rheumatism. In women it sometimes leads to mutilating pelvic operations that make it impossible for them ever to have children!

Thus it is only common sense for every man and woman to have a protective examination for both syphilis and gonorrhea. Your family physician will give you such an examination, or you can get it at the Public Health Institute. Each year the Institute examines thousands for venereal diseases, more than half of whom are found to be free from infection and are discharged with a clean bill of health!

Founded by prominent Chicagoans NOT FOR PROFIT the Public Health Institute specializes in the treatment of venereal diseases at remarkably low fees. An examination for syphilis and gonorrhea, including Wassermann and Kahn blood tests, costs only $3.00, while treatments for syphilis cost as little as $1.00 each and some of those for gonorrhea still less. Even persons pressed for funds can arrange to be treated.

NOTE: The Public Health Institute has no connection with any other Chicago health or medical institute, and should not be confused with those run for personal gain!

Century Club Dinner Opens Final Round of Parties for Julia Kramer

Will Become Bride of Richard M. Lamport at Ceremony on Saturday.

BY JUDITH CASS.

DUSTY, travel stained and weary from driving here from Cleveland at almost a snail's pace because of new piston rings in their car, three young men—Robert Heller, Alden Vose Jr., and Joseph Birdsell—arrived in Chicago last night just in time to take showers, change their clothes, and dash down to the Century club for dinner.

Once there, they forgot their weariness, however, and were able to enjoy thoroughly the dinner party Mrs. Arthur A. Goes was giving for Miss Julia Kramer and Richard M. Lamport, who are to be married Saturday. After dinner the party "did" the Fair, especially the Midway.

These last few days before the wedding are to be chock full of parties for the popular Miss Kramer. Yesterday afternoon Miss Suzanne Morris was hostess at a tea and kitchen shower, and since Miss Kramer had expressed a preference for a green kitchen, everything showered on her yesterday was that colore.

Today Miss Betty Brawley is giving a luncheon and lingerie shower for the bride to be, and this evening Dudley Buck is entertaining at a cocktail party from 4 to 7 o'clock before Miss Marion Gordon, who will be maid of honor Saturday, takes the bridal party to the Saddle and Cycle for the regular Thursday night supper dance.

Tomorrow after the rehearsal Mr. and Mrs. Le Roy Kramer will give the bridal dinner for their daughter, later taking the party to a theater. Mr. Heller, who hails from Cleveland, is to be best man for Mr. Lamport, and Mr. Vose, who lives in Westport, Conn., and Mr. Birdsell, who comes from South Bend, are to be among the ushers.

Others from out of town who are here for the last few parties and the wedding are Miss Mary Claire Walker of Racine, who is to be a bridesmaid, and Miss Helen Lamport of South Bend, the bridegroom's sister, also a bridesmaid.

Parties for Other Saturday Brides.

There are numerous parties this week for Saturday's other two fashionable brides, Miss Maroussa Russell and Miss Kathryn Evans. Those for Miss Russell, who will be married to Col. George Voevodsky in Lake Forest, have been listed in this column recently, and those for Miss Evans, who is to become Mrs. Paul Alfred Welbourne III., are small and informal like the wedding, and she prefers that they not be mentioned.

Among the out of town guests here for the Russell-Voevodsky wedding are Miss Russell's niece, Miss Ruth Russell of Pasadena, and four of her very best friends, Mrs. C. Pardee Erdman [Eleanor Donnelley], also of Pasadent; Miss Elizabeth Taylor of Little Rock, Ark.; Miss Polly Ensign of Simsbury, Conn., and Mrs. Joseph E. Merck of New York. Miss Ruth Russell visited her cousin, Miss Florence Crane, now Mrs. William A. Robinson, here three years ago, and is being given a warm welcome by the young people she met then.

Some of those who have come or will come from out of town for the Evans-Welbourne marriage are Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Winton of Minneapolis, Mrs. John D. Cameron and her granddaughter, Miss Catherine Gensch of Iron Mountain, Mich., and Miss Evans' cousins, Miss Gale Ross and Miss Ruth McCulloch, both of Wausau, Wis.

Art Class Meets at Aldis Home

One of the most popular spots in Lake Forest these grand summer mornings is the compound back of the Arthur Aldises' house on Deerpath road. Here a couple of dozen aspiring artists gather every week day to do portraiture and still life as members of Hubert Ropp's summer class.

Mrs. Franklin G. Clement is one of the new pupils this year and so is Miss Helen Ewing. They are taking their work equally seriously.

Mrs. Stanley Field has studied with the class in town one or two winters but this is the first time she has joined the ranks of the summer "sketchers." This week Miss Mary Senior is expected to enroll. She was one of the members of the class last winter.

And then there are Mrs. William R. Odell Jr., Mrs. William Burry Jr., Mrs. William P. Morton, Mrs. Ronald P. Boardman and of course Mrs. Aldis. This year Mrs. Aldis has added a studio to those already in the barns back of the compound. Mr. and Mrs. Ropp are occupying Redbird cottage, the little summer house on the Aldis estate, for the season.

Party Tonight for Miss Fleury Leonard

Miss Gwendolyn Bowen will be hostess with her mother tonight at the party Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen Jr. is giving for Miss Fleury Leonard, Clifford M. Leonard's daughter. It will be a buffet supper in the Bowens' Lake Forest home, after which the thirty guests will drive over to the Onwentsia for dancing.

When Mrs. Roswell Miller comes from New York next Tuesday to be the guest of the James Wallers, she will stay at the John Alden Carpenters' Lake Shore drive house. The sister-in-law of Mrs. Waller, Mrs. Carpenter has suggested that Mrs. Miller use her house since the Wallers' Libertyville home is torn up at the present time for redecoration. The Carpenters will leave the end of this week to spend the rest of the summer on the Atlantic seaboard.

Mrs. Miller is always a popular visitor here for she was once a Chicagoan. She is the former Margaret Carnegie, daughter of the late Andrew Carnegie. Unfortunately her visit is to be limited to a couple of days filled mostly with visits with the Wallers and tours about the Fair.

It is sad news to hear that Mrs. Waller is disposing of all of her blue blooded pugs as fast as she can find buyers. There were fifty-five in all before she put them on the market, but now a good share of them have been shipped out to dog breeders in California, Wyoming, Indiana, and Minnesota. The reason Mrs. Waller is selling the pugs is that she wants to have a holiday away from Chicago this next fall and winter. Present plans are for a sailing early in September with her mother, Mrs. John Given of New York.

Antique Ring of Miss Bond Much Admired

Miss Jessie Bond's antique engagement ring, an exquisite thing, came in for much admiration yesterday by those who saw her at Arlington Park, where she was a guest at the Post and Paddock club of her sister, Mrs. Roy Carruthers. Miss Bond, whose home is in Versailles, Ky., is engaged to be married on Aug. 17 to Frederick Boulton of Chicago. Also with Mrs. Carruthers yesterday were Mrs. Warren E. Wright and Mrs. Warner Sayres of Cincinnati.

One of the most stunning women at the track yesterday was Mrs. Walter Winchester Keith of Baltimore, who was with her sister, Mrs. Honore Palmer. Mrs. Keith is considered by some the best looking of the three beautiful "Brown sisters," the third of whom is Mrs. Stanley Field.

Mrs. Keith was in black and Mrs. Palmer in her favorite pale blue. Mrs. Frederic McLaughlin was another who looked lovely, wearing a red print frock, a black coat, and a black hat shaped very much like those the Pilgrim fathers used to wear.

Mrs. Ralph R. Richardson, Mrs. Henry Hooper, and Mrs. Robert R. McCormick were together, each in a different shade of red, which, strangely enough, did not swear at each other. Among others watching the races from the Post and Paddock were Mrs. Benjamin H. Marshall and her daughter, Dorothy, and niece, Mrs. Edwin L. Erashears; Miss Narcissa Swift, Mrs. Chauncey McCormick, who won in six races; Mrs. Laurance H. Armour, who also had a streak of luck and won in three straight races.

Others were Mrs. John Hertz, Mrs. Charles McCulloch, Miss Eleanor Kirkland, Mrs. Donald F. McPherson, Miss Helen Gurley, and 13 year old Lois Thompson, daughter of the John R. Thompsons, who is a racing fan in spite of her youth and who would rather spend an afternoon at Arlington than do anything in the world. She is a favorite of Col. E. R. Bradley and the little girl and the elderly gentleman who is the owner of many noted race horses often sit together and watch the thoroughbreds race.

Son Is Born to George Senseney

Mr. and Mrs. George T. Senseney are receiving congratulations on the birth of their first baby, a son, born last Saturday at the Michael Reese hospital. The baby is to be named George Keats after his father and his great-great-great-grandfather on his mother's side, George Keats, a brother of the famed poet, John Keats.

Mrs. Senseney, the former Florence Keats Noyes, is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest High Noyes, who also have one son, John H., who is the father of two small sons and the husband of the former Dorothea Felt.

Two happier households couldn't be found in Chicago than those of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McDougal and Mr. and Mrs. Robert McDougal Jr. Last Saturday the junior McDougals became the proud parents of a baby

Prepare for Winnetka Summer Flower Show

These two young women have much in common, even to their names. They are Miss Barbara Bersbach (left), daughter of Mrs. Frank J. Bersbach of Winnetka, and Miss Barbara Bastien, daughter of the Alvin E. Bastiens of Glencoe, and they will assist Saturday and Sunday at the annual summer flower show of the Winnetka Garden club at the beautiful estate of the James Kelloggs on Locust road in Winnetka. Yesterday they spent the day in the Kellogg gardens helping with plans for the exhibit. Miss Bersbach is a student at the Shipley school and Miss Bastien is just home from her studies at Dobbs Ferry. Reveal Organization of Alaskan Women Flyers

Announcement of Alaska's first unit of the Women's National Aeronautical association was made yesterday by Mrs. Clark Stearns of Miami, president of the association, which is holding a convention in the Palmer house. Mrs. Stearns said 17 women at Nome had formed the unit with Edna Christoffer as president. Mrs. Stearns praised the American Air races. She attended the afternoon events with 30 other members of the association.

Shorey Sees Us Going Way of Old Athens

The Greeks may not have had a word for it, but they knew what it was to "soak the rich" as early as the fourth century. Paul Shorey, professor of Greek languages and literature at the University of Chicago, delved back into ancient Grecian times in a paper read before the American Classical league at the Blackstone hotel yesterday to show that the progress of the Greek state to a "radical democracy" paralleled conditions existing today.

"The old Athenians were well acquainted with high taxes, hard times, doles, graft, and fixed juries," the professor declared. "Most of the popular orators were reserved or cynical about the form of government. Plato called it 'a delightful anarchistic form of government while it lasts, giving equality to equals and unequals,' adding that it cannot last and always ends in dictatorship or tyranny. Aristotle called it the 'last extreme form of democracy' and Isocrates said in effect that 'no freedom of speech existed under a radical democracy except for the most foul mouthed members of congress.'"

Prof. Shorey told how in the early days the hereditary aristocracy and newly enriched industrialists had reduced the small farmer and country laborer to dire straits by mortgages, high rates of interest, and imprisonment or exile for debts. Solon came along, reduced the debts, canceled the mortgages, and lessened the amount of silver in the dollar, so to speak.

Solon was not a radical but a Theodore Rooseveltian advocate of the "square deal," Prof. Shorey pointed out. After Solon, he said, came dictatorship or tyranny and then revolution which restored democracy with even wider suffrage than Solon admitted. Following the Persian wars, he related, people flocked to the city and demagogues arose who believed that political democracy was not enough unless used to enforce economic and social democracy.

"They believed you must invent a way to redistribute wealth. Lots of litigation resulted under the system; juries grew. Some argued as relief workers do today that it was not enough to feed people, but that their morale should be kept up. Some one arranged a dole to enable people to attend the theaters. Offices, commissions, and boards multiplied. Finally there were 'spending' doles and the distribution of grain. At the height of the system more than one-half of the male citizens were drawing the whole or part of their living from the public treasury."

Widow of Caruso Becomes Bride of Former American

PARIS, July 5.—(AP)—Dr. Charles Adams Holder, formerly of Philadelphia, Pa., and the widow of Enrico Caruso, Mrs. Dorothy Benjamin Caruso Ingram, were married today at the 16th district municipal office in a short and simple civil ceremony.

No rings were exchanged and there were no flowers. The mayor, who performed the ceremony, merely read the law and the witnesses and the principals signed.

There will be no church ceremony.

Mrs. Ingram, who gave her age as 39, said, "Everything is happy," at the end of the ceremony. The party left soon for the bridegroom's chateau near Fontainebleau.

The bridegroom gave his age as 60.

Haw! Haw! Big Laughs at Shock Seekers

"Nude World" Interesting Film of Colonies.

"THIS NUDE WORLD."

Produced by Visions Picture corporation.
Directed by Michael Mindlin.
Described and interpreted by Leo Donnelly.
Presented at the Castle theater.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

HAW! HAW! HAW! As Frank McHugh would haw. WHAT a disappointment lay in store for the moiling males who waited three deep to get into the Castle theater where "This Nude World" is on display! Not a shock in the carload!

I was the only woman in the place—excepting the ushers—and maybe you think I didn't feel foolish! I wished I had on a sign stating my business. But as the picture unreeled my discomfort disappeared. Here were being revealed no orgies! No morons with woodbine in their hair danced Pannish dances by the light of the moon. No!

So beautifully and delicately photographed and directed that not once did one see what many came to see; the life of nudist colonies in the United States, France and Germany, is shown, and certainly, so far as this picture reveals, that life is a healthy and normal, albeit a rather unconventional, one. Overseas it has the government stamp of approval.

What is a nudist? Well, NOT, as I believed, somebody a trifle off, or perhaps a sex pervert. Really, just the opposite. A nudist appears to be just a worker like you and me who is a little more anxious than we are to keep fit. Instead of spending weekends all dressed up—he goes to the other extreme. In beautiful surroundings then, the office laborer, the actress, the doctor, the undernourished youth devotes his or her precious hours of leisure to exercise and play, with his body bared to the sun and the wind. In many cases a loin cloth or loose garment of some sort is worn.

Nudist camps appear to be strictly supervised. Competent physical instructors direct the activities of the colonists.

To me "This Nude World" was intensely interesting and enlightening—especially the scenes in the German colonies. Not once did I see or hear anything that savored even remotely of vulgarity or suggestiveness. The accompanying lecture is informative and well delivered.

Why the censors should have hesitated to pass this film is beyond me. Any snappy, girl-y revue, any tropical production displaying natives and native life has it all over "This Nude World" so far as sex conciousness goes.

See you tomorrow!

STOP! LOOK! LISTEN!

Because theater managers have seemed unable lately to state the exact hours when their feature pictures will be shown we are discontinuing the FILM TIME TABLE until they can assure us that the schedules given will be accurate.

SWELL GARRICK

BY ROY VICKERS

SYNOPSIS.

"Swell" Garrick—the World's Perfect Tailor's Dummy—is the label given him by those who didn't know that his well molded body had been created by athletic training rather than tailoring skill. Maitland, a crooked gambler, is the purported guardian of lovely Rhoda Fairclough, who is unknowingly being used as decoy. Maitland plots to trick Rhoda out of a fortune left her by an uncle who died in Rome. Garrick exposes to Rhoda, before Maitland and his gang, their crooked card tricks. Garrick is overpowered by Schewan, Maitland's chief, but manages to defeat Schewan's purpose of burning him alive in his car. Maitland has Rhoda adjudged insane. Garrick knows she has been administered a drug which will produce temporary madness. Having no proof of guilt he determines to settle the matter in his own way. He kidnaps Maitland and holds him captive until he learns where Rhoda is being held. Garrick learns from his solicitor that if Rhoda can gain and maintain her liberty for twenty-eight days she will be considered legally sane. Garrick undertakes a bold rescue. He escapes to London with Rhoda and hides her in the warehouse where he had held Maitland. The gang learns the location of the warehouse from the renting agent. When Garrick returns he finds Maitland and his gang with a constable. He manages to slip his gun to Rhoda and by simulating insanity Rhoda holds them all at bay and escapes. She joins Garrick later on a motor boat on the Thames.

INSTALLMENT XXII.

THREATENED EXPOSURE.

Half way between Richmond and Teddington Garrick drew into the bank and anchored.

"Lyle—this is perfectly heavenly!" she exclaimed. "I could live here for years without wanting anything."

"Never mind years!" he grinned. "See how you feel after a couple of days! We shall have to be pirates and smugglers and a few other things rolled into one. Only instead of the high seas it's the London suburbs."

"I'm sure no pirate ever had a cabin as nice as this!" she laughed back—and here she was probably right. Grouped round the table with its upright chairs were two armchairs, an escritoire and a small library. The two bunks on either side were rendered inconspicuous by heavy curtains.

"I haven't explored yet. May I go through that door?"

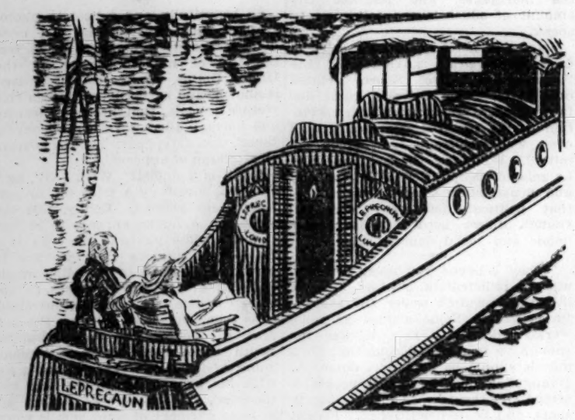
"No. Not yet. The lights would show."

"Lights! But no one knows we are here."

"I hope not. But unfortunately October is not a month in which people take to the Thames for pleasure. This thing is obviously a pleasure boat. We can move about in the daytime, but at night we should attract attention."

"Under some trees, do you mean?"

"Not enough leaves in October to hide our lights. We're going to burgle our way into a private boat house. There's one a little further up. I happen



"See how you feel after a couple of days! We shall have to be pirates and smugglers and a few other things rolled into one."

to know the fellow who owns the place—he lives there all the summer and shuts the house up at the end of the season."

Burgling the boat house from the river proved a simple but laborious task. There were two big wooden doors, padlocked. Garrick brought up alongside and forcibly removed the padlock. There was little to be feared on the score of noise, for the tow path, on the opposite bank, was deserted and there was no caretaker in the house.

He ran the launch into the boat house—which was, as it were, a tiny bay let into the garden, with roof and walls. At one side was a landing stage and at the end were rollers up which the owner's launch had been drawn, to pass the winter on dry blocks.

Next came the business of closing and fastening the doors from the inside. The bottom of the doors, he noted, cleared the water by a couple of feet. That would be safe enough—for the outward glow of their lights would not be visible on the tow path.

"All serene!" he told her. "Now we can explore together. But there's only the kitchen and a couple of bunks the other side of that door."

Rhoda in the meantime had taken off her hat and coat and donned an overall. Together they went into the little kitchen where the oil range was almost buried in the stores purchased by Richards.

"Take your coat off and help me unpack," she invited. "Then I'll see if I can cook something."

Richards, it appeared, had thought of everything—even a portable wireless set. They turned it on at half volume while they laughed together over the work of establishing themselves on a more or less domestic basis.

Eventually Rhoda produced an omelette and, with sundry delicacies out of the mountain of tins that Richards' imagination had provided, they had the illusion of a sumptuous banquet.

"Before I give the weather forcast, here is an S O S," brayed the wireless. "Missing from the private asylum, Nympstone house—Rhoda Fairclough—aged twenty. . . . "

Both listened in grim silence while the description of Rhoda was read out—followed by Maitland's offer of a thousand pounds reward for her recapture.

"Don't worry, dearest!" he begged her. "If we can keep this up for a few weeks we shall beat them. At the end of a month we can get married in St. Paul's cathedral and invite all Scotland Yard to be our witnesses."

She laughed and recovered her spirits. "I fell so safe here with you."

It was Garrick who insisted that they should turn in early as she had had no sleep the previous night. He picked up his kit-bag and took it into the kitchen.

"That's the steward's bunk—and that's the mechanic's. The steward is always the most comfortable person on board so I shall take his."

They said good night and she went back into the cabin. Garrick climbed on to the landing stage for a good stretch before going to bed. He was strolling idly up an down, when he heard a rustling at the far end of the boat house, where the owner's launch lay on blocks.

"I expect there are any amount of rats about here," he reflected. He was flashing his torch on the ground, looking for the rats. And the torch found, not rats—but a pair of boots.

With the discovery came a hoarse voice.

"Don't shoot, Mr. Garrick! I've got my hands up."

For the moment Garrick was startled into speechlessness. He brought the torch up from the rather shabby boots of the unknown man in the darkness, over a threadbare suit, to a pinched, unshaven face. The man was holding his hands up—though Garrick's pistol was in his pocket.

"Who are you?"

"Name of Alf Piler, sir. Mechanical farm hand, only I'm out of work. Farried and got three little 'uns and don't get the dole, me being registered as a farm hand. I spent last night in a casual ward and one night of that is enough for me. I happened to notice this place as I was coming along——"

"You addressed me by name," snapped Garrick. "How did you know my name?"

"Well, sir, I was always one to read the papers—and now I'm on tramp I drop into the free libraries to see if there's any chance of work. And I read all about Mr. Garrick being up before the beaks, and all about the young lady escaping again. I heard what you said to her after what the wireless said about her being at large—and what with you and the lady spending the night in a funny sort of place like this—it was putting two and two together."

"And now, I suppose, your idea is to run off and collect that thousand pounds reward for finding Miss Fairclough?"

There was a moment's hesitation and then came the answer quite simply:

"Yes, sir."

Garrick was impressed. He had been prepared for a string of evasions.

"Rather a queer fish," he thought, and did not know where he stood.

"You broke in here at the back in order to get a night's lodging. Well, you shall have one! You can't collect the thousand tonight—the situation will be just the same in the morning. You can sleep in the mechanic's bunk. And I shall be in the steward's bunk opposite you."

"All right, sir." said Alf in the voice of one used to obeying orders.

Rhoda, of course, would have heard their voices. As he directed Alf Piler in front of him into the kitchen quarters he knocked on the cabin door and spoke to Rhoda.

"A friend has come to spend the night with us. Don't worry!"

Garrick could not foresee what would have to be done with the man. If necessary he could be bound and gagged while they fled from the boat.

"When did you last have a meal, Alf?"

"They gave me a chit for a bread and cheese ration this morning, sir."

Garrick pulled out a tin of preserved meat and tossed it to him. Then he produced some bread and a bottle of beer.

Alf turned out the preserved meat—then looked from the meat to Garrick.

"You quite understand, sir, that I'll have to give that information in the morning?" he asked.

"Go on, man! Tuck in!"

"Thank you, sir! And here's my best respects!"

A very queer fish, thought Garrick. An out of work tramp who scrupled to eat the food of a man whom he intended to hand over to justice for money.

Garrick slipped his automatic under his pillow but beyond that took no precautions. Alf could not get off the boat without disturbing him—and Alf would not snatch up a knife and attack him while he slept. For if he committed murder he would not be able to collect the thousands pounds. And anything short of murder Garrick was quite competent to deal with.

Miss M'Kinney Gets Contract, Feature Role

Chum of Ginger Rogers in Crawford Film.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., July 5.—[Special.]—Florine McKinney, who was Ginger Rogers' high school chum in Fort Worth, Tex., now has her own long term movie contract, and her first featured rôle under the new arrangement is in Joan Crawford's "Dancing Lady" at MGM. Miss McKinney, who went on the concert stage after graduating from high school, made her film début in "The Miracle Man" and has worked in several other films. She was in "Cynara" and in "It's Great to Be Alive." In "Dancing Lady" she plays Franchot Tone's sister. Tone, of course, makes love to Joan.

In compliance with the last request of Helen Carlyle, once well known featured film player, news of her death was withheld until after the burial here. Miss Carlyle, who formerly had been the wife of Hampton Del Ruth, director, died at the age of 40 years after an extended illness. She entered films in 1913 and was featured in many Sennett comedies 15 years ago. Her last appearance was with George Sidney in "The Model Wife." Her real name was Helen Hellman.

Ann Harding's professional future is settled. She has signed a new contract with Radio-RKO, and all those reports about her retiring or jumping to Twentieth Century studio now go to the discard.

Elissa Landi is providing the daughter of an old neighbor of her mother's with a musical education. In former days, when Countess Zenardi Landi was in western Canada and not in affluent circumstances, the girl's parents befriended the Landis.

June Brewster, until recently a New York chorus girl, continues her progress in movies. She's featured, along with Carol Tevis and Eddie Nugent, in a working girl comedy series that Lew Brock is producing at RKO. The name of the film is "Blondes and Red Heads."

When Una O'Connor, Irish actress now appearing in Universal's "The Invisible Man," first met Joseph McDonough, assistant director at Universal, she gave McDonough something to ponder about. "The assistant director of the first play I appeared in, in Ireland was named McDonough," she reminisced. "He was an ardent Sinn Feiner, and not long after our play he was active in the Easter rebellion and was hanged. I'm glad to know you, too, Mr. McDonough."

McDonough just wonders.

Sally's Guests to Have Tour of Fair Today

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Today's the big day, World's Fair winners! Remember the time—and don't you be late! We have a lot to do and we can't wait for slow pokes! Be sure to have your invitations with you. Just remember these two things—and we'll have a very gay time.

Now about our Cubs party: From under the great pile of letters which nearly smothered me yesterday, I finally emerged happily with 100 winners in my hand. It was an awful job, but I know the winners will be delighted.

Here's another boy who'll have his wish fulfilled:

"Dear Miss Brown:

"All right, I will take your advice and write my letter before I start with my fireworks. But just the same, even if I don't have smoke in my eyes and not have burned fingers yet I'm afraid I can't write such a convincing letter. My heart is still bleeding, because I didn't find my name among the winners in the Sunday TRIBUNE for the World's Fair party.

"I was so sure to win, because I wrote you such a nice, long letter and it was there in plenty of time [Tuesday], too.

"But, well, I think I have to forget it, even if it is hard, and try to write this letter good.

"I like baseball very much and I want to be a baseball player when I grow up, and I love the Cubs best of all, and so I beg you to believe me that I want to go to the party at Wrigley field very much. But I just can't write a nicer letter today.

"But dear Miss Brown, please let me win anyhow, maybe I can see my favorite player, Kiki Cuyler, even if he isn't playing. I am much interested in him and I think mostly because he had so many accidents with his leg and you know I had a broken leg last year, too. G. P."

Washington Society

Washington, D. C., July 5.—[Special.]—The British ambassador, Sir Ronald Lindsay, is again at the embassy after spending the week-end and holiday on Long Island with relatives of Lady Lindsay, who is now in England.

Mrs. Henry L. Roosevelt, wife of the assistant secretary of the navy, and their daughter, Miss Eleanor Roosevelt, who will be among the debutantes of the coming season, are visiting Mrs. Joseph Leiter in her summer home at Beverley Farms, Mass.

Rear Admiral and Mrs. Hutchison I. Cone, the latter formerly Miss Julia Mattis, niece of the late Senator McKinley of Illinois, have had as their guest for several weeks Miss Virginia Bookwalter of Danville, Ill., who has returned to her home.

Princess Royal Cancels All Engagements to Rest

LONDON, July 5.—(AP)—It was announced today that the princess royal has canceled all her engagements. "There is no reason other than that her royal highness has to rest," it was stated at her London home. The countess of Harewood, the princess royal, is Mary, the only daughter of King George and Queen Mary of England.

daughter and it is the first daughter in the McDougal family for four generations.

Although they haven't definitely decided on a name as yet, it is probably to be Nancy. Soon after Mrs. McDougal returns from St. Luke's hospital, the family (and this includes Robert Curtenius McDougal, who is now going on three years old) will move from a Greenwood avenue apartment to larger and more spacious quarters at the corner of Kenwood avenue and 48th street.

The senior McDougals are among our city's most generous donors to charity, contributing large sums to several organizations and in particular the Presbyterian hospital and Kenwood church, of which Mrs. McDougal's family was among the founders. Mr. McDougal is a former president of Chicago's Board of Trade.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Fargo Jr. have named the baby boy born to them last Sunday Edward A. Fargo, III., and he and his attractive mother, the former Angela Downey, will be going home a week from Saturday to the F. Goddard Cheney house in Winnetka, which they have taken for the summer.

Benjamin Carpenter to Launch New Boat

There is a trip to Milwaukee to be climaxed by a lake cruise in store for the Benjamin Carpenters this week-end. Mr. Carpenter is planning to launch the sailboat to which he is just applying the finishing touches in his Lake Forest back yard.

It's a 25 foot yawl, white with a reed bottom, and the reason it's to take the water first in the Milwaukee harbor is that the Great Lakes harbor where Mr. Carpente. has done most of his sailing is closed.

After the initial trip the Carpenters plan to spend one of these week-ends sailing up to Fish Creek, where Mr. Carpenter's sister and her husband, the Thomas Marshalls, have taken a cottage for the summer.

Yesterday Mrs. Carpenter told us that Mr. Carpenter had made only one other boat in his life and that was the rowboat he manufactured in his "prep" school days. But he has had all sorts of experience sailing, especially as skipper these last four or five years for the Lake Forest Sea Scouts. In fact several of the scouts gave him a helping hand in building the sailboat.

Another Lake Forest couple that is taking a good deal of pride in a new boat is Mr. and Mrs. John G. Curtis. Having acquired the Who, a seventy foot yacht, they set out twelve days ago on a trip to Georgian bay and now, upon their return, they are making plans for some A Century of Progress evening cruises and week-end parties in Michigan and Wisconsin.

They didn't get quite as far as Georgian bay last week for Mrs. Curtis' brother and wife, the Edward Victor Hales of New York, had to return home unexpectedly. The crew of the Who includes a captain, sailor, steward, and cook.

Kimball Salisburys to Go East Today.

Mr. and Mrs. Kimball Salisbury will leave today for Tor Court, Mrs. Warren M. Salisbury's beautiful country place in the Berkshires, where young Joy and Warren Salisbury have been visiting their grandmother for a week or ten days. The Salisburys will remain in the east for the rest of the summer.

Mrs. Charles Harrington Chadwick is sailing on the S. S. Deutschland for Cherbourg. She is deserting Chicago for the remainder of the World's Fair season, going to France, where she plans to take a villa on the Riviera for three months. She left the city by plane Monday noon.

Robert McCormick Ayer arrived yesterday filled with tales of all the exciting adventures that have befallen him during the last five months while he has been traveling around the world. He and his father, Walter Ayer, are leaving Saturday to join Mrs. Ayer and Miss Janet Ayer at their summer home at Bar Harbor, Me.

Mrs. Edwin C. Bolton of Detroit is visiting her sister, Mrs. Oliver Dennett Grover, in the latter's apartment in the Italian Court building at 151 East Ontario street. Within a few days they will leave by motor for the artists' camp at Oregon, Ill.

Mrs. Wheeler Will Visit Friend.

Mrs. Eugene Wheeler is leaving this morning to spend the hot weather months with a very good friend of hers, Mrs. Myron H. Spades of St. Augustine, Fla., in Battle Creek, Mich., instead of at Harbor Point, where she and her family have gone for so many years. However, during the summer her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Robert C. Wheeler, and grandchildren, Miss Winifred Wheeler and Robert T. Wheeler, will be certain to drive down from the Point to Battle Creek to visit her.

Mrs. Theodore White Smith of Pasadena, formerly of Chicago, is in the city visiting relatives. Miss Theodosia Smith is playing tennis at Forest Hills but will join her mother in Chicago shortly.

Mr. and Mrs. James Bremner and James Jr. and "Teddy" of Lake Forest are spending the summer on their ranch in California. One of the Bremners' married daughters, Mrs. John Ryan of Philadelphia, and her little son, are visiting the other two married daughters, Mrs. Cushman Bissell and Mrs. J. Donald Scott, in Lake Forest.

Starting tomorrow and continuing every Friday the popular luncheon and bridge parties for ladies will be held at the Exmoor Country club.

This Suit Took Gloria Swanson's Fancy in Paris

BY SUZETTE BARILLET.

PARIS.—[Special.]—Some of the movie royalty never miss a chance to stock up on clothes when they come to Paris, in spite of the much discussed plentitude of Hollywood fashions. Schiaparelli seems to be their favorite dressmaker. Joan Crawford got a lot of Schiaparelli things when she was here, and Gloria Swanson took quite a number, too, including the suit shown in our sketch. Miss Swanson ought to look mighty attractive in it, don't you think so?

The jacket of this suit is made of an odd red shade of light weight woolen, which Schiaparelli calls Quinquina brown, but which looks like plum butter. It has the famous Schiaparelli sleeves, with ruffles at the top and puffs below them almost to the elbows. The body is fitted in no uncertain way, and flares out below the waistline in back as shown in the sketch lower left. The front is open in a deep U, and below this U it is fastened on two big leather circles and a bar of tortoise shell.

The skirt is in the same odd color of red, and finely striped with triple lines of black. It is straight and simple.

The blouse, shown in the upper right corner, is made of vermilion red silk canvas. It has a round bib collar and sunray tucks from this bib to the under-arm seams in front. The short sleeves are also tucked.

Joint Recital Opens Series by Instructors

BY EDWARD MOORE.

The American Conservatory of Music began yesterday a series of four Wednesday afternoon recitals by members of its faculty in Kimball hall. Judging by the results of the first, they are destined to be of high quality, presenting music of the better sort in an authoritative and at the same time entertaining fashion.

Apparently they will all be joint recitals. That of yesterday was by Tomford Harris, pianist, and Maren Johansen Hattstaedt, soprano. Mr. Harris is an artist who rejoices in technical difficulties, having a pair of hands capable of untangling the most crabbed passage into logic and clarity, and being a good musician into the bargain. His part of the program consisted of a group of practically unknown ancients, Della Ciaja, L. Vinci, C. Negri Milanese, and J. C. Kittel, brought down into terms of the modern piano by Bartok, Philipp, and Bauer; also the Chopin "Sonata in B Minor," and a pair of intricacies by Busoni called "Sonatina Super Carmen" and "Paganinesco."

Mrs. Hattstaedt has a voice of uncommon beauty, smoothly produced and possessing a wide range. She sang two groups—one of German works by Wagner, Schumann, and Brahms; the other, of somewhat lighter character, in English—and created an excellent impression.

It is interesting in watching the "Wings of a Century," the drama of travel being presented nightly opposite the Travel and Transport building, to observe what a good musical setting for a show of the sort can be constructed out of American folk music.

The term folk music is used deliberately, although the compositions of Stephen Collins Foster have been largely drawn upon as a basis for some of the score. For if the artless, naïve tunefulness of Foster is not directly in the folk music manner, no music ever was, and the popular airs that were prevalent about the time of the 1893 Columbian Exposition are almost ready to be moved into the same classification.

At any rate they are good tunes, scored with taste and an orchestra at the front of the audience plays them expertly. Each episode has its own music, and the music makes an excellent if unobtrusive background.

Girl with an Oily Skin Need Not Fear Summer Sunshine

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

To hear the oily-skinned girls tell it, you'd think they had a corner on all the troubles in the world. But don't you notice, too, how each individual exaggerates her own blemish or beauty ill as the worst in the world? Some one calls this trait in women the growing pains of beauty consciousness.

But the oily skinned sister whom we started out to talk about has the drop on her sisters during the hot weather. As a beach addict, I mean. As one who can take a lot of sunshine punishment and appear the better for it. The sun's rays are just about the best recommendation we can make an oily skinned one.

If she has the oft noted tendency toward acne, the sun's rays again are simply invaluable in treatment. Too, the oily skinned one can take a powerful lot of soap and water washing. And in the hot weather nothing makes one feel so refreshed as a soap and water cleansing followed by the cold water dousing.

She can use a skin freshener, an astringent in between times and keep the shine well down, and she can conveniently put herself on the ordered fruit and vegetable diet almost to the exclusion of the rich, greasy, oily, and spiced foods forbidden.

Your dry skinned one in the summer has the troubles. She positively shrivels and dries up if she doesn't take protective measures every time she sticks her head out of doors. On the beach she needs to be oiled from tip to toe. She needs a powder foundation for day and street wear. Of course, she can come out at the end of the season the pale and languid color or the fresh pink if she observes all the protective rules.

Usually she doesn't tan easily and has to coax the process along with tanning oil. However, she has much to be grateful for in the way of skin protection offers. And if she burns up and shrivels she has only her negligence to blame. There are preparations that will prevent burns though you sit out and deliberately coax the tanning process.

Pendulum Is Swinging Back to Staid Era

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Are we going backward or forward, or going backward as we go forward, or what?

The hit of a recent Paris dress show was a dress designed with a deep decolleté and a slender skirt ending in plaited flounces over a rustling taffeta foundation. The gown swept the floor for several inches in the back.

And shades of Susan B. Anthony, not a giggle was heard in the audience! Another applauded gown had a skirt ending in three deep lace frills, with a sky blue ribbon sash. If that isn't flirting outrageously with the Naughty Nineties, then what, my sisters?

Editorially, the other day we were urged to go to see a revival of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," exploited in said editorial as one of the great plays of all times. Not on its literary merits, perhaps, but as a profound moulder of opinion. Needless to say, the current revival is in the hands of a group of actors perhaps never before excelled.

Again we ask if this isn't looking backward for inspiration, or is it? Must we take a look back before we can step safely forward?

Then, what we hear and have every reason to believe about the young people primed to take the places of yesterday's jazz-age sisterhood! They are almost Victorian in their code of behavior with men. ...pectful toward an older guest in the house, forswearing swearing for gentler exlamations foregoing cheap petting for conduct insuring more satisfac... returns. And dimities, swisses, organdies and muslins, even spiggledy, are favorite dress materials.

Call for Gifts to Assure Free Ice Deliveries

BY KATHERINE KELLEY.

A total of $26 reached THE TRIBUNE yesterday to be added to the free ice fund, which provides ice for needy families where there are small children. The grand total is now $671.53.

While the response has been gratifying, the total sum is insufficient to maintain regular ice deliveries to the families who are in urgent need. Ice tickets have been distributed to day nurseries, to hospital dispensaries, to families served by the Infant Welfare, and many on the rolls of the United Charities in the expectation that THE TRIBUNE readers will give the support they have in the past and make it possible to pay for these tickets.

Old friends of the fund are urged to send their gifts in as soon as possible, so that the free ice may be supplied continuously during the hot months.

Yesterday's gifts were from the following:

$10—Mrs. Minnie Bauer.
$5—M. Ullmann, Edward H. Foreman.
$2—From a Nurse, E. L. M.
$1—A. F. Stone, Marian S. Rubel.

Total	$ 26.00
Previously acknowledged	645.53
Grand total	$671.53

Contributions to the ice fund and the Camp Algonquin fund, the other TRIBUNE summer charity, should be sent to the cashier of THE TRIBUNE, Tribune Tower. The Camp Algonquin fund finances vacations of two weeks' duration for underprivileged families at the camp 45 miles northwest of Chicago on the Fox river.

MINUTE MYSTERY
BY H. A. RIPLEY.

[Copyright: 1933: By The Chicago Tribune.]

MURDER ON THE WHARF.

Prof. Fordney bent over the body of derelict Joe propped against a pile extending above the wharf. The front of his ragged clothes were stained with blood from a knife wound in the heart. Eyes staring, head sagging on chest, arms sprawled at his sides, and his extended legs, with toes pointing outward, presented a picture of utter relaxation had it not been for the evidence of violence.

"By Gad, Fordney," exploded Inspector Kelley, "he might have been stabbed while dozing. Take the body away," he commanded the officer in charge, after the doctor had made his examination and reported that the wound was about three inches deep. "Poor old devil!"

The professor's attention was attracted by two freshly blood-stained, newly-carved initials in the pile, previously hidden by the back of the body. "G. V." Could the person who cut them have stabbed the derelict? And why was the tramp steamer Katie preparing to leave port so suddenly? Was the murderer aboard?

Milligan, first mate of the Katie, said he had seen Joe sitting on the wharf most of the morning, arms hugging his knees, smoking a corn cob pipe. While busying himself about the deck shortly after noon, he saw a fellow sneak along the wharf and stab Joe. He believed the old fellow must have been asleep as he made no attempt to escape his murderer. He hastily made his way to the dock, but the assailant had fled. As it was obvious he could do nothing for Joe, he had called the police. No, he had not touched the body.

WHY DID FORDNEY HOLD MILLIGAN UNDER SUSPICION?

[See solution on page 31.]

Flowers That Accent Frocks Never Wilt

BY RHEA SEEGER.

The 1933 flowers you pin to your shoulders or on your coat lapels need no longer be real to be smart, for some of the newest blooms of organdie would fool the best botantist. Look for the tattered blossoms, made of wide eyelet batiste or embroidery, in white and pale pink. They are gorgeous things, big, fluttery, cool, crisp accents that will do grand things for dark colored Swiss and linen suits or dresses.

Big bunches of field flowers that will practically cover your entire chest are bouquets of bachelor buttons, cowslips, daisies and poppies that are so realistic that one involuntarily shakes the dew off before anchoring them to a pet organdie dance frock. Or try the plaid gingham flowers as an interesting and unwilting contrast for spanking white dresses, or the funny little flowers made of pique and organdie combined, or the dotted Swiss affairs that look exactly like zinnias with the smallpox.

Petunias have been recreated in sheer organdie . . . positively lovely things in some of the most fascinating colors and color combinations . . . and flat colorful zinnias in all the gorgeous colors, bold orange, Chinese pink, old gold, and deep crimson that delight your eyes in your own garden. Some intriguing gray zinnias in three shades are particularly good contrast for black and gray costumes as well as for street hats.

Remember the two huge white cabbage roses Diana Wynward wore pinned to her black dinner gown in "Reunion in Vienna"? You can buy some like them, the same size in either white or flesh pink, and achieve a similar knockout effect with your own dinner dresses. And lots of navy blue, scarlet, and even black blooms are available in this large diameter for white and pastel tinted summer evening ensembles.

Practical Book Tells of Child from 2 to 6

By Gladys Huntington Bevans.

Mothers often complain of books written for them, "But they're so long and they're not practical."

Neither of these complaints would be valid if lodged against a book recently published, called "Two to Six," by Rose H. Alschuler and the primary faculty of the Winnetka public schools of Winnetka, Ill. For this book is as brief as a book may be, even for such little ones as the twos to sixes.

In fifty-eight short pages the book covers the underlying principles of the nature and needs of young children, our attitudes toward them, and what may be expected of them in achievement and habit formation.

The remaining hundred pages are devoted to the following very practical things: Lists of books, both story and poetry; a discussion of music and instruments; the names of song books and records; playthings [indoor and outdoor play equipment]; excursions and, of course, bibliography for parents.

As an example of the definite way in which the subjects are presented, let me quote the following:

SOCIAL HABITS—SPECIFIC STANDARDS.

TWO TO THREE YEARS.

1. A child at this age level spends most of his time exploring and investigating without joining in very much group activity.
2. He should be able to amuse himself alone with toys.
3. He can be expected to help put his own toys away.
4. He imitates things said and done around him.
5. He will listen to a short story with pictures.

THREE TO FOUR YEARS.

1. He is beginning to play with other children. The child, not knowing how to make friends, will often try to make his first contacts by pushing, kicking or fighting. These first contacts should, therefore, be carefully guided.
2. He should be willing to wait for his turn and to recognize the rights of others—e. g., priority of claim in case of play material.
3. He can be expected to share toys with other children and to cooperate in play.
4. He can be expected to put his own toys away if he is supervised.
5. He is beginning to dramatize many different experiences. Imaginative plays absorb most of his time.
6. He will listen to a story with or without pictures.

FOUR TO FIVE YEARS.

1. He can be expected to say "please" and "thank you," as a result of learning by example rather than by undue pressure.
2. He can be expected to help in group tasks.
3. He can be expected to put his toys away without being supervised, if the habit has been gradually developed.
4. He is able to tell a simple story to a group and enjoys doing so.

FIVE TO SIX YEARS.

1. He may be expected to do all things on the three to four year level, with all habits better developed.
2. He begins to take responsibility for others younger than himself.

This book is published by William Morrow of New York and costs $1.50.

Introduce New Fruit Fillings in Shortcake

Bake Dough in Individual Servings.

Economical tips for week-end food shoppers—a regular weekly radio feature—will be presented tomorrow by June Baker over station W-G-N. Tune in at 11 for Miss Baker's market chat.

BY MARY MEADE.

If shortcake at your house invariably means fat and feathery biscuits swooning under hillocks of crushed strawberries topped with gay blobs of cream, then you're cheating your family. For while you just can't imagine anything better while you're eating it, there are an astounding number of other shortcakes which most certainly run our great American tradition a close race for lusciousness.

A moment and we'll have a look at some of these runner-ups, but first a few words about the whole shortcake clan. There are really two families. They're all made from baking powder dough, but the ones which are for dessert may claim sugar among their ingredients. Also they're sure to turn up filled and crested with fresh, sweetened or stewed, sweetened fruits. The other branch of the family tree boasts luncheon and supper shortcakes. Here the biscuit dough has no sugar in it and is put together with creamed fish, creamed vegetables, creamed meat, or one of these foods blended with savory gravy or tomato sauce. These usually arrive at the table hot, while the desserts may make their debut either hot or cold.

I know you have a dozen recipes for somebody or other's mother's biscuit shortcake, so let's not go into that, but start right away filling them. One tip, though. Make the dough into individual shortcakes rather than one big family affair. It's more economical, looks better, and saves time and table fussing these hot days. Simply shape the mixture into rounds about one-half inch thick and four to five inches across and bake in a hot oven as directed by your recipe.

Strawberry Shortcake—Slice one quart of ripe strawberries and add one cup of sugar. Let stand for 2 to 3 hours to chill and draw out juices. Serve between and over shortcake layers with or without whipped cream. Or the strawberries may be slightly stewed and poured hot over the biscuit.

Pineapple Shortcake—Trim and grate a medium sized fresh pineapple. Add one-half teaspoon lemon juice and a generous half cup of sugar. Let stand an hour, then serve with shortcake. Top with fluffy marshmallow sauce. Grated canned pineapple may be used.

Fresh Cherry Shortcake—Sweeten one quart of fresh seeded cherries and heat to scalding. Serve, either hot or chilled, between and on top of layers of shortcake. Add a swirl of whipped cream if desired.

Raspberry or Blackberry Shortcake—Use one quart of berries, sweetened and brought just to the boiling point. Spoon generously between and on top of individual shortcake layers. Top with whipped, sweetened cream.

Blueberry or Huckleberry Shortcake—To a quart of berries add a cup of sugar and two-thirds to three-fourths cup water. Stew till tender, chill, and serve with whipped cream.

Peach Shortcake—Peel and slice enough fresh peaches to make a quart. Add two-thirds cup sugar and one-half teaspoon lemon juice and let stand for an hour. Serve with whipped cream over a sweet shortcake.

Orange Shortcake—Slice enough oranges to make a quart. Cut the slices in fourths, add one-half cup sugar and let stand an hour. Serve over and between individual shortcake layers with a dash of fluffy marshmallow sauce for a topping.

Design Answers Growing Demand for Floral Quilts

Bowl of Flowers.

BY NANCY CABOT.

This "Bowl of Flowers" will help to satisfy the constant and the growing demand for floral quilt patterns. It presents an unusual opportunity to work out an interesting color combination. The bowl might be pieced of two shades of blue, the flowers of yellow or rose-pink, and the leaves of green on a natural background. Or the flowers might be cut of yellow fabric, the bowl of green, and the leaves of a darker tone, stitched on a foundation of delicate yellow.

For a quilt pattern of this design, send 5 cents in stamps or coin to Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, printing your name and address clearly. Or call at the Tribune Public Service Office, One South Dearborn.

Widow of O. Henry Loses Asheville Home in Blaze

Asheville, N. C., July 5.—(AP)—The home of Mrs. William Sydney Porter, widow of the short story writer, O. Henry, near Weaverville, was destroyed by fire today. The 100 year old house was burned to the ground within thirty minutes after the blaze was discovered. Several special editions of O. Henry's works were saved, as was most of the furniture and personal property of Mrs. Porter.

5 YANKS STAY IN PALMA JAIL; NO CHARGES FILED

U. S. Protest Fails to Hurry Spanish Justice.

BY JAY ALLEN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MADRID, July 5.—Despite repeated overtures by the United States embassy five Americans, one a woman, who were arrested nearly a month ago at Palma, Mallorca, after a brawl still are in jail on that highly publicized island paradise. They are Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Lockwood, Walton Blodgett, Rutherford Fullerton and Roderick Mead, all well known among creative workers in art capitals of the world. Their misfortune lay in resisting one of Spain's humorless hard shooting constabulary known as the guardia civil.

In Spain the population knows that even under the republic you don't tamper with the guardia civil. You kill 'em or leave 'em alone. Lockwood and company may not have known that and they say the guard was not wearing his distinguishing three cornered patent leather hat.

No Charges Placed.

Spain has now a model constitution which makes it clear that people must not be allowed to kick around jail indefinitely as under the monarchy. Nevertheless the five Americans after a month have not been charged or anything.

Ambassador Claude Bowers called three times on the amiable Fernando de los Rios, new Socialist minister of foreign affairs, insisting that the culprits be let out on bail pending a hearing. All he has won thus far is a promise of a report on the case from the ministry of war which had to be consulted because the civil guard is considered a military body.

But remembering that an American last year was sentenced to 12 years in prison—later reduced to six months—for cracking the nose of a civil guard, the embassy is not advising an early trial either. The government seems to think that respect for this glum constabulary has to be maintained at all costs, though the new constitution was supposed to have done away with the special treatment accorded the military caste by law in Alfonso's day.

Must Face Military Judge.

The Lockwood party's case is in the hands, or will be when charges are filed, of a military judge who also is secretary of the local branch of the government tourist bureau which spends millions of pesetas annually to bring foreigners to Spain. Officials of this bureau elsewhere in the country are worried lest the fate of Lockwood et al create an impression that Mallorca is not entirely a paradise.

The civil governor of the island, Señor Ciges Aparicio, Spanish war veteran, announced he is cleaning out all undesirables and yesterday expelled a prominent American for an offense against public morals involving a sailor.

While her four male compatriots disport themselves playing handball and taking Spanish lessons on crossword puzzles, Mrs. Caroline Lockwood, who shares her cell with a mad woman, practices the cello. She is allowed to see her husband formally 15 minutes a day.

PARAGUAY SAYS 1,000 BOLIVIANS FALL IN BATTLE

ASUNCION, Paraguay, July 5.—(AP)—A communique of the ministry of war issued today said that the Bolivians lost 1,000 soldiers when Paraguayans repulsed a strong attack in the Nanawa sector yesterday.

Bolivia Claims Victory.

LA PAZ, Bolivia, July 5.—(AP)—Occupation of Paraguayan positions in the important Fort Nanawa and Fort Gondra sectors in the Gran Chaco was claimed for Bolivian troops in a government communique today. "Our troops took the offensive in the Nanawa and Gondra sectors," the communique said. "We occupied enemy positions in the Nanawa sector south and north of Nanawa for a depth of more than 2,000 meters.

"The battle is continuing on the entire front. Three violent enemy counter-attacks were repulsed with bloody losses."

(Representatives of England, France, Spain, Italy, and Mexico will compose a league of nations committee which will seek to end the Gran Chaco dispute.)

Baby Swallows Shoe Cleaning Fluid and Dies

Davenport, Ia., July 5.—[Special.]—Drinking a small amount of shoe cleaning fluid at her home, Jean Marie Duffy, 18 month old daughter of Doctor and Mrs. R. H. Duffy of Davenport, died today in a local hospital.

MEXICANS GET 20 YEARS FOR DEATH OF ROSALIE EVANS

PUEBLA, Mexico, July 5.—(AP)—Gov. Mijares Palencia today commuted the death sentences of Francisco Ruiz and Alejo Garcia, convicted of killing Mrs. Rosalie Evans in 1924, to 20 years' imprisonment. Ruiz and Garcia had been sentenced to execution tomorrow.

Mrs. Rosalie Evans, an American, was killed in August, 1924, when she and her bodyguard, Juan Satrataus, were ambushed by agrarians who had attempted for five years to seize the hacienda of Mr. and Mrs. Evans.

She was riding in a buggy when bullets fired at her and her bodyguard caused the horses to run away. She fell from the vehicle, her hair caught in the wheels, and she was killed. Her husband was a British subject.

ROB TELEGRAPH OFFICE.

Two gunmen took $17 early yesterday in a robbery of the main office of the Western Union Telegraph company at 308 South La Salle street.

FOR THE SEMI-ANNUAL
CLEARANCE SALE

Are way down! Hundreds of suits, as well as overcoats and topcoats, have reached a new low as a result of extremely drastic reductions.

And it's not unlikely that this will be the last opportunity men will have to avail themselves of clothes of this character at these low prices.

SUITS $28-$38-$44

You don't have to be a shopkeeper these days to appreciate that during this seemingly inevitable trend towards higher prices (which we will all be well aware of next fall) a Clearance Sale is somewhat out of line. Out of line or not, we never have liked the idea of carrying merchandise over from one season to the next, and we're not starting now. So this Clearance Sale is on—and on a big way!

This is an opportunity to save, and save handsomely. And with practically every suit in stock included and reduced in price for this event, the selection of fabrics, styles and colors is such as to make the matter of satisfactory choice a foregone conclusion. There are hundreds of greys, a smart selection of browns, and well dressed blues by the score, and the number of suits that do not have two pairs of trousers are few.

STARS PLAY BASEBALL'S BIGGEST GAME TODAY

TINNING AND CUBS WHIP CINCINNATI, 5 TO 3; SOX WIN

GRIMM CLEANS BASES TO GIVE BUD 3 RUN LEAD

Hafey Hits Another Home Run.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Manager Charley Grimm, as a mark of appreciation of the fine pitching Bud Tinning has been doing for the Cubs these recent weeks, cleared loaded bases yesterday by socking a double in the very first inning to give Bud the bulk of a lead which he never lost in acquiring a 5 to 3 victory over the irritating Cincinnati Reds.

It was either Bud's sixth or seventh straight victory—in our book, the seventh. The two big league statisticians keep printing conflicting figures on Bud's record. Manager Grimm says yesterday's was Tinning's seventh, the National league's statistician said his last win was his sixth, and Bud says he's all confused but knows he wants to keep right on winning regardless of the count. The hitch seems to be in a game in which Tinning relieved before the starting pitcher had gone five innings, the retiring pitcher being sick. It's that intricate.

Bud Shows Class.

But anyhow, Bud beat the Reds and placed the Cubs above the .500 mark as the first half of the season—77 games—came to a close.

Tinning had plenty of stuff, as usual, and in addition seems to have the grand good fortune to inspire the Cubs to make a lot of runs before he really has to bear down. [Remember, they made 12 runs for him his last time out.] The large right hander would have had even an easier time of it yesterday had it not been for Chick Hafey's persistence in tuning up for the game of the century today.

It will be recalled that in the second game day before yesterday Chick teed off with a homer and two singles. Yesterday he scored the first run of the game, after two were out in the first inning, with another homer and his double drove in the second Red run in the sixth, after which he scored the other enemy marker himself.

Mosolf Scores First.

Derringer pitched the first inning for the Reds and made the first three batsmen bounce grounders to George Grantham. Grantham threw out English and Bill Herman all right, but he fumbled on Mosolf and thus started the riot which gave the Cubs the ball game.

After Mosolf had landed on first Babe Herman walked. Demaree then doubled, Mosolf scoring the tying run. Hartnett walked, filling the bases. Then it was that Manager Grimm saluted Tinning. He drove the ball on a line to the corner formed by the left field wall and the left center bleacher, Babe Herman, Demaree, and Hartnett pedaling home with great grace and ease. The inning ended when Jurges flied to Moore.

Demaree and Hartnett made singles off Si Johnson in the third, but they were wasted. In the next inning, however, a single by Jurges, Tinning's sacrifice, and a single by Bill Herman put Jurges over with the Cubs' fifth run.

Red Threat Fades.

In the sixth the Reds got a little tough, but were quelled by a play at the plate. Grantham led off with a double to center and scored on Hafey's double to the same area. Bottomley singled to right and Hafey stopped at third, then Rice singled to center scoring Hafey. Rise and Bottomley moved up on High's sacrifice, then Moore grounded to Bill Herman, who sank Bottomley at the plate with a perfect throw to Hartnett. Manion ended the threat by fanning.

Moore opened the ninth with a single to right. Lucas batted for Manion and flied to Demacree. Lombardi batted for Frey and singled to left, Moore stopping at second. Adams then grounded to English, who stepped on third to force Moore and threw to Grimm to double Adams and end the game.

Cleveland, O., July 5.—[Special.]—A seven run rally in the sixth inning today gave the White Sox a 10 to 6 triumph over the Cleveland Indians, evened the series, and restored them to fourth place. The big blow-off came when Mel Harder was enjoying a 5-1 lead and was apparently in command of the situation.

Next in interest to all this was Jimmy Dykes' theft of home in the seventh inning for the final Chicago run. The goat was Monte Pearson, giant right handed rookie from Toledo. He was winding up preparing to pitch to Ted Lyons when the Sox third baseman saw his chance and made his objective without even having to slide.

Lyons was the fourth Sox pitcher having been preceded by Chad Kimsey, Red Faber, and Paul Gregory.

Pitchers Come and Go.

Swanson was the first of thirteen batsmen to swing in the big sixth. He walked and galloped to third when Haas bounced a single over second. Harder charged in for Sullivan's pop fly bunt and it landed safely back of him, Swanson scoring. Haas and Sullivan crossed the plate when Al Simmons drove a double down the right field line.

Appling slowed up the splurge by grounding out, Simmons taking third. Dykes set it in motion again with a single to center on which Simmons scored. This brought Harder's retirement and old Sarge Connally shuffled to the mound. He walked Hayes. Grube then doubled to the left field wall and Dykes scored. Webb was sent in to bat for Gregory. With the count three and one, Pearson replaced Connally. Webb walked, filling the bases.

Swanson's single to center sent Hayes home and Grube scored after Haas' long fly to Averill. When Sullivan walked, Simmons was in a hero spot again, but he closed the rally with a whistling liner to Averill.

Kimsey in Trouble Early.

Kimsey's trail of hard luck started when Galatzer led off with a bounder past him for a single. Appling knocked down Porter's smash, but did not have time to make a play at either base. Averill walked, filling the bases. Then came the third infield hit, a drive that Hayes should have smothered, but it squirted off his glove into right field, Galatzer and Porter scoring. When Kimsey walked Kamm he was replaced by Faber. Averill came home with the third Cleveland

Fighting Irish! Boy, That's News

Hennelly, Mulligan, Hearns and Hughes

There are no synthetic Irishmen on the team of amateur boxing champions Ireland is sending against Chicago's Golden Glove winners Aug. 2 at Soldiers' field. Victorious over Italy and other continental opponents, the boys from Erin intend to show America the real meaning of "Fighting Irish!"

The Tribune will construct an arena to seat 50,000 who enjoy clean, vigorous boxing. Every location provides an unobstructed view of the ring. Nearly 30,000 seats are available for 55 cents. All are reserved.

The ringside prices are $3.30, $2.50, $2 and $1.10. The early applicants get the choice seats. Send check or money order, payable to Chicago Tribune, to Golden Gloves Ticket Manager, Room 530, Tribune Tower, Chicago. You may also order by telephone. Call Superior 0100 and ask for Local 466 or 530.

AWARD PHAGAN DECISION OVER PURVIS; FANS BOO

Johnny Phagan, former Golden Gloves welterweight champion, was awarded an eight round decision over Jackie Purvis, Indianapolis, at the outdoor boxing show at Northwest stadium, Cicero avenue and Irving Park boulevard, last night but the verdict displeased the crowd of 1,200 which stormed the ringside when Phagan's hand was raised by Referee Sammy Ford.

Phagan, who appeared to have an advantage when the eighth round started, was floored by a hard right to the jaw late in the round. He rose at the count of nine and a few seconds later the bell rang. The crowd, believing that Purvis earned the decision by the knockdown, booed and gathered at the ringside after the decision was given.

Vines Turns Back Cochet; Enters Finals

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WIMBLEDON, England, July 3.—Ellsworth Vines Jr., member of the United States Davis cup team, who holds the American and Wimbledon singles championships, swept into the final round of the annual tournament here today when he defeated Henri Cochet, ace of France's tennis corps, in the semi-final round. The scores were 6-2, 8-6, 3-6, 6-1. It was Vines' third victory over the Frenchman since last July when they first met in the Davis cup challenge round.

The tall American youngster, who is the favorite to capture his second consecutive Wimbledon championship, had little difficulty in winning from the veteran French player. Several times he left Cochet flatfooted and shaking his head as Vines sent terrific drives over the net.

Vines will defend the title against Jack Crawford of Australia Saturday. Crawford, ranked No. 1 in the Antipodes and star member of Australia's Davis cup squad, advanced to the final round with a 6-3, 6-4, 2-6, 6-4 victory over Jiro Satoh of Japan.

It will be the eighth time Vines and Crawford have met. The American, in the seven matches they have played, was the victor in five.

Helen Jacobs, holder of the American women's singles championship, and her Australian partner, Don Turnbull, were eliminated in the mixed doubles when they were beaten by R. Miki, Japan, and Dorothy Round, England, 6-1, 1-6, 6-2.

Miss Elizabeth Ryan, former Californian, advanced in both the mixed doubles and the women's doubles. Paired with Mme. Rene Mathieu, she defeated Katherine Stammers, England, and Jedwiga Jedzrejowska, Polish champion, 6-1, 6-2, while in the mixed doubles Miss Ryan and Enrique Maier, Spain, won from Susan Noel, England, and R. Nunoi, Japan, 6-2, 8-6.

GASTANAGA PUTS KENNEDY OUT IN 6TH WITH RIGHT

New York, July 5.—(AP)—Isadoro Gastanaga, Spanish heavyweight, tonight knocked out Les Kennedy of Long Beach, Cal., in the sixth round of their scheduled ten round bout. Gastanaga weighed 191 pounds and Kennedy, a sparring partner of Primo Carnera, 192.

3 SOUTH SIDERS WIN FORM TEST IN GOLF SCHOOL

1,000 See Pros Select Best Pupils.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The first of the graduating exercises of THE TRIBUNE Golf school, the greatest instructional and competitive project in the history of the game, was held last night at the Mid-City course, Grace street and Western avenue, with nearly 1,000 relatives and well wishers present as the school's 108 prize students received their diplomas.

Last night's competition was confined to form alone. No balls were hit during the Mid-City commencement, the jury of five judges confining themselves to rating stance, grip and swing. The same 108 pupils will have their chance to hit the little white ball on Saturday, when the school will be concluded with an 18 hole medal play tournament at Northbrook, on the Dundee road, one and three-quarter miles west of the Waukegan road or one mile east of Milwaukee avenue.

South Siders Win.

The south side courses came very near stealing the whole show last night. The four winners were chosen by Tommy Armour of Medinah, Harry Cooper of Glen Oak, Bob MacDonald, Jock Hutchinson of Glen View and Frank Walsh of Bryn Mawr. Harry Adams, Hickory Hills professional, sent two entries into the prize class when Ray Dean was named the victor in the men's class and Mrs. Betty Lucas was chosen in the women's division.

Victor Arvia, who had been schooled for the finals by Bill Pachot of Pipe o' Peace, was named best in the boys' class, and Dorothy Sturm, who attended the Mid-City classes with Joe Tivnan as her instructor, was the winner in the girls' division. Each will receive from the Chicago Daily Fee Golf association, sponsor of the plan, a playing membership good for the balance of the season at all 27 courses, and a silver loving cup from THE TRIBUNE.

Golf Balls as Prizes.

Second and third place winners last night will receive a dozen golf balls from the association. They included Ned Kelly of Techny Fields, Harry G. Anderson of Pipe o' Peace, and Bill Naddy of Chicago Meadows in the men's class; Mrs. Ellen Halm of Westgate Valley and Mrs. Jerry King of Evergreen, among the women; Leo Strzemieczny of Big Oaks and George Kertes of Mid-City in the boys' class, and Louise Johnson of White Pines and Sonia Nash of Vernon among the girls.

Tom Walsh of Westgate Valley acted as master of ceremonies, introducing the five judges and Harry E. Radix, president of the Chicago District Golf association; Charles Nash of Vernon, president of the Chicago-Daily Fee Golf association, and Herb Graffis, editor of Golfing and Golfdom, all of whom addressed the pupils before the graduation proper started.

Julian Lambert of Northbrook tabulated the results of the judging, all of which was transacted on the basis of 100 points from each judge for each pupil, 500 being the maximum. Each division swung collectively and then each pupil stepped out alone and did his or her four swings before the judges.

Scores Improve.

Deen, winner of the men's class, was given a combined rating of 365 points, ten more than were given to Kelly. Deen, a 30 year old advertising solicitor, has been playing golf four years. He said the teaching of Adams at Hickory Hills had cut 10 strokes off his game and he is now breaking 80 regularly.

Mrs. Lucas, a bride of four months, didn't take up the game until last year, but is hitting 90 and 95 consistently. Miss Sturm, 17 years old, is the daughter of Jack Sturm, Big Oaks professional, but she took her lessons at Mid-City. She turned in an 86 at Big Oaks ten days ago. Ariva, also 17 years old, is a caddy at Olympia Fields, but until Pachot began teaching him, he never took a lesson. He has cut ten strokes from his game, shooting an 85 recently.

BY HARVEY WOODRUFF.

This is the long awaited dream day of all baseball fans.

For the first time in history, the greatest players of the American league and the greatest players of the National league, picked by popular vote of baseball followers, will meet in team battle. Truly enough, as nicknamed, it is the Game of the Century.

Comiskey park is the scene. One fifteen o'clock [better be there earlier to watch the practice which starts at noon and to avoid the last minute congestion] is the time. Approximately 49,000 persons, park capacity, will view the contest.

Answers Question of 50 Years.

From back in 1884 when Providence of the National league won three straight games from the Metropolitans of the American association, there have been interleague contests. Since 1905 these contests have been the world's series. Opposing teams were the best of their respective leagues. Results were awaited and discussed in every hamlet through the country.

Yet fans kept asking, in their dreamy way, what would happen if the greatest players from all teams, not simply the two best teams, should meet in interleague combat. Unanswered went the question until now. There were too many complications and obstacles, and none to sponsor it properly.

Every Obstacle Surmounted.

Then THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE sports department suggested such a game be played as baseball's contribution to A Century of Progress. It simply would not listen to the usual objections. So eventuated the Game of the Century. These few words epitomize long effort and surmounted obstacles.

Response from fans was all that was expected, and more. On the first day of the ticket sale, by mail order to give out-of-town patrons equal opportunity, the 9,000 box seats were exhausted. More than a week ago the approximately 38,000 reserved grandstand seats were gone. Allotments went to inhabitants of 46 states, fans coming to this game and A Century of Progress.

Remained then only 2,250 bleacher seats, put on sale Monday. They lasted 45 minutes, with thousands still in line when the ticket windows were closed.

No Spectators on Field.

These 49,000 tickets represent seating capacity of the park. As the game is played under world series rules, spectators will not be allowed on the playing field as in regular league games when there is an overflow. Aisles will be clear, according to police regulations. In fact, the police detail is instructed to allow none within a block of the entrances unless they can show tickets good for admission.

White Sox officials, conducting the ticket sale, estimate there would have been a crowd of 100,000 if it had been possible to provide that many choice accommodations.

Present at the game will be 100 newspaper reporters, representing all big league cities except Washington. Others are from all parts of the middle west and from as far south as Jacksonville, Fla.

Choice of 500,000 Fans.

This great assemblage, then, will visualize its realized dream and will know that the players honored are true choices of the nation's fans, 500,000 of them. When it was suggested the years old dream could and should come true, THE TRIBUNE offered the additional suggestion that fans determine the lineups. Fifty-five newspa-

DABCHICK WINS IN WARMUP FOR LASSIE STAKES

Greentree's Newest Hope Returns $31.42.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Mrs. Helen Hay Whitney's Greentree stable uncovered another sensational 2 year old race horse at Arlington Park yesterday afternoon.

This one's name is Dabchick, a daughter of Royal Minstrel-Ruddy Duck, and it happened in the Ravinia purse, which was a warm up for the $35,000 Lassie stakes to be run on Saturday afternoon.

It was the second start of Dabchick's racing career. Her first effort wasn't so much, yet, on some speedy workouts, she had been made the favorite. She failed her horde of backers.

So the wise players wanted nothing to do with her in the Ravinia, when she encountered such speedy ones as Spoilt Beauty, Constant Wife, Miss Patience and others which have shown speed and stamina.

Lets Favorite Make the Pace.

It caused Dabchick to go to the post as a long shot in the Ravinia but that made no difference in so far as running fast and true was concerned. She let the favorite, Spoilt Beauty, make the pace until the field was well down the stretch.

Jockey Coucci was riding a waiting race on Dabchick, but had her up close to the pacemaker, Spoilt Beauty, which Jockey Bill Fronk was riding with much energy. Fronk went to the whip on Spoilt Beauty and at the same instant Jockey Coucci gave Dabchick her head.

The long striding daughter of Royal Minstrel went right after Spoilt Beauty, caught her within a sixteenth of the finish line and went on to win pulling away by a length. Fronk steadied Spoilt Beauty along and saved second money from the fast finishing Constant Wife.

Dabchick had stepped the five furlongs in 59 seconds, the exact time in which she worked the distance just before she left New York for the scene of the Lassie stakes.

Winner Returns $31.42.

In the betting, Dabchick paid $31.42 to win, $9.00 to place, and $5.80 to show. Spoilt Beauty was at $3.70 to place and $2.94 to show. The show price on Constant Wife was $3.96.

The race probably will serve to eliminate quite a few of the possible starters in the Lassie stakes. It boomed the Greentree stable stock and Dabchick more than likely will be one of those that are heavily backed in the Lassie.

Dabchick isn't a particularly impressive looking filly. She is extra large, but that's about all one can say for her. She hasn't the straight hind legs of a champion, yet she can run. She demonstrated that in the Ravinia.

Col. Edward R. Bradley had occasion to cheer during the afternoon when his hitherto weak hearted Boilermaker, under an energetic ride by Jockey Westrope, failed to show the white feather in the mile Hillside purse and wound up beating the short priced Knight's Gal from Audley farm stable by a length. Big Red finished third.

The Colonel Is Loyal.

Despite his numerous failures, Col. Bradley and a number of his friends had not lost hope in Boilermaker and they backed him rather stoutly to collect $9.32 for each $2 they invested.

The daily double, with the heavily backed Timorous winner of the second, and Golden Sun, the 54 to 1 shot, which won the third race, coupled up, paid off at $349.08.

GOVERNOR SIGNS ILLINOIS RACING COMMISSION BILL

Chicago Turf Leaders Hail Creation of Board.

Another step toward making Illinois the racing capital of the United States was taken yesterday when Gov. Henry Horner signed the Maypole bill which provides for appointment by the governor of a state racing commission of three members.

Chicago turf executives and fans joined last night in expressing satisfaction over the signing of the bill. After that they turned to speculation over the personnel of the commission, and who will be its chairman. A dozen prominent names were mentioned, but this guessing game was too much for experienced turfgoers who would think nothing of picking the winner in a 16 horse field.

Hertz Favors Commission.

Gov. Horner is not expected to appoint the commissioners until he has had a chance to consider the qualification of a number of men who can be counted upon to keep the sport on a high plane and free from political influence.

John Hertz, chairman of the executive committee of the Arlington Park Jockey club, was among the Chicago turf leaders who expressed themselves in favor of the bill.

"Arlington Park, organized by leading citizens on a basis of no profit and no dividends, welcomes everything that will elevate the class of racing in Illinois," Mr. Hertz said.

"Need Legal Control."

"I think that where as much public money is handled as is wagered on Illinois race tracks there should be a legal control," Mr. Hertz continued. "I am sure that Gov. Horner will appoint a high class racing commission, by regulating the sport on a sporting basis, will make Illinois the finest racing state in the country. This is inevitable. Chicago is our second largest city, and the largest city hasn't a good racing law."

Mr. Hertz referred to New York, which has no racing commission and also has no law permitting parimutuel betting. Oral betting, as conducted in New York, is at best a refinement of the under-the-grand stand betting on harness races at county fairs.

Serve Without Salary.

The bill signed by Gov. Horner yesterday provides that one commissioner shall hold office for two years from the beginning of his term of office in 1933, one commissioner shall hold office for four years and one for six years. The commissioners will serve without salary, but will be reimbursed for traveling expenses. The secretary appointed by the commission will receive $4,800 a year.

Among the duties of the commission will be the alloting of racing dates to Illinois tracks. It will prescribe rules, regulations, and conditions under which all horse races are to be conducted. Tracks located within 50 miles of any city of 500,000 or more will pay a daily license fee of $2,500 and a tax of 20 cents on each admission ticket.

Can Limit Number of Tracks.

The tracks that will come under commission rule are Arlington Park, Lincoln Fields, Washington Park, Hawthorne, Sportsman's Park, and Exposition Park, Aurora, and Fairmount Park, Collinsville, Ill. By its control of racing dates the commission can regulate the number of tracks in Illinois and discourage the building of new tracks in crowded areas.

In the Wake of the News

GAME OF THE CENTURY.

When David met Goliath,
Legend tells us there was trouble;
Perhaps there was, but watch things buzz
When Simmons faces Hubbell.
A thousand battle cries were sung
At Troy and Harper's Ferry;
Another cry will shake the sky
If Gomez strikes out Terry.

The well known welkin sure will ring
For Klein the Great of Philly,
And what a dish, if Frankie Frisch
Should make Mose Grove look silly.
This game will have a kick that's found
In certain kinds of rickey.
A Ruth home run? Or then the fun
When O'Doul bowls over Dickey.

SPECULATION FIGURES.

Amount of money wagered at race tracks on big days always is a subject of interest to The Wake. It indicates, in an indirect way, the thickness or thinness of the public poke, thereby, also indirectly, reflecting national prosperity or the reverse.

Therefore, the nearly $700,000 wagered at Arlington Park Tuesday testifies to the improved conditions, temporarily at least, resulting from the "new deal." Compare this figure with the $745,603 wagered at Louisville on Kentucky Derby day, and it is an impressive figure. It was an improvement over 1932 and yet 29 per cent below 1929, according to the management.

Coming back from the track a group of us were guessing that the average wagers would click about $24 per person. According to the estimated attendance, the amount was $22.35. "Twenty-four dollars per person seems rather high to me," interposed one lady. "I bet $2 a race on seven races, not arriving for the first. I was splitting the bets, too, with another. So that's only $7 per person."

Well, it's true there are split bets and some do not feel it a duty to the thoroughbred to wager on every race, but you count on the big betters to bring up the average, which also includes the "comeback money." For a stake day, $24 average is probably a pretty fair estimate. Well balanced cards, such as today's also raise the average.

July 6.

Oh, with bated breath we're waiting,
I feel wholly safe in stating,
For the wondrous game you're dating—
July 6.

When fans will boil and bubble,
While Warneke and Hubbell
Cause all their foemen trouble—July 6.

And Grove and fellow pitchers,
As mound men, true bewitchers,
In Fame's temple, real top-nichers—
July 6.

Hurl the spheroid shrewdly,
Never working crudely,
And treat their rivals rudely—July 6.

But in my feeble jingle,
I beg partisans to mingle,
And cheer each out and bingle—July 6.

World Series Memory.

HTW: Appointment of Bill Klem as one of the umpires for the game of the century Thursday recalls an incident in the 1932 world series here in Chicago. Lou Gehrig was at bat with Klem officiating around second base. The batter requested the umps to move his stance, but the latter refused, but later complied, whereupon Lou drove a sizzling liner right through the spot where Klem had been standing. During the argument a veteran fan sitting in front of me cupped his hands and shouted at Klem, "Catfish, don't be a bullhead."

Quail Carry On War Against Chinch Bugs

BY BOB BECKER.

Chinch bugs now are destroying thousands of acres of grain on Illinois farms. These destructive little insects are making some grain fields look as if they had been blasted by fire. It is frequently said that the chinch bug has no natural enemies, but the work of birds, especially that of the Bob White or quail, must not be overlooked. More than a hundred chinch bugs have been found in a single Bob White stomach. This popular bird along with the brown thrasher, and the meadow lark, form a trio of chinch bug enemies which are always on the side of the farmer.

It is significant that in many parts of Illinois, where fields of grain are being destroyed by chinch bugs, the quail and song bird population has decreased due to the lack of a constructive program which would encourage the birds to nest on the farms. Destruction of cover needed by quail for nests, food, and protection, is one of the principal reasons why our quail have been killed off. Hundreds of farms are so lacking in hedgerows, brushy fence corners, and woodlots the Bob White hasn't had a chance.

Hedgerows Needed for Cover.

Added to this situation is a month long hunting season and a list of predators not handled by a scientific control program. Outstanding among the factors affecting our quail population on farms has been destruction of many miles of osage orange hedgerows which furnished food and cover for the quail and other species of birds that wage a continuous battle against insect pests.

If the landowners of the state had encouraged coveys of quail on their property by simple, inexpensive programs involving proper cover as well as protection for the birds doubtless a different story might be written today about the present chinch bug attack. Fifteen per cent of the Bob White's food is composed of insects including such serious pests as the chinch bug, cucumber beetles, army worms, wireworms, billbugs and cutworms. In fact, scientists who have studied the food habits of this bird are unanimous in asserting that every farmer should have coveys of quail on his property.

Thrasher Is Valuable Ally.

However, the agriculturist cannot ignore the brown thrasher [sometimes called the brown thrush] and the meadow lark as valuable allies in fighting chinch bugs. As many as 200 of these pests have been taken from a single brown thrasher stomach. Today we find that on many farms in Illinois this handsome bird cannot nest because hedges and thickets have been cut down. This was quite noticeable on farms close to the Fox river which we visited last week, during the annual TRIBUNE Boy Scout canoe cruise.

On many of these farms we saw whole fields of grain destroyed by chinch bugs. Besides the quail, meadow lark and brown thrasher we also have in the anti-chinch bug list the flicker, barn, tree and cliff swallow, and the house wren.

Slaughter Meets Nichols Tonight at Mills Stadium

Three bouts at ten rounds will head a boxing card tonight at Mills stadium, Lake street and Kilpatrick avenue, Georgie Nichols, former light heavyweight champion, and Sammy [Kid] Slaughter of Terre Haute, Ind., will meet in one. The others will bring together Tommy Paul, ex-featherweight titleholder, and Jackie Sharkey, and Jackie Brady and Puggy Weinert.

Nichols hasn't boxed into Chicago since he won the 175 pound title a year ago last March. He whipped Charley Belanger, Lou Scozza, Billy Jones, and Dave Maier to win the crown in an elimination tournament. Then something happened to Nichols and he couldn't box well in nontitle bouts. When he failed to defend the championship he was dethroned by the National Boxing association.

Nichols believes he has returned to form and expects to whip Slaughter as he did Frankie O'Brien at Hartford, Conn., five weeks ago. He blames the recurrence of an old knee ailment for his poor battle after he won the crown.

Another card tonight will be presented at Shewbridge field, 74th and Aberdeen streets. Charley Retzlaff, Leonard, N. D., heavyweight, will face Ed Prante of Philadelphia at six rounds. Retzlaff knocked out Art Laskey two weeks ago. Another match at six rounds pairs Roy Williams and Jack Kilbourne for the second time. Kilbourne won a close decision two years ago. Young Stuhley, Kewanee, Ill., will clash with Mickey O'Shea. Eddie Evans faces Joe Lunnetto in one of three contests at four rounds.

Amateur boxers in the heavyweight division will feature the show tonight at the C. Y. O. center, 31 East Congress street. Tom Kenneally and Fred Balmer will compete.

McDIARMID WINS FROM GRANT IN CLAY COURT MEET

Bell, Coen, Tidball and Parker Also Advance.

Headed by John McDiarmid of Fort Worth, Tex., who upset Bryan Grant of Atlanta, Ga., in straight sets, five players reached the quarter-final round of the national clay court singles at the Town and Tennis club yesterday.

Grant, seeded second only to Frankie Parker in tourney ratings, found the Texas professor able to match his steadiness and also found McDiarmid's cannon ball serve difficult to handle. The scores were 6-4, 6-4.

The bottom bracket was all set for the quarter-finals tomorrow, Parker leading a parade of four straight set victors.

Parker put a quick end to the glory that was George Ball's when he defeated the El Paso star, surprise victor over Jay Cohn on Tuesday, by 6-0, 6-0 scores.

Berkeley Bell of Austin, Tex., earned the bracket opposite Parker by defeating Milton Ruehl of Milwaukee, 6-3, 6-1.

Another quarter-final match today will bring together Jack Tidball, new intercollegiate champion from the University of California at Los Angeles, and Junior Coen of Kansas City. Tidball beat Wilbur Hess of Fort Worth, 6-4, 6-2, while Coen conquered Henry Prusoff of Seattle, 6-3, 6-3. Summaries:

SINGLES.

Third Round.

Jack Tidball, Los Angeles, defeated Doc Barr, Dallas, 6-4, 8-7.

Lefty Bryan, Chattanooga, defeated George McConnell, Chicago, 6-1, 6-4.

Fritz Mercur, Bethlehem, Pa., defeated Thane Halstead, 8-6, 6-4.

Fourth Round.

Junior Coen, Kansas City, defeated Henry Prusoff, 6-3, 6-3.

Berkeley Bell, Austin, Tex., defeated Milton Ruehl, Milwaukee, 6-3, 6-1.

Frankie Parker, Milwaukee, defeated George Ball, El Paso, 6-0, 6-0.

Jack Tidball, Los Angeles, defeated Wilbur Hess, Fort Worth, Tex., 6-4, 6-2.

John McDiarmid, Fort Worth, Tex., defeated Bryan Grant, Atlanta, 6-4, 6-4.

Today's pairings:

MEN'S DOUBLES.

[First Round.]

Sterling Williams, Fort Worth, Tex., and Jack Smith, Fort Worth, Defeated Milton Ruehl, Milwaukee, and Gilbert Sheldon, Chicago, 6-3, 6-3.

William Dong, Santa Monica, and Larry Myers, Los Angeles, defeated Edward Moss, Atlanta, and Courtney Challis, Chicago, 6-4, 6-1.

Berkeley Bell and Karl Kamrath, both of Austin, Tex., defeated Ralph Ellis and Francis Stanton, both of Chicago, 6-2, 6-2.

Frankie Parker, Milwaukee, and Doc Barr, Dallas, Tex., defeated Harold Ingersoll and Willer Kimball, both of Chicago, 6-2, 6-4.

Gilbert Hall, New York, and Fritz Mercur, Bethlehem, defeated A. F. Winston and Ned Brown, both of Chicago, 6-2, 7-5.

Normail Bichel and John Shrostrom, both of Chicago, won by default from Robert Lumpus and C. T. Leyda, both of Bedford Pa.

Jack Tidball, Los Angeles, and Gene Mako, Los Angeles, defeated William O'Rourke and Homer Dixon, both of Chicago, 6-2, 6-2.

Bryant Grant, Atlanta, and Dick Covington, Asheville, N. C., won by default from Carl Fisher, Detroit, and Maxwell Gurman, Kalamazoo, Mich.

George and Russell Ball, Fort Worth, Tex., won by default from Creel Brown, Louisville, Ky., and Buddy Smith, Louisville, Ky.

Frank O'Connell, Chicago, and Ed Shoff, Chicago, defeated Frank Thompson, St. Louis, and Howard Stephens, St. Louis, 6-0, 6-2.

[Second Round.]

Lefty Bryan, Chattanooga, and John McDiarmid, Fort Worth, Tex., defeated Merle Moore, Tucson, Ariz., and Charles Mickel, Tucson, Ariz., 6-1, 6-0.

Gene Mako Los Angeles, and Jack Tidball, Los Angeles, defeated Fred Lepell and Lee Kulp, Chicago, 6-1, 6-1.

Irish Leaders Plan Reception for Champions

Thirty prominent Chicagoans of Irish descent discussed plans yesterday for the reception to be given the amateur boxing champions of Ireland when they arrive July 20 to fight the Golden Glove winners at Soldiers' field Aug. 2.

The committee expects to have the largest welcoming delegation at the Union station that ever has greeted visiting athletes in Chicago.

The Irish boxers, escorted by a band and hundreds of fans, will parade up Jackson boulevard to La Salle street and north on La Salle to Mayor Edward J. Kelly's offices in the city hall. The exact time of the boxers' arrival has not been decided, but it will be about noon.

Arrangements also were made yesterday at the luncheon at the Illinois Athletic club for a west side reception for the team in Garfield park the evening of July 21. Everybody will be invited. A band will play Irish airs, Mayor Kelly and other civic leaders will make short talks, and after the fighters have been introduced there will be dancing for two hours.

A similar entertainment will be held in Jackson park for south side fans.

Among those who attended the luncheon were:

The Most Rev. Bernard J. Sheil, auxiliary bishop of Chicago; Peter M. Kelly, general chairman; D. F. Kelly, president of the Fair store; Daniel McGrath, Irish consul; John P. Harding, James Whalen, Emmett Whealan, president of the county board; Thomas Heaney, secretary Catholic Order of Foresters; Mrs. Mary McWhorter, president women's auxiliary Ancient Order of Hibernians; Herbert Byfield president Woodlawn Business Men's association; Frank Reynolds, president Brainerd's Business Men's association.

Frank J. O'Brien, president Greater South Side Chamber of Commerce; M. Cohen, secretary Englewood Business Men's association; Capt. Michael Delaney, president Ancient Order of Hibernians; Albert J. Horan, bailiff Municipal court; Representative Joseph Ratezan, Patrick W. Nash, vice president Irish-American Good Fellowship club; the Rev. William O'Connell; Joe Grayson, vice president Woodlawn Business Men's association.

Sharkey to Box Levinsky Here, Report

New York, July 5.—[Special.]—If Jack Sharkey returns to the ring he will meet King Levinsky in a 15 round bout at Comiskey park, home of the Chicago White Sox, late in September, pers in other cities volunteered to assist in this poll. That the vote might not reflect Chicago partisanship, these offers of coöperation were accepted. So the choice is a true consensus, nation-wide. Al Simmons of the White Sox, who drew the highest individual vote total of 346,291, "ran" fully as well in other sections of the country as in his 1933 home.

Behind these players are the veteran master minds of baseball. President Harridge of the American league named Connie Mack, manager and part owner of the Philadelphia Athletics, as pilot. President Heydler of the Nationals named John McGraw, famous as leaders of the Giants and a militant figure in diamond history since the days of the scrappy old Baltimore Orioles.

Eddie Collins as Coach.

Assisting Connie Mack as coaches are Eddie Collins, former White Sox player and manager, and Art Fletcher, Yankee coach, and Joe McCarthy, manager of the New York Yankees, who last night accepted Mack's invitation to come to Chicago for the game. Bill McKechnie, manager of the Boston Braves, and Max Carey, manager of Brooklyn, appear in similar rôles with McGraw.

Umpires are William Dinneen and W. A. McGowan of the American league and William J. Klem and Charles Rigler of the National league.

There is no official title at stake in this game. Players receive no compensation for their services. Yet in detail of preparation, in desire to win, players are keen as for a world series. League prestige is at stake. National leaguers wish to wipe out the stigma of four straight defeats in the world series of last fall. American leaguers, naturally, hope to add to that prestige.

Fans Up in Arms.

If the contest is waged with intense partisanship by the players themselves there will be no less partisanship among the spectators. Chicago is that way. Dating back from the world series between White Sox and Cubs in 1906, no intercity rivalry has been keener than that between American and National league local fans who base their league allegiance on their local club affiliation.

Profits from the capacity attendance, at regular prices, are estimated at $45,000. Services of all concerned are without compensation. No charge is made for rental of Comiskey park. All net receipts go to a fund for the relief and care of disabled or needy baseball players.

In its original proposition, THE TRIBUNE agreed to underwrite all preliminary expense. This has been done. In the event of rain, THE TRIBUNE will be the sole loser. That involved considerable risk. Since then, the two leagues, anxious that such a popular affair be brought to consummation, agreed that one day's postponement be provided for. If, by any chance, the game is not played this afternoon, it will be held at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Consider Annual Game.

Already baseball rulers are considering the possibility of an annual game of this nature, rotating in the various cities. Publicity, in volume equalled only by the world series, is one reason, for the game comes during the season and benefits all clubs instead of only two. Marked approbation of the fans, evinced to such a notable degree, is another. Profits for charity is another.

So much for the plans, purposes and consummation of this dream child. Now about the actual game of the century. Will it be a massacre of pitchers and a triumph of batters, or will the greatest contemporary sluggers bow before the greatest contemporary hurlers? Notice how that word greatest keeps creeping into this yarn. It is impossible not to use it.

Baseball experts profess to believe it will be a triumph of pitchers. They base their arguments on the fact that three or more pitchers will be used on each side, enabling them to bear down, as the baseball expression has it, every minute they are in the game, instead of trying to rest when opportunity offers, as during a nine inning route. Perhaps a majority of fans anticipate a triumph of batters.

Start Practice at Noon.

At Comiskey park this afternoon teams will take the field for preliminary batting practice at 12 o'clock. National leaguers will be attired in traveling uniforms of gray material of the same pattern. American leaguers will down white home uniforms, each player wearing the insignia of his own club.

The National leaguers, as visitors, will go to bat first. The American league ball, supposed to be livelier, will be used in the first part of the game, and the National league ball in the later innings. Each squad obtained a quota of rival league balls for batting practice.

National Has Great Infield; A. L. Pitchers Bank on Speed

Frankie Frisch Spark Plug; Others Just as Steady.

Grove, Hildebrand and Gomez Burn 'Em In; Curves, Too.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

If anything goes wrong in the National league infield this afternoon during the course of the game of the century it scarcely will be blamed on boyish nervousness. A glance at the birthdays and terms of service of the quartet John J. McGraw will start shows that baseball will develop few plays that are new to these seasoned fellows:

Frankie Frisch, second baseman, is the senior of the lot, at least according to the official records. Frisch was born Sept. 9, 1898, and Bill Terry, first baseman, didn't come along until several weeks later—on Oct. 30, 1898. At least, that's what the records say. Pie Traynor, third baseman, was born Nov. 11, 1899. Dick Bartell, shortstop hasn't been around quite so long—he was born right here in Chicago Nov. 22, 1907.

Frisch a Real Money Player.

The fact that these gents carry a little age isn't especially significant until you delve into their records for continuous service in the National league.

Frisch is playing his fifteenth season in the National league. He has been a star ever since his Fordham days. And when it comes to pressure games, such as this afternoon's contest is bound to be, just reflect on the fact that Frankie has played in no fewer than forty-three games against American league champions. He has played in four world series as a member of the Giants and three as a member of the Cardinals. His batting mark in these forty-three games is .313.

Despite his age—34 plus is pretty old for a second baseman—Frankie has been playing an inspired game for the Cardinals this year. There is nothing he doesn't do as well as any second baseman in the majors, and in addition he has an enthusiasm that seems contagious. No infield ever had a better spark plug than Frisch.

Look for Terry to Star.

Bill Terry is another who hasn't been hit by that bolt that generally gets the legs of infielders shortly after they turn 30. Bill, though his work was hindered until recently by a wrist injury early in the season, again is going at top speed. Bill apparently has felt the strain of keeping his New York Giants at the top of the National league, but today he will have nothing to worry about but playing first base and should be one of the hitting and fielding stars of the conflict.

Terry will find little to surprise him in today's developments. He is in his eleventh year with the Giants, and during that time the Giants have played about every type and degree of baseball known to sport.

Traynor is a sage gentleman now in his fourteenth year with the Pirates. While Pie sometimes gets a little flighty about his throwing, he has the ability to bear down in the tough going and his experience is looked upon as one of the best assets of the National league warriors. A battle with American leaguers will not be anything new for Pie. He has been in 11 world series clashes—seven against Washington in 1925, in which he batted .346. Pie also played four against the Yankees in 1927, but didn't bat up to form in that series, finishing with a mark of .200.

Great Combination Around Second.

Bartell is playing his seventh season in the National league, but never has been supported by a star second baseman such as he will find in Frisch this afternoon. Dick and Frankie should make a great pair, for Bartell has been making his reputation bigger and better with the passing of the months with the same type of drive, pepper, and personality that have made Frisch famous all these years. Dick never has been in a world series, but he knows how to bear down and is certain to play a good steady game this afternoon.

And please don't forget that the National league sq[illegible] has a great utility infielder in the persons of the Cubs' Woody English. Woody is the same age as Bartell and also is playing his seventh season in the majors. Woody, though of retiring disposition off the field, is one of those baseball paradoxes—a fellow who spits fire when the going gets tough on the field.

He'll Play Anywhere.

Woody can and has played every position in the infield except first base. And if Mr. McGraw asks Mr. English to relieve Terry this afternoon there'll be no squawks from Woody.

The other reserve infielder is Tony Cuccinello of the Dodgers, who also can play anywhere except first, and can hit with the best of them.

Of the five infielders on the National league team, Terry is a manager and the other five are captains. So there's a slant on how they stand with the folks they work for.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Speed will be the big item in the repertoire of the American league pitchers who operate against the National league all stars in baseball's big struggle of the century this afternoon at Comiskey park. If the sluggers from the National league have any particular weakness for that variety of throwing it will be just too bad for them.

Three of the four American league mound workers delegated to carry their league's colors are of the fire ball variety. Bob Grove, the rubber armed southpaw of the Athletics, throws 'em from here to there in split second time. Vernon Gomez, another left hander wearing a Yankee uniform, can do the same. Also Oral Hildebrand, the Cleveland right hander who leaped to fame overnight. Alvin Crowder, the fourth member of the staff, depends more on ingenuity.

They Can Curve 'Em, Too.

Don't get the idea that excessive speed is all that can be served by three of the four above named gentlemen. It is only one thing in their bag of tricks. The curves of Grove, Hildebrand and Gomez are as deadly as their fast balls. Even Crowder is no back number in the art of bending his pitches, and while his speed is something, it is not as marked as in the three other cases. Where Crowder sparkles is in control. The others try to throw past the batters. Crowder aims for their weaknesses.

It is highly probable that Connie Mack, who will direct the American league forces, will decide to entrust the bulk of the pitching to his own employé—Grove. That kind of a move would be easy to understand. Mack knows how to handle his somewhat melancholy southpaw. And Grove would feel right at home taking orders from his regular boss, whereas the other pitchers might be robbed of some of their usual effectiveness through discomfort caused by being in strange hands for the afternoon.

Hildebrand's Record Best.

So far as actual records for the year are concerned, Hildebrand, Indians' right hander, looms as the best bet for work if need arises for the rescue of a southpaw. He has pitched 124 innings and allowed only 86 hits, while winning 11 games and losing 5. His last appearance was against the White Sox on Monday and he primed himself for today by turning out a four hit affair. He has 54 strikeouts to his credit.

Grove, because of relief work, has been able to compile 11 victories against 4 defeats, although pitching only 113 innings. He has given up 104 hits, compared to the 86 off Hildebrand in 124 innings. Crowder, in 141 innings, has yielded the large sum of 151 hits and yet has the same record as Grove—11 wins and 4 defeats.

Gomez has found pitching rather hazardous of late. It was a rare day last season when he was knocked out. It has happened so regularly this year that he has learned to like it. But Gomez at times is as tough as they make 'em. He might be that way today if called upon. That's why figures don't mean a thing for a one day performance.

run while Cissel was hitting into a double play.

Simmons and Appling started a promising rally with singles to center to open the second inning. Al scored on Dykes' fly to Vosmik, but Hayes lined to Galatzer, who touched first to double Appling.

Kamm Drives In Vosmik.

Vosmik doubled with two out in the third and then a pair of ex-Sox employés made themselves obnoxious. Willie Kamm rifled a single past Faber and Vosmik scored. Kamm went to third on Bill Cissel's single to right, but Myatt grounded out.

Faber departed for a pinch hitter during a fruitless fifth inning rally and Gregory went to th mound. He started off by walking Porter and Averill. This set the stage for a near triple play. Vosmik sent a grounder to Dykes, who touched third and threw to Hayes in time to force Averill. Vosmik just managed to beat Hayes' throw to Sullivan.

After the seven-run sixth, Lyons went in to pitch and the Indians scored twice on Porter's triple. But the Sox got back the runs in their half of the seventh. Knickerbocker drew a two base error when he dropped Appling's pop fly after a hard run. Dykes singled off Kamm's glove, Appling holding second. The runners moved up on a sacrifice. Appling scored after Grube flied to Porter and Dykes went to third. While Pearson was winding up with Lyons at the plate Dykes stole home.

Talking It Over

BY ARCH WARD.

THE Game of the Century at Comiskey park this afternoon is the answer to oft repeated statements that major league baseball is a stencilled, unvarying procedure that shuns extraneous innovations.

Scores of fans have written to this department since the game was announced venturing the opinion that eloquent persuasion must have been required to win approval of the league presidents and club owners.

There is no better time to make known that the proposal was received enthusiastically right from the start by nearly every man connected with the game. Save for a few minor details the game will be played exactly as outlined in the original suggestion.

The first person to whom we mentioned the idea was William Harridge, president of the American league. Our selling points were these:

1—Baseball needed an opportunity to show it was not in a state of decadence.

2—A Century of Progress Exposition was an ideal setting for baseball to display its wares.

3—All profits of the game would be donated to the Baseball Players' Charity fund.

4—THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE guaranteed all expenses in case the game was rained out.

5—The fans of the nation would be invited to help pick the all star teams.

We asked Mr. Harridge for his candid reaction. He answered as follows:

"I am all for it. While there never has been anything like it, I know no reason why it is impossible."

This was on April 20. Harridge promised that if we could interest the National league in the proposal he would submit the idea to the American league club owners at their meeting in Cleveland May 9.

The next day we called upon William L. Veeck, president of the Cubs. He said it was just the tonic baseball needed and offered to help interest other National league clubs.

Fortified with the indorsement of Harridge and Veeck, we wrote President John Heydler of the National league. His immediate reply was strong personal support and a promise to take a mail vote of the club owners.

There was nothing to do then but to wait. The American league at its meeting May 9 officially approved the game and instructed President Harridge to make necessary changes in the schedule to clear the way. From a National league owner we learned the vote was progressing satisfactorily in that organization.

On May 15 when it looked as if everything was set we received a wire from Mr. Heydler stating that the National league would be unable to accept the invitation, due to the objection of a few of the club owners.

There could be no game of the century, of course, without a team from the National league. The objections, we learned, came from St. Louis, Boston, and New York. St. Louis feared precedent, but said it would not take the responsibility of blocking the game. The complication involving New York and Boston was a double header scheduled between those teams at Boston July 5, the day before the game in Chicago. It is impossible to play even a single game in Boston and be in Chicago the next day.

The Giants were playing the Cubs at Wrigley field at the time, so we called upon Secretary Jim Tierney. He said New York would have no objection to the interleague contest if it could get out of the twin bill at Boston. That left the Boston club the last obstacle in the way of the big game. A telephone call to Charles Adams, owner of the Braves, brought the information that they would make no protest if President Heydler ordered the double header shifted to another date.

Mr. Heydler came to Chicago the next day. When he learned St. Louis, New York, and Boston were willing to take part, he immediately gave official approval and the game was on.

THE TRIBUNE then invited 55 newspapers in all sections of the United States to coöperate in conducting a poll of the fans to determine their idea of the strongest teams that could be recruited. All 55 papers accepted and 500,000 fans participated in the voting.

This is truly America's game. Never have so many people had a hand in the arrangement of a sports event.

DR. LOTSHAW, TAPE SCULPTOR, IS N. L. TRAINER

Andy Lotshaw, trainer of the Chicago Cubs, will be in charge of the National league arnica bottle and tape spool this afternoon, by special appointment of President John A. Heydler.

Dr. Lotshaw is known as one of the best capsicum spillers and tape spinners in baseball. He once won a prize for making a statue of Abraham Lincoln entirely out of tape, although he had never seen the martyred President.

It was said that Dr. Lotshaw's bench jockeying in the last world series was what really made Babe Ruth so angry. Mr. Heydler's instructions to Dr. Lotshaw did not include any vocal assignments, however.

HAGEN SHOOTS 68 TO LEAD BRITISH OPEN TOURNEY

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, July 5.—[Special.]—Walter Hagen led the field in the first round of the British open golf tournament today by scoring a 68, five under par.

Ed Dudley, American pro of Concordville, Pa., and Cyril J. H. Tolley, the big amateur who has called both sides of the Atlantic his home, tied for second place with 70 each—three under par.

Fred Robertson and Herbert C. Jolly, British contenders, and William [Pat] Nolan of Ireland turned in cards of 71 each.

Gene Sarazen of New York, the defending champion, had to content himself with 72 for the first round—four strokes behind Hagen. Tying Sarazen was George T. Dunlap Jr. of New York, Joe Kirkwood of Coral Gables, Fla., and Archie Compston, the British pro.

Smith Has 73.

The only other members of the American delegation to equal or better par were Horton Smith of Chicago and Densmor Shute of Philadelphia. They emerged with 73's. Ross Somerville, Canadian holder of the American amateur championship, also had 73.

Other American scores were: Leo Diegel of Detroit, 75; Olin Dutra of Los Angeles, and Paul Runyan of White Plains, N. Y., 76's; Craig Wood of New Jersey, Billy Burke of Connecticut, Joe Ezar of Texas, and Johnny Farrell of New York, 77's.

Field Closely Bunched.

The fairways were kept smoking all day by brilliant play. Twenty-two players finished within a range of five strokes of Hagen, making a brand of competition which promises big things for tomorrow and possibly later.

A feature of Hagen's play today was his eagle on the fifth hole, a feat which duplicated that of Bobby Jones when he won the title in 1927. Hagen holed putts of nine feet to score birdies on the first and third holes. He bagged another birdie on the 17th.

He holed his putts from all corners of the green. In scoring his eagle he dropped an iron shot 20 feet from the pin and ran it down.

A'S BEAT RED SOX, 4-2, AS OLIVER WINS 1ST START

Former Sand Lot Pitcher Fans Eight Batters.

Philadelphia, Pa., July 5.—[Special.]—The Philadelphia Athletics beat the Boston Red Sox today, 4 to 2, as Dick Oliver, former sandlot pitcher making his starting debut in the major leagues, struck out eight and allowed only seven hits. The Red Sox bunched three hits in the eighth to score all their runs, but the rally was halted when Oliver fanned Pinch Hitter Fothergill with two on base. Oliver also stopped a rally in the first inning when he fanned Smead Jolley with the bases loaded.

EX-GOV. HASKELL, FIRST CHIEF OF OKLAHOMA, DIES

Made Oil Fortune and Lost in Stocks.

Oklahoma City, Okla., July 5.—[Special.]—Charles Nathaniel Haskell, first governor of Oklahoma, serving the new state from 1907 to 1912, died today of pneumonia. He was 73 years old.

His career included the making of a fortune after he left the gubernatorial chair, the ensuing loss of virtually his entire wealth in Wall street, and, during his last years, his efforts to recoup.

Turns Next to Oil.

Typical of the rapidly changing scene in Oklahoma was his change from lawyer and railroad promoter, his rôle on entering Oklahoma from Ohio in 1901, to the governorship. He left the executive chair with virtually nothing in 1912, and became an oil millionaire. Following his Wall street ventures he returned to Muskogee, Okla., as president of the Municipal Gas company in 1929. Later he became president of the Sapulpa, Okla., Gas company.

Haskell built three railroad lines out of Muskogee and his work as promoter gave him a wide contact in politics. With the opening up of the railways the Indian Territory was flooded with newcomers from other states. Under that new stimulus the constitutional convention was organized, Haskell being sent as a delegate from Muskogee county. With the large gesture demanded in the quick events of the embryo state, Haskell rented an entire floor in the Turner hotel in Muskogee from which de directed activities in connection with the convention.

Moves State's Capital.

During his administration as governor he set a pace for acting without formality or red tape. He decided the state capital should be removed from Guthrie to Oklahoma City. While others debated and argued and Guthrie protested, Haskell tossed a few records into a suitcase, put it with the seal of state in his automobile and drove to Oklahoma City.

After the governorship he was for a time attorney for Harry Sinclair. He was connected with large interests, but later sold his estate at Glen Cove, L. I., for $509,000. In 1927, his fortune depleted, Haskell went to Fort Worth and dealt in oil. He spent a year in building a toll road between Tampico, an oil field city and the border city of Matamoras, both in Mexico. Meanwhile he bought an interest in oil and gas wells near Muskogee and in 1928 organized a gas distributing system.

Haskell was born in Putnam county, Ohio, March 13, 1860. He married Miss Lucy Pomeroy Oct. 11, 1881. She died in 1888. The following year he married Miss Lillie Gallup.

Drop Murder Case Against Taxi Driver and His Wife

Charges of murder against Stanley G. Wright, 28 years old, a former Chicago cab driver, and his wife, Marguerita, 22 years old, were stricken with leave to reinstate yesterday by Judge Harry A. Lewis on the motion of the state. Wright was returned from Brookhaven, Miss., and his wife brought back from Miami, Fla., on the charge that they beat to death Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley, 68 years old, owner of a rooming house in which the couple lived at 616 Wrightwood avenue last May 9. Assistant State's Attorney Richard Regan said there was no direct evidence against the defendants.

BANDITS CAUGHT TRYING TO OPEN LOOP STORE SAFE

Two robbers were captured early yesterday in the Liggett drug store in the Bismarck hotel building after they had invaded the home of the night manager, Armin Gaetkie, at 1927 South 23d street, Maywood, taking the store keys and leaving Gaetkie and his wife bound and gagged. The captives are Sigmund Slowizinsky, 26 years old, of El Paso, Tex., and Jack Kartesz, alias Francis Draper, 27 years old, 120 East Minniola avenue, Hinsdale. Gaetkie gave the men the wrong combination to the safe and after they had gone he wriggled free and telephoned the day manager, Lloyd Nelson, who notified the police. The bandits were trying to open the safe when the police arrived. They threw their revolvers on the floor and surrendered.

Sheriff Sues to Compel Payment of Policemen

Sheriff Meyering started legal action yesterday to retain the services of 100 highway policemen for whom the county board failed to appropriate salaries after July 1. Attorney William J. Flaherty filed a petition for a writ of mandamus in the Circuit court seeking to compel the board to add an appropriation to the 1933 budget to pay the men to the end of the year.

Rites Held in Woodstock for George T. Goodrow

Funeral services for George T. Goodrow, 334 North Kenilworth avenue, Oak Park, were held yesterday at Woodstock. Mr. Goodrow, who was 73 years old, was formerly manager of the Benjamin Moore Paint company. He died last Saturday in New Orleans, where he had gone on a visit. He is survived by a daughter.

W. S. L. ANDERSON DIES; MERCHANT IN LAKE FOREST

William S. L. Anderson, 75 years old, pioneer Lake Forest merchant, died yesterday in Alice Home hospital after a brief illness. He lived in a home at 554 Western avenue, Lake Forest, built many years ago by his father, the late James Anderson.

Mr. Anderson was born in Shields township in 1858 and moved to Lake Forest two years later, living there ever after. In 1863 the family opened a general store. This was later converted into a dry goods store and operated by Mr. Anderson and his brothers, George and Joseph. Mr. Anderson was the first child baptized in the First Presbyterian church of Lake Forest.

Funeral services will be held at that church, of which he was formerly an elder, at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow. Burial will be in Lake Forest cemetery. Surviving Mr. Anderson are his widow, Anna, and four children, William F., Stanley D., and John F. Anderson, and Mrs. W. J. Fitzgerald.

W. A. HEILEMANN'S 6 BROTHERS ARE HIS PALLBEARERS

Funeral services for William Arthur Heilemann, 50 years old, of 1123 Miller avenue, Oak Park, who died in Boulder, Cal., last Sunday, will be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon in the Masonic temple, 127 North Oak Park avenue. Burial will be in Forest Home cemetery. Mr. Heilemann was born in London and came to Chicago with his parents, the Rev. and Mrs. E. A. Heilemann, in 1890. Mr. Heilemann was paymaster at the Richardson Lake company plant in Melrose Park for the last 17 years. Six surviving brothers will be pallbearers: Ernest and Henry, both of Forest Park; Dr. John Heilemann of Clearwater, Mich.; Frank of Evanston, and Albert and Otto of Maywood. Surviving also are his widow, Marie, and four sisters.

Chicago Girl Sues Head of Finishing School for $50,000

The praecipe of a suit for $50,000 against Richard G. Cox, president of Gulf Park college, a finishing school at Gulfport, Miss., was filed in the Superior court yesterday by Miss Alice B. Shepard, 18 years old, 1535 Birchwood avenue. The girl's father, C. H. Shepard, a consulting engineer, said his daughter attended the school from September, 1932, until last April. She returned to the school in January after an illness and went on a voyage to Panama with other students. Cox treated her unkindly, Mr. Shepard said, and has since refused to give her credits to enter Northwestern university.

4 Year Old Boy Run Over by Milk Wagon and Killed

Harold Duggan, 4 years old, 7937 Evans avenue, was killed yesterday when he was run over by a milk wagon in an alley in the rear of 7951 Evans avenue. While the driver of the wagon was making a delivery the horse started and pulled the wagon over the child, who was playing with several other boys in the alley.

J. ELLSWORTH GROSS, ONCE WORLD FAMOUS PHOTOGRAPHER, DIES

J. Ellsworth Gross, at one time one of the leading photographers in the United States and later prominent in Y. M. C. A. work in France, died yesterday in the J. C. King's Home for Aged Men, 360 East Garfield boulevard. He was 70 years old.

J. ELLSWORTH GROSS.

Mr. Gross was famous in Chicago in the early years of the century as a theatrical, commercial, and children's photographer. He turned to photography while convalescing from injuries suffered when an elevator in which he was riding fell three floors.

Specializing in studies of newsboys and street gamins, his work became world famous, and in 1905 he won a Royal academy gold medal and two first prizes in the exhibit at the London photographic salon. He later turned to theatrical photography and in 1911 filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy, charging that his failure was caused by failure of opera and theatrical stars to pay their bills.

During the world war Mr. Gross was in charge of recreation camps in France. Gen. Henry T. Allen in his memoirs said that "500,000 boys in France knew Daddy Gross." Funeral services will be held at 10 a. m. tomorrow in the chapel at 63d street and Harvard avenue. Burial will be in Oakwoods cemetery.

YRIOGOYEN RITES TODAY; 100,000 PLAN TO MARCH

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUENOS AIRES, July 5.—A long line of people has filed past the bier of former President Hipolito Yriogoyen for more than 30 hours. The line shows no sign of ending tonight. It is estimated that more than 100,000 will march for three hours tomorrow in the funeral procession.

Twelve special trains are bringing crowds of followers from the country districts, while hundreds of automobiles are reported en route to the capital.

All army and police leaves of absence have been suspended while special precautions are being taken to prevent possible disorders during tomorrow's procession to the cemetery.

Mrs. Hardy, Wife of Actor, Says Her Husband Gambles

Hollywood, Cal., July 5.—[Special.]—Oliver [Babe] Hardy, fat member of the movie comedy team of Hardy and Laurel, not only wagered on horse races, roulette games, golf matches, and at poker parties but he generally lost, and he got very grouchy about it, according to a divorce cross-bill filed today by Mrs. Myrtle Lee Hardy. Hardy also knew a "Hollywood blonde," name not mentioned, too well, his wife said in her legal papers.

STOCKS WEAKEN AS WORLD NEWS PUZZLES TRADE

Leading Issues Sag; Rails Strong.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 5.—[Special.]—Speculative Wall street was in a befuddled state of mind today and the stock market paid fees in the form of losses of 1 to 3 points in leading trading issues.

The news from London indicating an early breakup of the economic conference; an afternoon cable from Paris insisting that France was about to go off the gold standard despite official denials; bewilderment over the probable value of the "new dollar," and the reaction in wheat all contributed to the unsettlement of price movements.

The spectacular runup in Monday's dealings also had probably made the market a trifle topheavy and this may have had some effect in causing traders to favor the selling side. At any rate the list was under more or less pressure most of the day and at their worst prices were off anywhere from 1 to 4 points from their previous closing levels.

Some Recovery Toward Close.

Some short covering appeared toward the last, however, and final figures were generally well above the day's minimums.

An assortment of specialties and two or three groups, notably the rails and coppers, managed to run counter to the general trend and this gave the overnight record something of an irregular look despite the seemingly general scope of the selling.

A large proportion of the earlier sales probably represented profit taking by traders fortunate enough to have moved into the market in time to ride Monday's rising wave to the crest. A mid-afternoon selling flurry was ascribed to the dip in wheat, but the larger part of the selling orders undoubtedly represented liquidation superinduced by the uncertain trend of events in the world economic picture.

Rails Spurt at Close.

In the last hour the rails came to life and led the market once more from its lows of the day. The final gong found some of the carriers as much as 4 to 7 points above their forenoon lows.

Railway equipment shares also came in for profitable demand.

The coppers had the advantage of a sharp rise in the price of the metal and the group put on a fairly healthy performance.

Aviation issues also looked up briskly in the late afternoon dealings, as also did a number of specialties. Repeal stocks recovered sharply but the demonstration here did not attain the proportions which have characterized this group in sessions of the recent past.

Oil shares could not do a great deal with the announcement of a new rise in Midcontinent crude prices.

MINNESOTA CUTS SALE PRICE OF BREWERY STOCK

St. Paul, Minn., July 5.—(AP)—The state securities commission by a two to one vote today registered for sale in Minnesota 400,000 common stock shares of the Minneapolis Brewing company, to be sold for not more than $3.50 per share.

Two investment firms, Piper, Jaffray & Hopwood of Minneapolis and Kalman & Co., of St. Paul, had requested permission to sell the stock at $8 per share. The stock was listed on the Chicago curb last week. It closed at $8.75 there today.

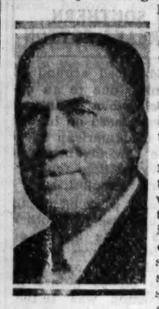
Stock Selling Regulations to Be Told Today



COL. CHARLES H. MARCH.
[Harris-Ewing Photo]

Washington, July 5.—(AP)—Regulations for protecting the investing public against the sale of worthless securities were completed by the federal trade commission late tonight and will be promulgated tomorrow.

They are the rules by which the commission will administer the federal securities act for government supervision of interstate sales. The law signed by President Roosevelt May 27 was a major item in his special session program.

Along with the regulations, the commission will make public the forms on which any business issuing securities must report a detailed financial statement to the government.

Receive First Registrations July 7.

Chairman Charles March said the first registration certificates will be received by the commission Friday, July 7, and not on July 6, as originally planned. It was considered unlikely any business would desire to file a registration statement until the commission's own forms are available.

It was learned also that Baldwin B. Bane, a Virginia Democrat, will have charge of the securities division of the commission and serve as active administrator of the law. Bane has been a trial attorney for the commission since 1919, served overseas during the war, and is a graduate of Randolph Macon and Washington and Lee university. He is 42 years old.

Registration Mandatory July 27.

The registration of all securities sold in interstate commerce does not become mandatory until July 27. Registration statements, however, must be on file 20 days before becoming effective. Therefore, in order to sell new securities after July 27 companies must report their financial condition beforehand.

The commission has 10 days after receiving a registration statement to notify filers of any inaccuracies. It may at any time thereafter, however, cancel the registration should it decide the statement contained misrepresentations.

"Let the seller beware" is the watchword of the new act, which March said "will change the artery of commerce." Civil and criminal liability is possible for violators of the law.

Philadelphia Banks Cut Time Deposit Rate to 1%

Philadelphia, Pa., July 5.—(AP)—The Philadelphia clearing house banks today announced a reduction in the maximum interest rate on time deposits to 1 per cent from 1½ per cent, effectives as of July 1 last. The 1½ per cent rate on time deposits has been in effect since April 1.

CORN SPURTS UP TO 74 CENTS AS WHEAT RECEDES

Chinch Bug Menace Causes Buying.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Corn became the leader in the grain markets yesterday. Uncertainty as to the outcome of the new crop, with reports of the worst infestation of chinch bugs in Illinois ever known, and the possibility of heavy damage by the pest, started public buying on a scale that dwarfed anything witnessed in recent years. Prices advanced almost 5 cents per bushel over the early low.

All classes of traders vied in competing for the limited offerings on the way up. The May future touched 74 cents at the extreme, the highest level witnessed for that delivery since January, 1931. According to trade gossip, there was buying of corn against sales of wheat to close spreads, which added to the excitement.

Other Grains Follow Corn.

Wheat, rye, and barley followed corn into new ground for the season, but sentiment in these grains was less bullish than in corn. Heavy profit taking in oats developed, and at the extreme the price was only fractionally above the finish of Monday.

Price changes in all grains were extremely rapid throughout the day. At times wheat and corn in the pit were being traded in ½ cent or more out of line with the figures on the blackboard.

Heavy profit taking made its appearance on the bulges. To many observers the market acted overbought and in a position to decline rapidly in case of adverse developments, either in the way of political developments abroad or at Washington. So strong was this belief that many professionals who have been on the bull side lately took profits and materially curtailed their operations on either side.

Smaller traders, many of whom had large profits on recent purchases, showed a disposition to accept them, having in mind the break of over 9 cents per bushel witnessed in wheat from the high on June 27 to the low on June 29.

Corn Advances Rapidly.

Corn started out slightly easier on scattered selling, but moved upward almost immediately, with the general public and the east aggressive buyers. Offerings were not large and stop loss orders were caught on the way up. Toward the last selling pressure increased, and part of the bulge was lost. Net gains, however, were 2¼ to 3 cents, with July leading. The latter was 59⅝ cents at the last, with September, 63¼ to 63½ cents; Decem-

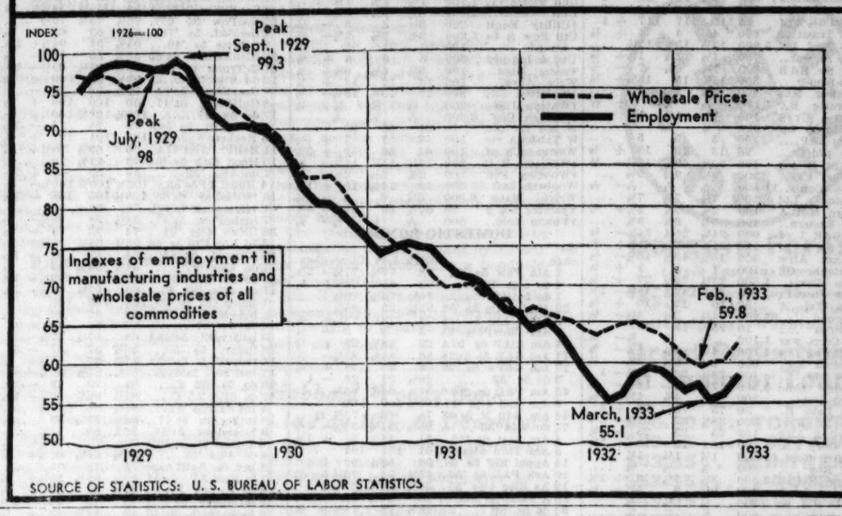
Fluctuations in Employment and Wholesale Prices Compared 1929-1933



SOURCE OF STATISTICS: U. S. BUREAU OF LABOR STATISTICS

Railroad Freight Loadings Set New High Mark for Year

Car loadings reported by a number of leading railroads yesterday indicate that the week of July 1 will set a new high mark for the year in this important industrial index.

Loadings on the New York Central for the week of July 1 totaled 104,967 cars, a gain of 42 per cent over the like week in 1932 and a new high record for 1933. Loadings for the 1932 week totaled 73,937 cars, while loadings for the preceding week of 1933 were 101,231 cars.

For the fourth consecutive week the North Western set a new 1933 record. Loadings for the week of July 1 totaled 23,933 cars, compared with 19,203 in the like week of 1932 and with 22,905 in the preceding week of this year. Loadings of grain continue to lead in the increased business and reports along La Salle street are to the effect that there are important amounts of wheat in the northwest waiting to be moved.

I. C. 6,474 Cars Over 1932.

Illinois Central loadings totaled 27,069, compared with 25,872 in the preceding week and with 20,595 cars in the like week of 1932. The road reported that its loadings for June totaled 109,244 cars, compared with 96,158 in June, 1932. For the first six months of 1933 loadings totaled 595,214 cars, compared with 624,597 in the same period of last year.

Rock Island loadings for the week of July 1 were 14,889 cars—an increase of 1,554 cars, or 11.7 per cent, over the same week in 1932. Missouri Pacific loadings totaled 21,799 cars compared with 16,645 in the like week of 1932. International-Great Northern loadings were 5,838 as compared with 3,073.

Other Roads Advance.

The Wabash reported that its loadings for the week of July 1 totaled 12,398 cars compared with 11,418 in the like week of 1932. Total June loadings were 52,041 cars compared with 49,471 cars last year.

The sharp increase in car loadings is reflected in the earnings reports of the roads since such rigid economies have been put into effect that even moderate increases in gross revenues are sufficient to cause substantial advances in net railway operating incomes.

Carl Gray, president of the Union Pacific, stated yesterday that the June net operating income of his line approached $1,500,000 compared with $890,810 in 1932 and $1,139,913 in the same month of 1931.

GAIN IN SALES BY MONTGOMERY WARD IS SHOWN

June sales of Montgomery Ward & Co. showed a substantial gain over June, 1932, the company reported yesterday. Sales last month totaled $16,165,180, compared with $14,840,109 a year ago. This was the second consecutive month in 1933 that sales showed an increase over the like month of the preceding year.

For the five month period closing June 30, 1933—Montgomery Ward's fiscal year starts Feb. 1—sales totaled $68,166,966, compared with $71,198,165 in the like 1932 period. This was a decrease of $3,031,199, or 4.26 per cent. The May, 1933, increase over May, 1932, business was 6.57 per cent. Business in the four month period closing May 31 was 7.73 behind that of the like 1932 period.

The F. W. Woolworth company reported June sales at $19,343,914, an increase of 2.2 per cent over a year ago. May sales were 3.5 per cent under the same month of 1932.

Stalemate at London Cheers Business Men

BY HOWARD WOOD.

La Salle street yesterday viewed with satisfaction what it regarded as the impending breakdown of the world economic and monetary conference at London.

Bankers were advising inquiring customers that failure of the conference at this time was a favorable development from this country's standpoint and brokers were telling clients than it was a bullish factor.

Men whose opinions on financial and economic affairs are highly respected have been saying for weeks that the United States had nothing to gain from such an international conference at this time and that any acts it might enter into would only hamper the nation in carrying out its distinctly national price raising plan.

Meantime there is much speculation as to what will happen in Europe if the conference is adjourned or recessed for a few months.

The consensus of opinion along "the street" seems to be that France can not remain on the gold standard indefinitely and that when she goes off the rest of the so-called "gold bloc" will go off with her.

In this connection it is interesting to note the peculiar steadiness of the gold holdings of the Bank of France during the last few weeks. That hoarders have been pulling gold out of the Bank of France in substantial amounts has been no secret. And yet the institution's gold holdings have remained at approximately 80 billion francs for weeks.

Foreign exchange experts along La Salle street when asked about this strange steadiness of gold holdings say there is only one answer—that the Bank of France must have been offsetting the hoarders' drain on the gold reserves by buying additional gold in London, where the only free bullion market is maintained.

If that is the case the French gold position is actually stronger than it was a few weeks ago. The Bank of France has as much gold as ever and the hoarders have a lot more. Presumably France could force most of the hoarder gold back into the Bank of France if she so chose, just as the United States gocernment forced citizens to give up their gold holdings.

There is no way of determining how

DOLLAR CHECKS DECLINE; RUMOR BRITISH BUYING

Worth 74.2 Cents in Terms of Franc.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 5.—The American dollar had an erratic time in the foreign exchange markets today. It gave ground sharply against principal foreign currencies in the early trading, but recovered to finish the day near Tuesday's last quotations.

Measured in terms of French francs, the principal gold standard currency, the dollar was worth 74.2 cents in gold at the end of the day. Earlier in the day it had dipped to 73.4 cents, a new low. The pound sterling at one time gained six cents against the dollar, but had lost more than half of it.

British Buying Reported.

The spirited rally lent support to the reports that the British are making a determined effort to keep the pound and dollar at approximately their present ratio. The pound was worth $4.49¾ at the close, up 2¼ cents on the day.

French francs were quoted at 5.34 cents in American money at one time today, but relapsed to 5.28¼, a net gain of 9 points for the day.

Currencies of other "gold bloc" countries were strong in relation to the dollar. The Dutch guilder was up a cent to 54 cents and Swiss francs and Belgian money.

Events Confuse Traders.

While large bear operations were reported in the foreign markets, trading was quiet here. Speculators are apparently in a quandary as to what the next step will be.

One certainty overshadows all others. That is that the Roosevelt administration will pay little attention to the fluctuations of the dollar against foreign moneys and will concentrate its efforts on the domestic recovery program. When, if, and at what level this country will return to gold are questions of no immediate interest.

MAKERS OF FARM IMPLEMENTS TO FORMULATE CODE

Heads of National Group Will Meet Tomorrow.

Directors of the National Association of Farm Implement Manufacturers' association will meet in Chicago tomorrow to consider the drafting of a code for regulating the industry under the recovery act.

Fifteen members of the board, representing principal makers of farm machinery, are expected to attend the conference. Charles Deere Wiman, Moline, Ill., is president of the association.

Particular interest is attached to the implement makers' code plans because Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, industrial administrator, was formerly identified with the industry and is a friend and fellow townsman of Wiman. Moreover, the recent upturn in farm prices has brightened the prospects of the industry, which has been hard hit by the distress of agriculture in recent years.

Scrap Dealers Fix Wages.

A minimum wage of $15 for a maximum working week of 40 hours for unskilled laborers was approved yesterday as part of its industrial code by the Institute of Scrap Iron and Steel. Four hundred wholesale scrap dealers were present at the institute's meeting at the Hotel Sherman.

Benjamin Schwartz, director general of the institute, said that the new wage schedule represents an increase of approximately 25 per cent over the present average. The lowest wage now paid is $10 a week for 55 hours of labor, he said. The new scale applies only in the north and industry will abide by the federal administration's opinion on a fair scale for the south, he said.

The scrap men's convention will close today with the election of officers.

Restaurant Men to Meet.

Officers of the National Restaurant association will meet at the National Restaurant mart, 666 Lake Shore drive, today and tomorrow to prepare a code under the industrial recovery act. Representatives of the larger chain restaurants will attend. Chairmen of the committees will be Fred A. Simonsen, Detroit, president; Myron Green, Kansas City, chairman of the national affairs committee, and Guy Gundaker, Philadelphia, chairman of the legal and legislative committee.

The restaurateurs face the problem of coördinating an industry comprising more than 135,000 units and fixing minimum wage scales and maximum hours for more than 1,400,000 workers.

HOLDS OFFICIALS CHANGED MINDS ON DETROIT BANK

Lawyer Testifies Directors Told It Was Solvent.

Detroit, Mich., July 5.—[Special.]—The one man grand jury bank investigation was resumed today before Judge Harry B. Keidan, with Thomas G. Long, attorney for the closed First National bank, on the stand most of the day.

Long told the jury that Arthur P. Leyburn, former chief examiner for the Seventh Federal Reserve district, had informed directors as late as March 10, nearly a month after the banking holiday was declared, that the institution was solvent.

"On Friday, March 10, there was a directors' meeting to work on a plan to reopen the bank under legislation just passed," Long testified. "Leyburn was called in for information as to the attitude of the controller of the currency. The examiner was asked if the bank was still solvent, and his answer was: 'The First National bank is not insolvent. The controller has not said it was insolvent. Don't even mention the word insolvency.'"

Banks Termed Insolvent.

The reason that the treasury department has steadily given for not reopening Detroit's two national banks has been that the federal examination, made under Leyburn's direction, had shown both banks to be insolvent.

Long also testified that a plan for reopening Detroit's two national banks, submitted to Washington in March, was balked by the objections of the Chrysler corporation and the General Motors corporation. The plan had been approved by the directors of the two banks and also by the big depositors except Chrysler and General Motors, he said.

"If Washington had approved the plan the banks could have reopened," Long added.

Tells of Plan to Reopen.

Long told of a plan to reopen the bank that would be acceptable in Detroit and would fit in with federal laws.

"We laid the plan before Washington officials, and had it worked out in complete detail by March 16," Long continued. "It was approved by directors of both the First National and Guardian National banks, and by the big depositors, with the exceptions of Chrysler corporation and General Motors."

N. Y. CURB PLANS TO REFORM ITS UNLISTED TRADE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 5.—Reforms in methods of handling unlisted securities on the Curb exchange, which have been tacitly approved by Attorney General William S. Bennett, are expected to be incorporated in the exchange's rules and regulations by the board of governors tomorrow. If approved they are to become effective on July 17.

One striking change is a rule to provide that no security shall be admitted to unlisted trading over the objection of the issuing company, if it can be shown that the admission might work harm to the company. Recent investigation showed that stocks in forty-seven companies were traded on an unlisted basis, despite the protests of the companies.

Another proposed rule would not permit unlisted trading in a company that did not have at least 100,000 shares of common stock outstanding, of which at least a quarter were in the hands of the public. This provision, it is understood, is designed to assure an actual market in all issues and to prevent any efforts at a corner.

Stock Offering Circular Admits Profits May Drop

Sale of 147,500 shares Kingsbury Breweries company capital stock to Blyth & Co. was accompanied yesterday by the issuance of a circular stating that the earnings of the firm in the future will run considerably below the present rate.

Details of the company's position and prospects are set forth in separate reports made by Ford, Bacon & Co., corporate engineers and Schwarz Laboratories, brewery consultants. The information contained in the circular is perhaps the most complete yet furnished in connection with a common stock offering under the new federal securities law.

The engineers point out that the company should be able to net $1.50 per barrel of beer under normal conditions. Profit is now running substantially in excess of that figure, they state.

The Schwarz firm in its report asserts that the sulphur dioxide content found in samples of the company's brands is above that usually present in 3.2 per cent alcoholic beers. The opinion is expressed that the sulphur dioxide content could be reduced to a negligible quantity.

These and other facts are set forth in great detail, marking a wide departure from the methods formerly used in the preparation of investment circulars.

The company was formerly known as the Manitowoc Products company. It operates three breweries in Wisconsin. The new name conforms with that of its leading brand.

Blyth & Co.'s circular on the issue states: "These shares are offered as a speculation."

The company earned $107,719 in May after charges which compares with $182,656 in the preceding 5 months and $191,242 for the full 12 months of 1932.

Paul Perry Robinson, connected with a La Salle street house, tells this story of supersalesmanship. A distinguished appearing man of portly figure stepped up to his secretary and said: "I am Mr. Soandso of New York. May I see Mr. Robinson." The secretary asked the visitor the nature of his business. In a curt voice the portly gentleman replied: "I said I was from New York and Mr. Robinson will be very glad to hear what I have to tell him." The secretary, impressed, ushered the visitor into Mr. Robinson's private office. "Could I interest you in some safety razor blades?" was the message the visitor brought.

The effect of the new federal securities law is reflected in the following notice which Jackson Bros., Boesel & Co. attach to their daily market letter: "This market letter is an expression of our views and opinions with respect to the securities or commodities markets or particular securities mentioned below. It is not intended, or to be considered as an offer to sell or buy, or a solicitation of an offer to sell or buy any security or commodity."

* *

Buying of stock for cash is continuing on a large scale, a partner in one of the leading brokerage houses stated yesterday. He attributed this partly to the fact that government issues are returning a very low yield and to hedging against inflation.

COST PLUS FAIR PROFIT HELD RIGHT BASIS TO LINK UP TRANSPORT

BY H. A. LAIRD.

[Traffic Manager, Chicago Tribune.]

In his concurrence in the decision of the interstate commerce commission in No. 14734, involving rates on petroleum products from New Orleans to Memphis lower than to intermediate points, Mr. Eastman got down to the fundamentals of transportation coordination.

He suggests that actual costs of handling traffic by rail, water, and highway should be ascertained and a system of rates constructed on a cost-plus-reasonable-profit basis to enable each transportation industry to serve the field to which it is best adapted. He submitted his observations, not as final conclusions, but to stimulate thought on what he regarded as a very important and serious question.

This is encouraging as showing that the mind of Commissioner Eastman is wandering away from so-called scientific rate construction toward practical transportation.

"The trouble with many railroad rates, incidentally, is that they are too high, judged by cost standards, and offer an unnecessary invitation to competition," he says.

When the railways had a practical monopoly of transportation they could decide that sugar, as an instance, is an article of practically level consumption all over the country with no export rates necessary. Therefore, it could stand relatively high fifth class rates because a lower basis would not stimulate consumption.

As soon as waterway and truck competition appeared, the railways were forced to meet it and the consequent reduced rates are frequently erroneously used as demonstrations of the economy of other forms of transportation.

It is hoped that Mr. Eastman's invitation for discussion of coördination of transportation facilities, not as an ideal, but as a practical proposition, will be met with nation-wide response.

Muessel Brewing Shares Listed on Chicago Curb

The Chicago Curb Exchange yesterday listed 160,000 shares of $5 par common stock of the Muessel Brewing company, South Bend, Ind. Thompson Ross and company have bought 80,000 shares from the company at $5.10 a share and 25,500 shares at the same price from individuals, the curb announced.

MIDCONTINENT OIL ADVANCED TO 85 CENT TOP

Tulsa, Okla., July 5.—(AP)—Crude oil prices moved suddenly upward today to a new 1933 midcontinent top of 85 cents a barrel and were joined immediately by climbing refinery markets. Several crude purchasers announced increases today and other companies indicated they would agree to the changes in the next 48 hours.

For Oklahoma, Kansas, and north and north central Texas the new prices range from 61 cents for oil of below 29 gravity to 85 cents for oil above 40 gravity. The previous top price was 52 cents. East Texas oil advanced less than that from the other areas, going from a flat price of 50 cents to a flat 75 cents a barrel. Texas Panhandle prices advanced 27 cents to a 73 cent top.

Tank car gasoline prices were advanced to 4¼ cents a gallon. Marketers said they would offer the low grade tomorrow at a minimum price of 4½ cents a gallon.

The increase was brought on by a combination of circumstances embracing imminent federal control under the industrial recovery act, reductions in east Texas production, low surface storage, and firmer retail prices for gasoline.

WESTERN LARD STOCKS ARE LARGEST IN YEARS

Lard stocks at leading western packing points are 121,231,234 pounds, an increase of 56,685,216 pounds in June. This is the largest accumulation in recent years. A year ago they were 95,339,159 pounds, and in 1929 the aggregate was 133,390,122 pounds.

At the close lard futures were 5 to 10 cents net lower. Regular spot lard was 2½ cents higher at $6.62½, loose was up 5 cents to $5.80, and leaf was unchanged at $5.75.

Dry salted clear bellies advanced 2½ to 5 cents on futures but remained unchanged for cash lots at $7.25. Liverpool lard prices were unchanged.

ber, 67¾ to 67⅞ cents, and May, 73 to 73¼ cents.

There was no rain of consequence in the spring wheat belt over the holiday and messages from Minneapolis indicated that unless additional moisture was received, it might be necessary to reduce estimates on the probable crop.

Wheat Reacts Rapidly.

The wheat market was regarded as acting strained by many observers and heavy profit taking appeared on the advances. Wheat reacted quickly from the top and closed ⅞ to 1⅛ cents lower, with July at 96⅞ cents; September, 99⅝ to 99⅞ cents; December, $1.02⅝ to 1.02½, and May at $1.06¾ to 1.06⅞. The latter sold at $1.09½ at the extreme.

Winnipeg wheat closed unchanged to ⅛ cent lower, campared with Monday, while Liverpool was 2⅜ to 2⅝ cents higher.

At no time were oats more than a fraction above Monday's close. Heavy profit taking developed at the start and while there was a recovery of an early break of nearly 3 cents, the close was easy with net losses of 1¼ to 1¾ cents. Profit taking also developed in rye, with net losses of ½ to 1 cent. Barley lost 1 to 1¾ cents for the day.

TWO STEEL FIRMS RAISE PRICES FOR 3D QUARTER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 5.—The American Steel and Wire company and the American Sheet and Tin Plate company, subsidiaries of United States Steel corporation, have increased prices for third quarter deliveries $5 a ton.

The advances were puzzling to Wall street, inasmuch as the Carnegie Steel company, another United States Steel unit, last week announced a price schedule for third quarter deliveries unchanged from the second quarter scale.

At the same time those who keep in close touch with affairs of the Steel corporation have expressed the opinion that Carnegie's prices probably were temporary, pending a possible statement regarding basic wage changes which may come from big steel within the next few days.

UNITED AIR LINES TO ADD 15 FAST BOEING PLANES

The construction of 15 more three mile a minute Boeing multi-motored transport planes has been authorized by P. G. Johnson, president of United Air Lines. The total number of transports in production for United Air Lines and for sale to other operators is now 75. The value of the planes is more than $4,000,000, constituting the largest single order ever placed for multi-motored passenger planes.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE TURNS PARAMOUNT DEFICIT TO SURPLUS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 5.—The Paramount Pictures corporation has wiped out a deficit of $1,630,000 and now has a surplus, it was testified today at the examination of the bankrupt Paramount-Publix corporation before Federal Referee Henry K. Davis. The Pictures corporation is a subsidiary of Paramount-Publix which has charge of the manufacture and distribution of motion pictures.

Ralph A. Kohn, treasurer of the bankrupt company, testified that the deficit had existed as of Jan. 28 last. As of April 1, the deficit had been reduced to $400,000, the witness said, and now has been wiped out entirely and a surplus earned.

This was largely accomplished as a result of the foreign exchange situation, the witness explained, 25 per cent of the Pictures corporation's business being foreign.

The testimony was evoked during examination of the witness by Frederick Sheffield, counsel for a bondholders' committee.

Mr. Kohn testified further that the company did not plan to borrow funds with which to produce pictures in the next six months.

Hubbard Woods Bank to Pay 10% to Depositors

State Auditor Edward J. Barrett announced yesterday that a 10 per cent dividend will be paid about July 10 to depositors of the Hubbard Woods Trust and Savings bank, Winnetka. The distribution authorized aggregates $18,215. A previous dividend of 10 per cent was paid depositors. The bank closed in February last year.

LONDON WOOL.

LONDON, July 5.—(AP)—There were 10,415 bales of wool offered at the auction today of which 9,977 were sold. The fine selection offered met with strong competition at firm prices. All fine wools are now being quoted at 20 to 25 per cent over closing rates of the May series.

Joint Stock Land Bank Bonds

The Land Bank System of this Country has been in existence over sixteen years; for quite the same period, members of our firm have specialized in these securities.

The promoter of yesterday is reaping with havoc again today in another way. Investors in these securities are advised to counsel with bankers and brokers of established reputation or with Babson's Statistical Organization, Moody's Investors Service or Standard Statistics Company.

Bad advice and bad prices may be the, otherwise, costly result.

THE MUESSEL BREWING CO.

Principal Office—South Bend, Indiana

Capitalization The capitalization of The Muessel Brewing Co., upon completion of this financing, will be 160,000 shares capital stock ($5.00 par value) authorized and outstanding.

The Company Mr. D. Sherman Ellison, President of The Muessel Brewing Co., summarizes his letter as follows: The Muessel Brewing Co., incorporated under the Laws of the State of Indiana in 1893, owns the business founded in 1852, by Christoph Muessel. The business was conducted by the Muessel family from 1852 to 1922, when the Company became inactive. Prior to the Company's reorganization on June 21, 1933, under the Indiana General Corporation Act of 1929 its authorized and issued capital stock was 1,000 shares of the par value of $25 each. Its articles of reorganization provide for a new issue of 160,000 shares of single class common stock of the par value of $5 each, of which 80,000 shares are in substitution for the previously outstanding 1,000 shares and 80,000 shares are to be issued against new capital. The Company has License No. 11 from the Excise Director of the State of Indiana for the manufacture and sale of beer, and is now preparing its application for a Federal Permit.

To meet the requirement of the statutes of Indiana that fifty-one percentum (51%) of the voting stock of any corporation holding a permit from the Excise Director of Indiana to manufacture alcoholic malt beverages in that State shall at all times while such permit remains in force be owned by persons who are bona fide residents of the State of Indiana, it is provided in the Articles of Amendment to the Articles of Reorganization of The Muessel Brewing Co. that if at any time less than fifty-one percentum (51%) of the outstanding capital stock of the Company shall be so owned (while said requirement continues and the Company holds such a permit and is engaged or preparing to engage in the manufacture of alcoholic malt beverages in Indiana) the shares of the Company's stock not owned by bona fide residents of Indiana shall ipso facto become non-voting stock, but such shares shall automatically be restored to full voting power if and whenever not less than fifty-one percentum (51%) of the outstanding shares shall again be owned by persons who are bona fide residents of Indiana.

Arrangements have been made for the initial distribution in Indiana of substantially in excess of 51% of the stock of The Muessel Brewing Co.

Property The Company's property, advantageously situated in the city of South Bend, Indiana, comprises approximately 15 acres of land, and 6 major buildings, machinery and equipment. The brew-house was built new in 1915. We are advised by Mr. J. J. Schwarz, Chicago, specialist in brewery design and equipment, that upon completion of additions, and installation of new equipment, contemplated with this financing, the plant will have an annual manufacturing capacity of 200,000 barrels, and bottling capacity of 150,000 barrels per annum and that the plant can be in production on or about August 1st, 1933.

Purpose of Issue The proceeds of the sale of 80,000 shares of this Capital Stock will be used for additions and improvements to the plant and to furnish working capital for the Company. The proceeds of the sale of 25,500 shares will be used by Mr. D. Sherman Ellison in acquiring the interest of other members of the Muessel family in The Muessel Brewing Co.

New York, July 5.—Against a background of rapidly rising prices for all bond groups high grade European bonds rose sharply from 1 to 6 points today on foreign buying, inspired by the depreciation of the dollar.

British 5½s, Swiss 5½s, Dutch East Indies 5½s, French 7s and 7½s, and French provincial issues rose precipitately, some of these issues making new all-time high records.

Dipping Dollar Is Cause.

Each day the dollar slides off to a new low figure in terms of European currencies, buying of dollar bonds listed here increases owing to the reduction in the cost of these issues measured in terms of European currencies.

Dutch East Indies bonds gained as much as 6 points British 5½s rose to 111⅛, compared with a low mark of 101⅜ for this year. French governments gained, but buying was restricted owing to fear that the country may be forced off the gold standard, reducing the value of the franc in terms of dollars.

Speculative Issues Rise.

Depreciation of the dollar continued to exert a powerful influence upon domestic bond prices, forcing speculative issues up from 1 to 4 points in many instances. High grade domestic bonds were firm, with institutions taking most of the bonds sold.

Alleghany corporation 5s, Baltimore and Ohio refunding 5s, Central of Georgia 5s, Chesapeake corporation 5s, Chicago and North Western convertible 4½s, Rock Island 4½s, issues of Missouri Pacific, Southern Pacific and others, rose sharply in active trading.

Warren Brothers.

Investors' Guide: Any information in regard to Warren Brothers stock will be highly appreciated.—S. E.

Answer: Warren Brothers company is one of the leading builders of streets, highways, etc. Normally about half its business is domestic and half foreign. Unstable currency situation and weakened credit position of foreign countries with which the company does business have made the company almost entirely dependent on domestic business during the last two years.

Unsatisfactory credit position of many local domestic governmental units has cut down business from that source. The company hopes to secure a large amount of business as a result of the national public works relief program.

Gross income for 1932 was $4,100,000, against $9,212,000 for 1931 and $28,191,000 for 1930. Net income for 1932 was $318,000, or 37 cents per common share, against net of $936,000, or $1.67 per common share, for 1931. Net for 1930 for $3,025,000.

At the close of 1932 current assets were $1,328,000 and current liabilities amounted to $238,000. Cash alone was $783,000. Working capital was $1,090,000, against $1,621,000 the year before.

The company holds $8,943,000 Cuban notes, due 1935. These were received as final payment on the $73,000,000 Cuban highway construction job. Five interest coupons were deferred until June 30, 1933. On that date the company was to have received $1,450,000. The payment, however, was not made.

Funded debt totaled $7,663,000. There were outstanding 19,719 shares of $1 first preferred shares, 7,248 shares of $1.16 2-3 second preferred, 33,625 shares of $3 preferred, and 172,923 shares of common, all with no stated par value.

No dividends have been paid on any class of preferred since Jan. 2, 1932.

All classes of preferred are speculative and the common is more so.

Associated Mortgage Investors.

Investors' Guide: Will you please tell me if Associated Mortgage Investors of Rochester, N. Y., are still in existence. I have an agreement which was issued by them in lieu of an unpaid mortgage.—Miss B. A. C.

Answer: The following communication from a Rochester bank answers your question: "This company made a general assignment for benefit of creditors on Dec. 31, 1932, to Frank X. Kelly, and in June this year a first and final dividend of .0004678 per cent was paid to creditors. The case is now closed and we do not believe that your inquirer's note has any particular value at this time."

U. S. SEES PLAN TO LOWER TRADE BARS AS FUTILE

Withdraws from International Convention.

Washington, D. C., July 5.—(AP)—The United States has withdrawn from the international convention for the abolition of import and export prohibitions and restrictions, which has failed to receive general acceptance, declaring it is not suited to the present economic needs of the world.

The state department announced today that a note signed by Acting Secretary Phillips giving notice of America's intention to take such action was delivered on June 29 to the secretary-general of the league of nations. The ultimate purpose of the convention had been the abolition of tariff.

Other Nations Withdraw.

"It is with great reluctance that the American government has been forced to take this action," the note said. "It had been hoped that the principle embodied in this convention would be widely accepted by the nations of the world.

"The reverse of this has, however, been true, and the withdrawal from the convention of other nations which had adhered leads to the conclusion that the existing convention may not be fully adapted to present economic and commercial conditions.

"In taking this present course, it is the American government's hope that there may result from the labors of the monetary and economic conference now sitting at London a convention of this nature which will be widely adopted and adhered to by the nations of the world."

Reservations Block Plan.

The convention in question has had a stormy career. It was negotiated in 1927, under league of nations auspices, and contained a proviso that it would become effective only if 18 of the 27 signatory nations should ratify. Twenty ratified, but in several instances reservations of such a type were attached that the convention did not go into effect.

However, in December, 1929, the United States, Great Britain, Japan, Portugal, Sweden, Denmark, and The Netherlands agreed to make it effective among themselves. Two years ago Portugal withdrew and in June, 1932, Great Britain informed the Washington government that it, too, was withdrawing, saying its object was to be free to enter into agreements of a similar nature at the present world economic conference.

ILLINOIS SELLS WATERWAY LIENS AT A PREMIUM

Springfield, Ill., July 5.—State Treasurer John C. Martin today sold the last million of the $20,000,000 Illinois waterway 4 per cent bonds authorized in 1919 at a premium of $5,500. The successful bidder was a syndicate headed by Kelly, Richardson & Co. of Chicago, and including Lehman Bros., New York; Stone, Webster and Blodget, New York and Chicago; Eastabrook company, New York; R. W. Pressprich, New York and Chicago, and the First Michigan corporation, Detroit.

The proceeds will be used by the department of public works and buildings in constructing bridges over the Illinois waterway.

The state has paid $13,000,000 of the $19,000,000 waterway bonds heretofore issued. Treasurer Martin said that proceeds from the two per cent sales tax, along with monies received in the state's general revenue fund, can be applied after Jan. 1, 1934, to the retirement of the bonds sold today. The bonds mature Jan. 1, 1940.

U. S. Treasury Invites Bids on 75 Million 91-Day Bills

Washington, D. C., July 5.—(AP)—Acting Secretary Acheson today invited tenders for $75,000,000 of 91 day bills which will be sold to the highest bidder on July 10.

FARMERS RUSH IN LIVE STOCK; PRICES DECLINE

Monday's Rise Reversed by Heavy Receipts.

Nearby farms began a rush yesterday to capitalize on Monday's rise in live stock values, piling up new record truck receipts for one day. The trend of prices was immediately reversed in cattle and hogs, and part of the substantial gains were erased. Most species still are higher than at the close of last week.

Including the holiday arrivals, it was expected that the hog run would exceed 40,000. This compared with 26,570 last Wednesday. All of the increase was at Chicago, other leading markets reporting smaller totals than a week ago, with the run at 10 of the principal centers at 57,000, compared with 58,400 a week earlier. Chicago handled 40 per cent of the 11 market total yesterday, against 31 per cent a week ago.

World's Fair Draws Farmers.

Thus, the trade does not regard the Chicago figures as indicating that a larger movement is in progress. Some members of the trade believe the July 4th celebration at the World's Fair was also an incentive that brought farmers here with live stock over the holiday.

Continued cool weather boosted fresh pork loins again, bringing the wholesale price range fully 1 cent above the close of last week, with the clearance the best in several weeks. This stimulated buying of hogs by smaller interests, but offerings exceeded immediate requirements and about 7,000 head still remained in the pens at the close.

Prices ruled steady to 15 cents lower, closing at the low point. Top sales were halted at $4.65, showing 5 cents decline from Monday. The general average for the day was off 5 cents at $4.40.

Cattle Yards Swamped.

The cattle division was swamped with 21,000 head, the largest Wednesday run in recent weeks, but the three day total at the seven leading markets at 78,000, compared with 112,000 a week ago.

Prices of steers tumbled 25 to 40 cents, with some instances of 50 cents loss found in various weights, particularly in the plainer classes of grassy stock and medium weights lacking high finish. Not only was the supply large numerically, but the large contingent of weighty steers in the receipts added to the tonnage of beef and pressure on the market.

A small "upper crust" of the medium weight steers escaped with a slight price cut because of the scarcity of topnotchers. Several loads of extra heavy steers took the brunt of the decline.

A small share of top grades of native and western range lambs maintained a strong to 15 cents higher price basis yesterday, but the rank and file of sheep and lambs were steady to weak.

BUTTER AND EGGS EASY

Selling at the close resulted in a reaction in butter and egg futures on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday, losses of ¼c being recorded in the major deliveries. Octoer eggs opened firm and moved higher on ew buying and active covering. Realizing on the upturn halted the advance, brought bout a decline. Statistical news was of little importance. Butter also opened firm, but dropped back under pressure. The weather continued to exert an important influence in the trading. Sales: Butter, 154 ars; eggs, 210 cars. Deliveries: Butter, 1 ar. HOLLAND TRIES STRICT CONTROL TO AID FARMERS

Force Planting and Marketing Co-operation.

BY PIET VAN 'T VEER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

THE HAGUE, July 5.—Of the population of Holland, estimated at about 8,000,000, at least 1,000,000 are farmers who today are near poverty because the price of their produce is far below the cost of production. For this reason the Dutch government was obliged to carry through parliament the farming crisis act to extend financial support to agriculture and to aid in whatever way possible reorganization of Dutch farming as a whole.

There will be created a general farm crisis fund, from which relief will be extended to various branches of agriculture. The minister of agriculture is empowered to forbid or reduce production, and storage or commerce in certain types of products.

Control Over Farmers.

To act as an advisory body a central commission is formed in which the present governmental commissioners will serve. They will advise on relief for dairymen, hog breeders and grain farmers. Infringements of the act are punishable by imprisonment to a maximum of one year or a fine of $4,000.

That such measures were necessary is illustrated by export figures. For the six principal products the income in 1930 amounted to $104,000,000, and for 1932 only $57,000,000. Exports to England and France showed a slight increase by weight, but they declined in value, and even export by volume to England is already jeopardized by the new British duties.

Force Coöperation.

Therefore the Dutch government has declared that sacrifices of individual initiative must be made both regarding planting and marketing, by all concerned. If coöperation is not given willingly, it will be forced upon the farmers. The government has now the power by radical reorganization or reduction of production and marketing regulations to make its financial support as effective as possible.

The government expects that by consolidation of all interests the situation can be improved. Meanwhile the condition among Dutch farmers is so bad that they are paying almost all their bills in products.

To the Holders of

Warrants to Purchase Shares of the Class B Stock of International Utilities Corporation

at $15. per share on or before December 1, 1937 (hereinafter referred to as Old Warrants).

The Board of Directors of International Utilities Corporation (hereinafter referred to as Corporation) has authorized the issue of Warrants to purchase shares of its Class B Stock, to be known as "$7.50 Warrants Series 1940" (hereinafter referred to as New Warrants). New Warrants are similar in form to Old Warrants, except that New Warrants are exercisable on or before December 1, 1940, but not after that date, and the price to be paid upon such exercise is $7.50 per share.

Part of such authorized issue of New Warrants is reserved for exchange for Old Warrants on the basis of a New Warrant for two Old Warrants, and Corporation now offers to the holders of Old Warrants to make such exchange in respect of all Old Warrants that are surrendered for such exchange on or before October 25th, 1933. (A "Warrant" as used above means the right to purchase one share of Class B Stock).

If you desire to make this exchange, you should forward your Old Warrants (suitably endorsed in blank for transfer) to Empire Trust Company, Transfer Agent, 120 Broadway, New York City, for surrender and cancellation, stating in what name or names the New Warrants are to be issued. If the New Warrants are to be issued in a name other than that in which the Old Warrants are registered, necessary Federal Transfer Stamps must be attached.

The Cost of a Protective Committee

Debentures of Associated Gas and Electric Company

The methods of some who profess dissatisfaction with the Plan of Rearrangement of Debt Capitalization of this Company are illustrated in the activities of a recently formed Committee for the so-called Protection of Debenture Holders of this Company.

That Committee in public advertisements four weeks ago asked for the deposit of debentures. Nothing was said in the advertisements regarding any assessment on depositing debenture holders for the remuneration of the Committee. Prospective depositors were left to find this out for themselves from the examination of a 23-page deposit agreement which they might obtain on application.

A more recent communication of this Committee addressed to debenture holders of this Company under date of June 19, 1933, containing misleading statements and inferences with regard to the Plan, discloses the fact that the Committee may, under the terms of the deposit agreement, assess against deposited debentures for compensation and expenses of the Committee and its lawyers a sum which is stated to be equal to not more than 2½%, but this communication neglects to state that the 2½% is to be computed on the face amount

Has your old business, trade, or profession opened to you with the same opportunities as those of your best years in the past? Is this particular brand of opportunity ever coming to you again? If it is not, then how about a different kind of opportunity that may prove just as profitable, or even more so, in the amount of money you make for the time you invest, provided the work is honorable and progressive, is a fairly sound standard by which you may judge the opening that may be intended for you.

To illustrate, here is J. D., a man who last fall, found life very bitter. Most men would have quit cold under similar handicaps and discouragements, but this man had something in his heart that made him determined to get into business that would pay. That brought him to our office. Yet in his first month last autumn J. D. made only $60. Gradually he increased. In the 5 days preceding the writing of this announcement he has made $132; 2 1-5 times as much in 5 days as he made in 30 on the same basis of computation—with the same opportunity! In time you may be able to equal or pass this man. His income does not represent a record in Electrolux, Inc. (not refrigeration). There are men in this business making well above this splendid figure!

E. J. McG. is a man whom you might not pick out to be a real money-maker. You might call him easy-going, but he isn't. He is what you would have to be to qualify—a consistent worker. His first week's work he earned $96. The following day he made $20.50. That was $116.50 in two days. J. C., formerly an upholsterer, with little early schooling, made over $100 in his single day in this work. His fore part of the week brought him earnings of $70, while F. M., over 70 years of age, started the week with better than $50. Where else do you think a man past 70 could do so well? Ordinarily, we do not wish men over 48 or under 25. There are exceptions occasionally. S. G. in his first week with us made $19—the past week about $38. This is not big money—but there are men who did not average $8 a week in boom times! E. J. W., a new man, thus far in his first week has made $45. And another new man was sent out in the field with one of our older men and saw this experienced man make over $70 in 2 days.

This business has grown throughout the depression. It is big, substantial, dependable, and asks of men only that which MEN can supply. We cannot tell if YOU are qualified if we do not meet and talk with you—and trying to form an opinion of conditions by reading what we say will not get you an inch nearer participation in this opportunity. Right now, we are not sure we want you, and you are not sure that you would like this work—but of this one truth we can both be certain: Men who are acceptable get the finest training imaginable, invest or buy nothing, and are assisted always to higher earnings—through this permanent connection.

You may call upon Mr. McMillan in Room 329 at 9 S. Kedzie-av., Chicago (or see Mr. Wilbur in Room 26 at 212 S. Marion-st., Oak Park, or the nearest suburban office in Austin, Oak Park, or the west suburbs). Call between 9 and 1, Thursday, July 6.

ATTENTION!

Due to expansion program we can place a limited number of men between 25 and 45 in both our sales and service departments to call on users by reason of the value of our product. Only men who are hard workers and have confidence in themselves will be considered. These places will be filled immediately and offer unlimited possibilities for managerial positions. Remuneration based on ability to follow instructions. If you are sincere, can furnish 3 character references and own a car apply to personnel manager, 2d floor, 18 E. Erie-st., Thursday, 9 to 12 or 1 to 4.

YOUNG MEN,

Age 18-22, to travel in Ill., Ind., Wis., Minn. and Mich.; neat appearance; high school education necessary; permanent employment; road expenses advanced. Apply before noon, Mr. Dennecy, 1104 S. Wabash, Room 80.

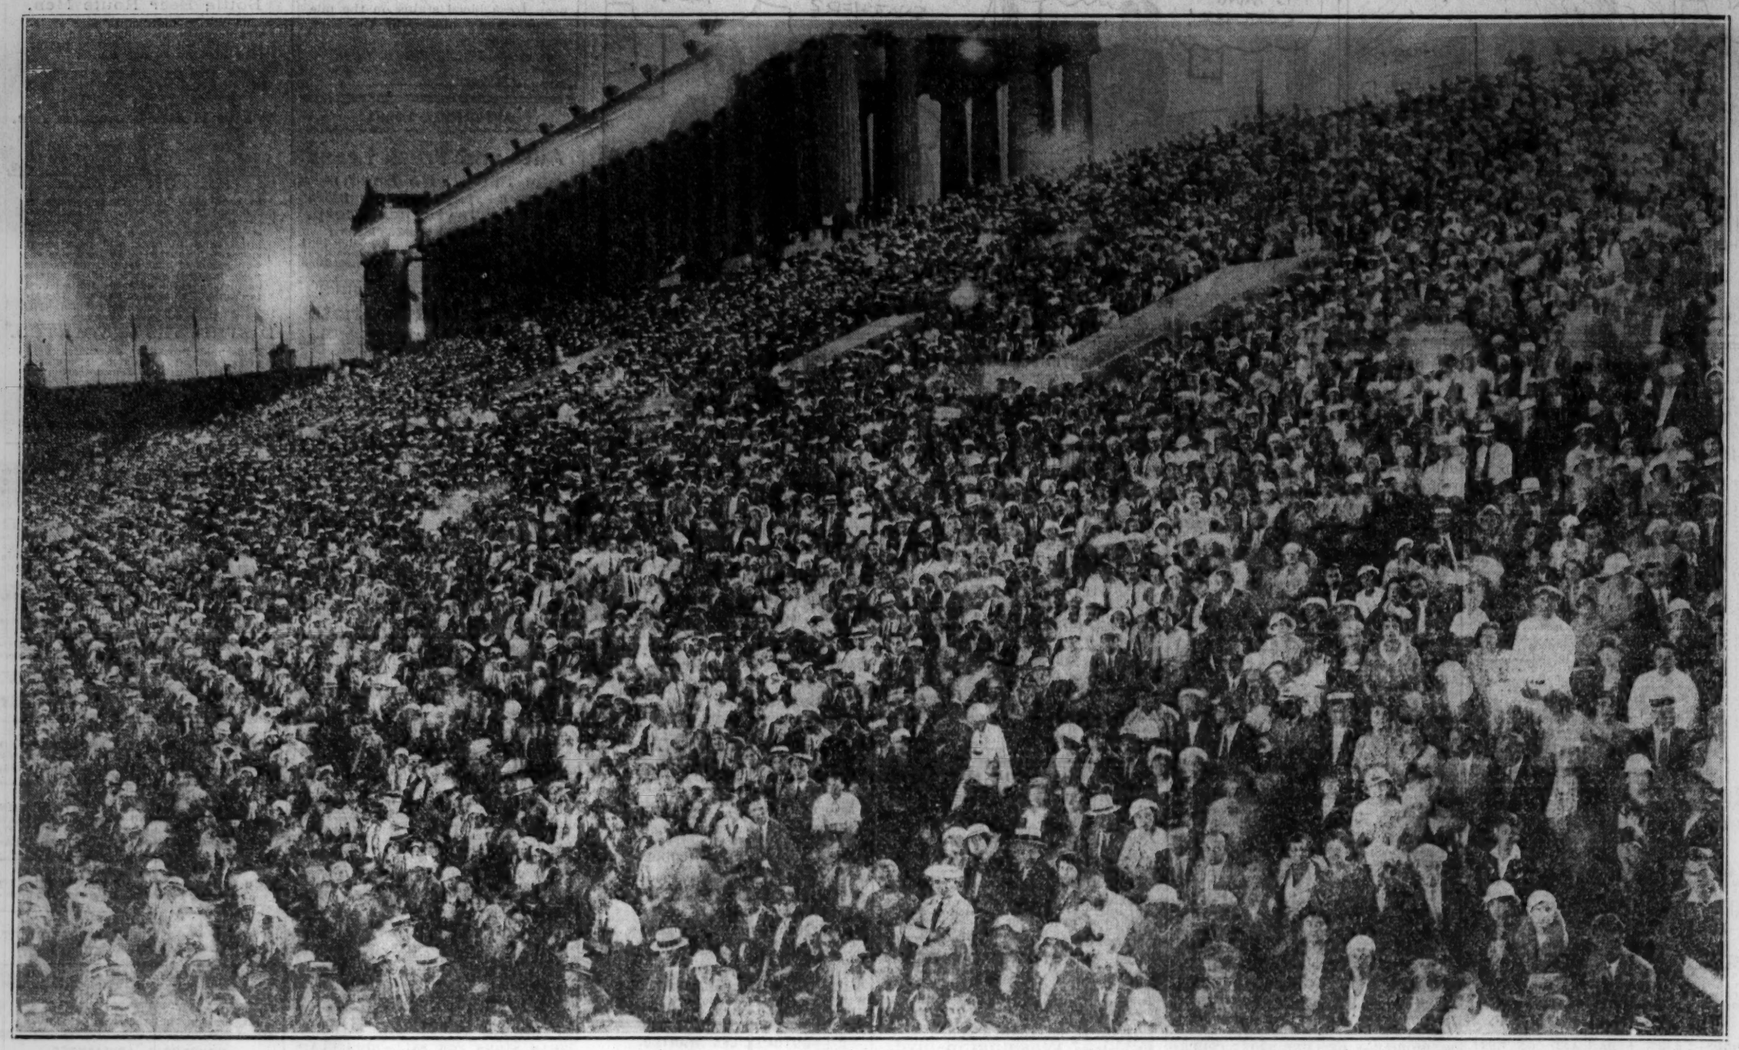
Crowd of 55,000 Sees Second Performance of "Romance of a People," Given Under Sponsorship of Tribune



[TRIBUNE Photo.]

CROWD OF 55,000 ENJOYS JEWISH SPECTACLE, "ROMANCE OF A PEOPLE," AT SECOND PRESENTATION IN SOLDIERS' FIELD, SPONSORED BY CHICAGO TRIBUNE. General view of one side of Soldiers' field last night during second presentation of monster spectacle depicting the history of the Jewish race. The production, given for the first time on Monday night, was reproduced under the sponsorship of The Tribune so that the thousands who could not see it on the first occasion might enjoy its beauty. The crowd for last night's event began to assemble long before dark. (Story on page 1.)
